Confidence Lack Spelt San Rafael School Bond Doom

Reasons Behind 'No' Vote On $2.1 Million Proposal

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

"I don't have confidence in the board and the administration."

In those words, attorney Thomas P. Boyd, who served nearly 12 years on the San Rafael Board of Education, today summed up why he voted against a proposed $2.1 million elementary school bond issue on Feb. 18.

The bond issue fell six percentage points short of the necessary two-thirds affirmative vote. The San Rafael Board of Education has voted to try it again on June 10.

Only 37.8 per cent of the elementary school district's registered voters cast ballots in February. There were many reports that people who customarily support school finance measures had stayed away from the polls or voted "no." In an attempt to learn the reasons, the Independent-Journal sought out some of these people who were willing to talk for publication.

Boyd, of 77 Brentwood Drive, served on the board during a period of great expansion following World War II. Elected in 1947, he served until resigning, near the end of a third term in 1958.

"We only failed to pass one bond issue while I was on the board," he said. "Every time, we told them exactly why we needed the money and what we were going to do with it."

In the present case, he said, "they are preparing a building program without showing the necessity." And, he com-

Attack On Vehicle Smog Is Approved

$10,000 To Be Spent On Natural Gas Tests

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Highway Commission approved today a smog-fighting program of testing trucks and autos fueled by natural gas rather than gasoline.

The commission authorized the spending of $10,000 to test about 10 autos in the Los Angeles area. Some such autos already are being used by utilities companies.

The commission said autos powered by natural gas are more economical than gasoline-fueled cars and significantly cut smog-producing exhaust emissions.

Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina, told the commission, "The use of natural gas — whether in liquefied or compressed form — results in the lowest concentration of pollutants from the operation of an internal combustion engine on a motor vehicle that we know of."

The cars and trucks will be those regularly used by the state Division of Highways.

The California Highway Patrol soon will test steam-powered autos, and steam-powered buses will be tried in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Meanwhile, the state's major smog fighting organization has launched a study to determine if public and private agencies are doing enough to develop a practical smog-free auto.

If the answer is no, the state Air Resources Board may propose a national project to design such a car.

The idea was proposed yesterday by Dr. Willard F. Libby of UCLA, winner of the 1960 Nobel Prize in chemistry, and a member of the Air Resources Board.

Libby guessed that $50 million is being spent toward development of smog - free vehicles but he asked, "Is that adequate considering the national need?"

"There isn't the slightest doubt Detroit could design a smog-free auto," Libby told a reporter.

The qestion is how much it would cost and if people could afford it.

Robert McJones of Pacific Lighting and Gas Co. interjected that his firm is operating "a clean car" — one that produced virtually no smog. He said his firm's fleet runs on natural gas "with startling" low smog-producing result.

Meanwhile, the board proceeded to implement the tough new auto smog restrictions inposed by the 1968 Legislature. It certified for the first time a device to control evaporation of raw gasoline from auto fuel tanks

Both Sides Trade Charges In Paris

PARIS (AP) — The United States charged today the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam "is a calculated part of a plan to take over South Vietnam by force."

At the ninth session of the Paris peace talks, South Vietnam accused the other side of preparing a massive new attack on Saigon and said unless it is called off it will have an adverse impact on the negotiations. (See war story, page 2.)

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front defended the offensive as an answer to what it called "terrorist and sweep operations against the South Vietnamese people." It asserted President Nixon's warning of an "appropriate response" to the current offensive was a threat to escalate the war.

North Vietnam declared the United States and its allies had intensified the war, a charge rejected by the American delegation.

The meeting adjourned after four hours and the participants agreed to meet again next Thursday.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said that the Communist command planned its offensive long ago and made detailed and careful preparations which were in no way a response to U.S. acts.

"It is clear," he continued, "that the attacks which were launched on Feb. 22 were not undertaken as a response to any recent allied initiative. They were instead the long-heralded winter-spring campaign of 1969, a campaign of which your side warned in advance and of which it has boasted since."

In advance of the session, reports circulated that the United States and North Vietnam are conducting secret negotiations on troops withdrawals in another capital, probably Vientiane, Laos.

It was reported the United States entered into the negotiations away from Paris to avoid trouble with its South Vietnamese allies and that North Vietnam did likewise to keep the National Liberation Front out of it.

Sirhan Plans Psychotic, Expert Says

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sirhan Bishara Sirhan could have premeditated the killing of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in a psychotic state, but he would not have been "a cool, calculating, skillful assassin," a psychologist said today.

While Sirhan sat at the witness table staring at his hands, Dr. Roderick Richardson said that "Mr. Sirhan has the capacity to arrive at his own moral structure of the situation—to feel he alone sees it, he alone feels it, he alone can execute it.

"He no longer responds to what he sees as a popular consensus—he alone is right."

Mutiny Trial Back In Session

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—Five soldiers returned to trial on charges of mutiny today after a half-day recess granted the defense to seek reconsideration of their pleas.

David Lowe of Vacaville ,Solano County), civilian attorney for one, made the request, saying, "It would give us a chance to make a deal with the Army on changing pleas if the terms of sentencing were agreed on in advance."

But when Lt. Gen. Stabley Larsen, 6th Army commander at the Presidio in San Francisco, was contacted, he directed that the court-martial take its course.

President To Inspect Oily Beaches

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon will fly tomorrow to California and a weekend stay including an inspection of oil-coated beaches of Santa Barbara and a possible look at sites for a summer White House.

His wife Pat plans to accompany him along with Secretary of State and Mrs. William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, special assistant for national security affairs.

Youngster 'Hooked'? Counseling Needed

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

(Ninth in a series of 10)

If youngsters do become "hooked" or dependent upon mind-influencing drugs, what then?

By that time, authorities advise, the problem is usually beyond the parents' ability to handle it alone.

"Some kind of expert counseling is called for," says Dr. Kenneth Keniston of Yale University. It could be a family friend, a school counselor, a minister, a physician, not necessaryily a psychologist or psychiatrist.

"Don't regard it as a sign of moral corruption, but rather as something being wrong in their lives," he adds.

Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth of Harvard suggests telling them that "you will not condone what they are doing, but that you will help them all you can, and stand by them."

A college counselor adds: In interviews with college youths using drugs in a self-destructive way, "it was impressive how often drugs had been 'used' to inform parents, teachers and others that the individual desperately needed help."

The young tend to copy the ideas, values, beliefs — and also prejudices — of parents, and so parents should set good examples to follow.

John Finlator, associate director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs remarks: "It's difficult for adults to answer the young person who says, "I don't know why people get excited when I use drugs — my old man's been hung up on martinis for years."

"Kids tend to tell the truth and mirror what we don't want to see in oursleves," says Dr. Morris E. Chafetz, Harvard Medical School psychiatrist. "We want to separate pot and alcohol, but we are of the generation that abuses so many drugs."

The way parents behave and talk can seem hypocritical at times to youngsters, who may then look upon mind-influencing drugs as a way of escaping hypocrisy.

"We teach peace and practice

Coloradans Outlaw Coyness About Age

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A bill passed in the Colorado Legislature today prevents women who do not want to disclose their ages from simply using the term "over 21" on marriage licenses.

Under the measure, prospective brides and grooms must not only tell how old they are but must furnish proof to marriage license clerks.

UNCLE SAM, KEEP OUT

San Anselmo Beautifiers Snarl Post Office Moving Schedule

Eighteen "Unlawful to Occupy This Building" signs were slapped last night on San Anselmo's new post office by city forces when developers failed to fulfill landscaping requirements in their contract.

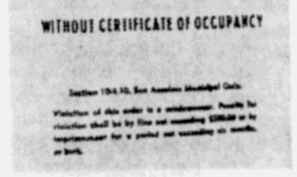
As a result the post office, now located at 333 San Anselmo Avenue, will be unable to move for at least a week. And it may mean that Alfred Barthel of San Rafael may be unable to open his new restaurant, Senor Alfredo, on April 1.

Postmaster John F. Fahy said today that he would like to move his overcrowded post office equipment as soon as post office lock boxes are installed.

The new post office, twice the size of the present one, and Senor Alfredo are located in the former Safeway market, at 121 and 115 San Anselmo Avenue, respectively.

The stopper is that the owner and developer of the property, Charles W. Mapes Co. of San Francisco, has not fulfilled the landscaping requirement for the 24-car parking lot adjacent to the building, requirements established last October.

No certificate of occupancy can be issued until either the landscaping is in or a cash bond between $6,000 and $10,000 is posted by the developer, Charles R. Letizell, city engineer and public works director, said today.



SAN ANSELMO SIGN
Postman, don't ring

The landscaping hassel was the subject of a meeting last night of the city's Design Review Committee.

The committee voted 5-1 on landscaping changes in the parking lot's entrance trees, the ground cover and the cover on a freestanding brick wall. Their motion also called for three trees along the building and eliminated irrigation of four street trees on San Anselmo Avenue.

Mapes is to resubmit his plans to the board at 8 p.m. Wednesday, in city hall.

Voting "no" on the changes was board member Laurie Antolino who said he would like to have one more flowering cherry tree in the lot, Leitzell said.

Storming angry today was Barthel who said, "We don't have enough parking places, but still they want to hide the so-called ugly brick building. The post office spent $2,500 putting up a brick wall and (James G.) McDonald (board chairman) wants ivy to grow on it to cover the 'ugly brick building'."

Barthel said he has talked to his attorney to see what he can do about getting his restaurant on opening date. "I'm an innocent third party," he lamented. "My lease did not state I needed trees."

Leitzell said, "Normally we don't put up so many signs but we wanted to impress the Post Office Department."

The plans were approved last October, the engineer reported, and the ordinance requires appeal within 10 days. However, it was felt it was necessary to allow an appeal in this case, Leitzell explained.

The post office, represented by James Schultz, regional real estate official, submitted nine objections to the landscaping March 12, Leitzell said.

They included opposition to two large trees on both sides of the entrance on the theory they would interfere with street traffic vision, opposition to planting of two trees in front of the building, one which the post office said would cover the title of the post office, the other which would interfere with raising and lowering of the flag.

The Post Office objected to being held responsible for maintenance of landscaping, paying for the water used by the automatic irrigation system and two planters which it was felt would eliminate three parking stalls.

Most of these objections were dropped last night, Leitzell said.

Mapes was unable to be reached by telephone for comment on the landscaping brouhaha.

Laird, Packard On Stand To Defend Sentinel Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the United States "cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities" but contended the modified antiballistic missile (ABM) system would "protect people by making sure a nuclear attack doesn't occur in the first place."

Opening the Nixon administration's fight for public and congressional approval of the controversial ABM project, Laird said the system is based on the theory, "We must rely on our deterrents to make sure a nuclear attack doesn't start."

Laird rejected the contention by ABM opponents that the project is an escalation of the arms race. He called it instead "a building block for peace" which "opens the door wider to mutual arms control" with the Soviet Union.

"It strengthens our ability to prevent nuclear war," Laird told the Senate Armed Services Committee headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.

Calling the revised ABM by the same "Safeguard" name

FBI Agent Foils Hijack Of Plane At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A gunman who had ordered a flight to Cuba was disarmed and arrested aboard an airliner by an FBI agent among the passengers when the plane landed here to refuel.

As the agent, big, graying John Reed, struggled with the would-be hijacker, the man's .22-caliber pistol went off, but the bullet richocheted off the floor without hitting anybody.

The FBI identified the gunman as Douglas Alton Dickey, 27, and said documents in his possession showed he was born in Casa Grande, Ariz. He was held on a federal charge of air piracy, which carries a maximum penalty of death.

Robert E. Rightmyer, agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, said Dickey boarded the plane, Delta Airlines Flight 918, last night at Dallas.

Rightmyer said the man produced his pistol and took over the plane about five minutes before it was scheduled to land at New Orleans. He agreed to a landing when the pilot said he could not make it to Cuba without refueling.

Once the plane was on the ground, Rightmyer said, the gunman said the 89 other passengers could get off. The last passenger to approach the exit door, where the man stood gun in hand, was Reed, assistant special agent in charge at Oklahoma City.

Reed stopped in front of the man and informed him he was under arrest. He said the man replied:

"I do not intend to kill you but I am going to Havana and I am going to shoot you in the leg."

Beatle John Lennon, Yoko Ono Married

LONDON (AP) — Beatle John Lennon married his Japanese mistress, Yoko Ono, in a civil ceremony today in Gibraltar, the Beatles' office announced.

It was the second marriage for both and the second for the Beatles in eight days. Paul McCartney married an American divorcee, Linda Eastman, in London March 12.

The first Mrs. Lennon was granted custody of their 5-year-old son Julian. She also received alimony which she described as "generous."

Miss Ono first attracted notoriety in Britain as a film producer, when she made a movie showing 365 bare human bottoms and nothing else. She and Lennon also caused a stir recently with a record cover showing the two of them in a front nude view on one side and a rear nude view on the other.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Dueling Again

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab and Israeli forces dueled again in the violence-scarred Beisan Valley south of the Sea of Galilee today. The Israeli army said two border policemen were wounded.

The army reported an Israeli frontier patrol was the target of bazooka and small arms fire near Tirat Zvi, 20 miles south of the sea. The patrol returned the fire.

It was the second day of action along the Jordanian cease-fire line. Several Israeli border settlements were fired on yesterday, and Israeli planes roared across the Jordan River to hammer suspected guerrilla positions.

Piano To Library

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon plans to present the grand piano played by former President Harry S Truman to the Truman Library in Independence, Mo. The piano has been in the White House family quarters.

White House sources said the piano had been shipped to Independence and Nixon hopes to make the presentation when he visits Truman tomorrow on his way to California.

Like Nixon, Truman enjoyed playing the piano. He frequently entertained family and friends while in the White House.

Quakes Felt

PASADENA (AP) — A series of about 10 earthquakes, pinpointed in the Gulf of California off Mexico's west coast, was recorded in an hour early today by the seismology station at California Institute of Technology.

The strongest tremor hit 5.5 on the Richter scale — potentially damaging.

Not Giving Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Park Service, despite manpower problems, has decided not to turn its camping grounds over to private operators just yet.

Director George B. Hartzog Jr., announced today that the service will continue to operate the national park campgrounds this year, while studying its two experiments in allowing grounds to be operated by concessionaires to reduce personnel.

Undersecretary Russell E. Train said he had instructed the National Park Service to review the concession policy.

Weapon Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration says it plans to begin testing next week a new antihijacker device designed to tell if passengers boarding airplanes are carrying weapons.

David D. Thomas, acting administrator of the FAA, said the devices would first be tried secretly at various terminals served by Eastern Air Lines — the company hardest hit by hijackers. Passengers will not know they are being checked.

Thomas would not identify the airports involved, but said it could be assumed they would include Washington National and the major New York City fields.

Auto Recall Mail Costs $1 Million

DETROIT (AP) — The first letters notifying more than 3 million Chevrolet owners that their cars or trucks may have defects go into the mail today, more than three weeks after General Motors announced it was recalling the vehicles.

Chevrolet Division said the letters would go out by certified mail at the rate of 100,000 a day until all the owners are told to take their vehicles to dealers for inspection or service.

At that rate it should take until the middle of May to inform all the owners.

$1 MILLION COST

At 36 cents a certified letter the postage alone will cost over $1 million.

The Chevrolet cars and trucks are part of the 4.9 million vehicles called in by G.M. on Feb. 26 in the auto industry's largest recall campaign.

Chevrolet said the delay in getting out the letters was caused by shortage of a new part, the time required to put together a list of the owners to be notified and "just getting the massive paper work done."

Chevrolet is the last of the G.M. divisions to get started in mailing its recall letters.

Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac are already mailing letters to tell nearly 1.4 million owners of 1968 and 1969 vehicles they may have problems.

RECORDS PROBLEM

The problem of notifying the owners of 2.4 million Chevrolets which may have exhaust system defects is aggravated by the fact that some are 1965 and 1966 models.

Since the beginning of the 1967 model run, auto manufacturers rather than dealers have been required to notify owners of recalls. Since August 1966 G.M. has stored in a computer the serial number and owner's name and address on every car sold, a spokesman said.

To get the names of the owners of the 1965 and 1966 model Chevies, however, the division had to go to R.L. Polk and Co., the only firm in the country which keeps tracks of the motor vehicle registrations in all 50 states.

Mildred Donivan, manager of Polk's automotive special services department, says Polk had to run a computer search on the registrations of 68.8 million cars and 13.5 million trucks to come up with a basic list of owners of 2.3 million 1965 and 1966 Chevrolets.

Peru Seizes More U.S. Tuna Boats

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru seized two more U.S. tuna boats but released them last night after their captains paid $25,000 in fines.

The incident could complicate the negotiations John Irwin, a special representative of President Nixon, is beginning with the Peruvian government over the expropriation of U.S. oil properties.

Irwin, who arrived last week, declined to comment on the seizure of the two ships from San Diego, the Cape Anne and the San Juan, 23 miles off the north coast of this Andean nation.

A Peruvian torpedo boat took the two U.S. ships in tow. Peru claims a 200-mile territorial fishing limit while the United States and most other nations recognize a 12-mile limit.

For the San Juan, whose captain had to pay a $17,000 fine, it was the second encounter with Peruvian naval power. Last Feb. 14, when a gunboat seized another U.S. ship, the San Juan was fired on.

The Cape Anne, whose captain paid an $8,000 fine, was involved in a similar incident in 1965 when it sailed under the name Mayflower, maritime sources here said. Then it was sailing 75 miles offshore when a Peruvian vessel fired at it, slightly wounding an American seaman.

In Washington, several congressmen called for reprisals against Peru, and Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, R-Wash., said there have been nearly 80 "illegal" seizures of American tuna boats on Latin-American coasts since 1961.

U.S. Toll In Vietnam Nears Korea Losses

SAIGON (AP) — Th U.S. Command announced today that 351 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, pushing the total of U.S. battlefield dead to 10,112 in the 10 months since the Paris peace talks began and to 33,063 in more than eight years of war.

The American toll last week was 15 more than the previous week's total and raised the number of Americans killed in the first three weeks of the Viet Cong's spring offensive to 1,140, only 240 less than the 1,380 U.S. troops reported killed during the eight weeks of 1969 prior to the offensive.

If the current casualty rate continues the total of American dead in the Vietnam war will exceed the Korean war toll of 33,629 by the end of this month.

South Vietnamese casualties were 325 killed and 1,156 wounded, up from 259 and 1,058 the previous week, the government said.

U.S. headquarters said 4,137 of the enemy were killed last week, bringing the total enemy dead to at least 119,100 since the Paris talks began last May and to at least 465,479 since the United States entered the war on Jan. 1, 1961.

The enemy toll for the first three weeks of the offensive is 15,099 dead according to allied figures.

As the enemy's offensive rolled into its 26th day with no end in sight, U.S. headquarters reported about 30 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns last night. For the second night, the chief target was Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and a major military base.

For the second day ground fighting also was reported south of Da Nang, and this time close to the city. South Vietnamese infantry reported killing 66 North Vietnamese in two clashes yesterday within 10 miles of the city. First reports said at least two South Vietnamese were killed and about a dozen wounded.

Elsewhere in the northern sector, a North Vietnamese force overran a militia compound near Tam Ky, but U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops took it back and killed 18 of the enemy in a sharp fight.

Invasion Of Anguilla Is Bloodless

ANGUILLA (AP) — British troops, broiled under the Caribbean sun today as they went through the motions of military occupation. The Anguillans remained quiet following the bloodless invasion of their tiny island.

The 6,000 Anguillans offered no armed resistance to the occupation by 135 British paratroopers and marines, and there was only one major emotional outburst.

When acting President Ronald Webster called on British officers at their command headquarters yesterday, a crowd of about 300 of his people hoisted him to their shoulders, shouted their support and sang the Anguillan freedom song to the tune of the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Webster also protested the invasion in a note to London last night.

TRAIN SABOTAGED, TOO

Two engines and 31 cars of a 40-car Southern Pacific freight train litter Suisun Valley west of Fairfield, Solano County, as firemen battle flames started in two cars full of white phosphorus. Officials said the train, bound for Oakland, was sabotaged yesterday by rail disconnection, and suggested that both the $500,000 train damage and the earlier inferno caused by dynamiting a Shell Oil Co. pipeline in Canyon, Contra Costa County may have been sabotage by groups opposing the Vietnam War. Shell has offered a $50,000 reward for information on the pipe dynamiter. (UPI Telephoto)

Campus Woe Likened To Hitler Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — Psychologist Bruno Bettelheim says there are striking similarities between student disorders in the United States and the upheaval in German universities that preceded the rise of Adolf Hitler.

Bettelheim, a survivor of Hitler's concentration camps, says a determination to bring down the establishment is the same motive in both cases, but the great danger now is to the universities, not the nation.

IDEALIST VIEW

In testimony prepared for House Education subcommittee hearings on student unrest, Bettelheim said a further parallel between today and pre-Nazi Germany is a prevailing attitude that the disorderly youths are idealists concerned with the real issues of society.

"Then as now," he said, "the rebellious students were pictured as a new generation disgusted with the complacency of their parents, fighting courageously for a better world."

Bettelheim, a professor of psychology at the University of Chicago, said many modern student rebels are in fact overwrought adolescents pushed unwillingly into college.

"I think it is unnatural to keep a young person for some 20 years in dependency, and attending school," said Bettelheim.

TRAINING URGED

Bettelheim said instead of pursuing a policy of college education for everyone the United States should develop high-level vocational education to train youngsters for jobs that will give their lives meaning and purpose.

He said special prep schools should be established for both black and white youngsters from culturally deprived backgrounds so they will be able to enter college on an equal footing with other youths.

And to counteract the disrupt of influence of the student militants, he said, the universities should use their full administrative powers to control the situation and try to organize the non-rebellious students into an effective counterforce.

Progressive Schooling Argued In Mill Valley

Progressive education and resulting community polarization emerged last night as the major issue in the Mill Valley School District board campaign.

The six men and one woman vying for three positions on the school board spoke on the issues and the functions of the board at a Parent-Teachers Association candidates' night at Homestead School.

Also mentioned as issues were communication between the board and the community and the 75-cent tax hike election scheduled for June 3.

But the type of education being offered in Mill Valley schools — individualized instruction, ungraded classes, independent study and other innovative methods — was the major topic.

Candidate Robert E. Murphy, an attorney, said residents he has talked with are most concerned about innovation and the rate is being accomplished in Mill Valley schools.

People are also concerned about "relations between the board and the superintendent. Some feel the board has abdicated its authority to the superintendent," he said.

Dr. John Lee, a Mill Valley general practitioner, approved of "liberalization of education" but warned that it must be evaluated as it progresses.

William Broderick, a sales engineer, said, "People wonder if the basic academic skills will be lost or de-emphasized" in the new methods of education. He was less enthusiastic than some of the other candidates on the matter of progressive education but commented that he believes youngsters are still getting the basic skills.

"We should stress the individual," said candidate William P. Everts Jr., the only incumbent. Everts firmly favored continuing present methods.

Joyce B. Ladar, a housewife and mother, called communication "a very serious problem" in the district as she favored "educational leadership."

John Eliot, an attorney, commented on the split in the community brought on by new methods of teaching and learning, pointing out "a lot of people don't understand these educational theories," while others are "too enthusiastic."

John H. Cutler, an attoney, explored problems of community relations, an area he said the present board has neglected. He favored forming citizen committees to study changes before the changes are made, not after, as occurred last year in the methods of reporting to parents.

All of the candiates mentioned the June tax election as a secondary issue and none spoke against it. However, each one favored finding new means of support to relieve the property tax.

During a question and answer period following individual statements, candidates were asked to comment on the effect of self-directed programs on children when they reach high school.

Everts indicated the youngsters would be far ahead or, he hoped, at least excited and enthusiastic about school.

Eliot didn't share his enthusiasm, pointing out there is no assurance now the effect will be good. "It's one argument for unification" to continue the same method of education through high school.

Mrs. Ladar pointed out that Tamalpais High School is moving in the same direction as Mill Valley elementary schools with such innovations as modular scheduling.

Candidates were also asked to comment on the many people who are unhappy with unstructured learning, particularly as Old Mill School which is in a total program of progressive education.

Mrs. Ladar commented that the unstructured program involved looking at the child and seeing how much he is learning, not just getting through a book in a year.

Each of the candidates expressed the belief that education should not be all one way — that there should be choices.

Everts pointed out that the kind of teachers and superintendent the district has engender an excitement for learning and suggested correcting litter problems which some people associated with permissiveness.

Answering a question on communication, Murphy said, "Many people don't come (to board meetings) because they don't feel there is a real discussion." He would ask for more explanation and discussion and send board minutes out to anyone who wants them.

Bomber-Type F111 Cut Back Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Pentagon leadership hs all but shot down the FB111 strategic bomber former defense chief Robert S. McNamara insisted would be a good replacement for aging B52s.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told Congress yesterday he is cutting plans for the swing-wing jet to only four squadrons—a nominal 60 planes.

Three years ago McNamara was proposing 250 FB111s—variants of the controversial TFX design—contending it would be about as good, and less expensive, as another advanced bomber the Air Force could develop to haul its nuclear bombs in the 1970s.

Laird made plain he was buying the four squadrons mainly to recover something from the vast funds spent on the program —"to salvage what we can of the work in process.

Despite months of work, Laird said, the FB111 "is still experiencing development and production difficulties and the cost per aircraft continues to mount."

In an even more damaging comment on the McNamara theory, Laird asserted that "the FB111 will not meet the requirements for a true intercontinental bomber."

Pentagon officials said the 60 planes will cost $1.7 billion over-all, which includes heavy research and development expenses. McNamara originally estimated 250 models would cost $1.9 billion.

Laird said he would accelerate efforts to develop a completely new nuclear-equipped plane the Air Force calls the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft—AMSA.

Clausen Backs Drug Courses

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A bill to set up federal programs to encourage better education about drug abuse was introduced today by Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District.

The $44 million called for in the bill would set up new drug abuse courses, help communities set up "drug alert" seminars, and help school districts provide demonstration projects on drug abuse education.

It also would finance special courses on drug education for teachers.

The $44 million expenditure would be through June, 1974.

Naming his bill the "Drug Abuse Education Act of 1969," Clausen said in a press statement that "our educational systems must now focus attention on this extremely serious health and social problem."

Petaluma Market Hit By Burglars

Also taken were 200 loose packs of cigarettes, 12 cartons of cigarettes, six cartons of candy and $1 in pennies. Total value was set at $168. Police said entry was made by breaking a window on the east side of the building.

Whites In Gary, Ind., Want Out

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Mayor Richard G. Hatcher, a Negro, has launched a grass roots campaign to head off the detachment from the city of half its white population—and 20 per cent of its property tax revenues.

The threat comes from a move to disannex, or place outside the city limits, the Glen Park suburban area on the south side with its 42,000 residents, nearly all whites. In the entire city, whites number only slightly more than 80,000.

Glen Park political leaders concede there are racial overtones. But they say the major complaint is that Glen Park property taxes are being funneled into city spending in central Gary, predominantly Negro, while city services in Glen Park are neglected.

Hatcher has begun a series of meetings in suburban homes in an attempt to spike the detachment move, which he says would cost Glen Park residents higher taxes in the long run.

"Gary has become a fishbowl and the eyes of the nation are upon us," he said at one meeting. He added that taking Glen Park away would mean that "democracy as we know it doesn't work."

Negroes comprise about 55 per cent of Gary's population of 180,000. Among cities with a Negro elected mayor it is second in size only to Cleveland.

New York College Campus Building Held By Students

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

More than 200 students occupied the administration building of the State University of New York's Buffalo campus today after destroying two shacks at a U.S. Navy research project and burning blueprints and two Chicago - area colleges were closed yesterday and police went to a third.

A group of Negro youths leaving a basketball game at Fifth Avenue High School in Pittsburgh stoned police cars and barricaded several streets with garbage cans. At least 16 persons were arrested. One policeman was injured by a thrown object.

In Chicago, 300 dissident black students held the 18-story YMCA College in downtown Chicago for seven hours yesterday, complaining the school planned to drop 280 students from a federal work-study program. They barricaded themselves in the building and no classes were held.

A newly-elected black alderman, Fred Hubbard of Chicago's Second Ward, met with the students and said there might be a program cutback, but it would come from Washington—not the YMCA College. The students took down their barricades after seven hours.

Black students said a white youth, Michael Brennan, 19, sprayed Mace at a Negro girl in the cafeteria. Brennan said he grabbed a can of Mace from one of the blacks after they threatened him because he refused to accept "black power literature."

At other campuses:

New York — Twenty-one students who sat-in at the State University of New York's Stony Brook campus were sentenced to 15 days in the Suffolk County Jail at Commack after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of loitering.

Human Leg Bone Found On Coast

A human leg bone found on the Marin coast just south of the Sonoma County line has been sent to the Marin County coroner's office for possible identification.

Sonoma State College anatomist Dr. Ralph Bushnell said the bone probably was from a person who had not been dead for long.

The Sonoma County sheriff's office said in Santa Rosa that the bone was found last weekend by Dr. Chris Kjeldsen, a Sonoma State College marine biologist.

Asst. Marin Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said pathology tests will be conducted on the bone when his office receives it and coroner's investigators will also inspect the area where the bone was found wedged in some rocks.

Youth Held In Burglary Probe

Brian Kurt Armstrong, 17, of 79 King Street, Mill Valley, was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall yesterday on suspicion of burglary, Mill Valley police reported.

Police said Armstrong burglarized the homes of Elizabeth Mertin, 75 Millside Lane, Henry J. Fernades, 211 Helens Lane and a third house in the same neighborhood yesterday.

Records, cigarettes, a woman's wristwatch and fur stole were taken from Mrs. Mertin's house, police said. Inventory of items taken from the other two houses was not complete today.

Shortly after Fernades reported the burglary at his home at 3:20 p.m. officers saw a youth walking down Molino Avenue carrying some of the stolen property. Upon questioning, the youth said Armstrong had given him the items, according to police.

Jury Selection Still Unfinished

Juror selection continued today for the second day in Marin Superior Court in the trial of Gabe Jackson, community worker for the Sausalito School District, who is charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Jackson, 32, is charged with the Aug. 23 shooting of Frederick Washington of Marin City.

The shooting occurred on a Marin street after an argument over a gambling debt.

Jackson, who is reprensented by Willaim O. Weissich of San Rafael, has claimed that he shot Washington in self defense.

The trial is being held in the court room of Judge Harold J. Haley.

Father Booked In Beating Case

A 48-year-old San Anselmo construction worker was arrested yesterday after neighbors reported to police that he has beaten his 5-year-old child with objects such as a metal golf club, a cane and a baseball bat.

Ernest Carl Carson of 10 Elm Court was booked into Marin County Jail on a warrant charging child abuse, with bail set at $660, police reported.

Police said they arrested Carson at 5:30 p.m. at his home after they saw the man's son, Rolfe, playing in a neighbor's yard with a large cut under his right eye and the boy's face bruised and swollen.

Killing Witness Found Murdered

BOSTON (AP) — One of the chief state witnesses in the slaying of three men last November in the headquarters of a Negro self-help organization was found shot to death today.

Police identified the victim as Ronald Hicks, 41, of Boston, one of two survivors of the shootings which occurred Nov. 13 at the office of the New England Grass Roots Organization (NEGRO).

Hicks was found dead with two bullet wounds behind an ear. Police said his body was discovered in his $8,000 car parked in the Back Bay section.

The 1968 law requires evaporative loss control devices on 1970 models for the first time. It also imposes restrictions on oxides of nitrogen for the first time on 1971 models—although some auto makers have said they could not make the 1971 deadline.

The Air Resources Board approved the gasoline evaporation device built for the new Ford Maverick, a low - priced auto designed to compete with foreign imports. The 1970 model goes on sale this April.

Special seals and traps prevent gasoline vapors from escaping the tank. Instead, they are collected and forced into a charcoal filter apparatus near the engine. From there, the vapors are forced into the engine and burned.

Meanwhile, the board was told that oxides of nitrogen, another smog component, can be cut by one-third on virtually any auto merely by disconnecting the spark advance. The advance apparatus is designed to make the engine fire with maximum compression. This makes for more power, but contributes to inefficient burning of the gasses.

New Candidate In Council Race

Rodney L. Cameron, 33, of 1537 Lauren Drive, today announced his candidacy for the Petaluma City Council election on June 10.

A Petaluma native, Cameron is employed as a computer operator for the Operating Engineers Local No. 3, San Francisco. He attended Petaluma schools and is a student at Santa Rosa Junior College.

Insurance Is Hiked By Panel

Strawberry Recreation District directors last night voted to increase the district's liability insurance to $2 million per person and $2 million per occurance, secretary Jeanne Heick reported.

Annual premium for the new policy which will also include $100,000 for property damage will be $363, Mrs. Heick said.

Directors named Sandra Schultz of Fairfax director of the summer swim program, replacing Danil Shillinger, director for the past two years.

Miss Schultz will be paid $500 for the eight-week program, Mrs. Heick said. Directors also approved a $3 an hour salary for the three instructors in the swim program.

Probation Is Given In Marijuana Case

Gwendolyn Marjorie Vasco, 35, of no fixed address, yesterday was placed on one-year probation and given a 30-day jail sentence with execution stayed for a count of possessing marijuana and one of illegally using a credit card.

Three additional credit card charges against her had been dismissed earlier by Judge Harold J. Haley, who sentenced her yesterday. Miss Vasco admitted having marijuana in San Rafael on July 14 and using a credit card owned by a San Rafael woman to buy more than $1,000 worth of articles last year.

Russell Will Undergo Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, one of the most powerful men in Congress, announced today he will immediately undergo cobalt treatments for a lung tumor.

"I think it is fair to assume it is malignant," the senator said in a tape recording played to newsmen by his press aide.

Russell, president pro tem of the Senate and chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said he will continue in the Senate.

"The doctors advised me strongly to continue my work and to await the outcome of treatment," the veteran Georgia Democrat said.

"I've decided to take that course."

SENTINEL

given it last week by President Nixon, the defense secretary said it "is not a stumbling block to arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union," adding: "The Soviet Union is given an added incentive to negotiate a meaningful agreement."

In the event the Soviets fail to take advantage of this opportunity, Laird said, the Safeguard strengthens the nation's defense posture by providing greater protection of its strategic deterrent force.

Laird made clear his program is aimed both at the possibility of a Communist Chinese missile attack in the 1970s and the growing offensive missile force of the Soviet Union.

Deputy Secretary David R. Packard, who followed Laird to the witness stand, said flatly the proposal rejects the idea of a later expansion into a "thick" network designed to protect American cities from Soviet attack.

In a change of plans the Armed Services Committee opened the hearings today to television. Hearings before the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on the disarmament tomorrow also will be televised. Packard also reported:

That Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles deployment and development are continuing and that "parity has been reached" with U.S. missile forces.

No Official Panel Backing

The Mill Valley Human Rights Commission has not officially supported the Mill Valley Youth Commission, as reported in Tuesday's Independent-Journal.

Rights Commission Chairman Roger J. Fleischmann said his group would be glad to consider the proposal whenever it might be brought before his commission but said no action has been taken at the present time.

At Monday night's council meeting, Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos said he had discussed youth problems with the human rights commission but made no mention of any endorsement of the proposed commission.

NIXON

pected at the Ogden home by nightfall.

The Nixons plan to visit the old mission at San Juan Capistrano on Saturday. The President will confer at breakfast Sunday with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, arriving Saturday night from Vietnam.

With the Nixons, General Goodpaster and Bunker plan to return to Washington later Sunday aboard Air Force One.

"He enjoys visiting the mission and wants to go there," press aide Ron Ziegler said of Nixon's visit to Capistrano, seven miles from San Clemente. That tour is planned for about noon Sunday.

A house reportedly under study is Pyne Castle, a 64-room Tudor-style mansion in Laguna, a coastal suburb of Los Angeles.

Owner Thomas A. Merrick, a retired contractor, and real estate man Glenn W. Webb said yesterday they have met four times in the past month with six Key Biscayne, Fla., businessmen who they say have expressed an interest in acquiring it for Nixon's possible use.

Merrick and Webb said the businessmen, who asked that their names be kept confidential, made no pretense of representing the President in any official or unofficial capacity.

The castle, which took three years and $200,000 to construct and was completed in 1931, was built by Walter Pyne, said to be an eccentric oil millionaire.

After Pyne's death in 1945, the mansion changed hands several times, ending up in Merrick's possession. By then it had been converted into a 13-unit apartment house, all now occupied.

The building, along with two big guest houses and a goat barn, stands on five unfenced acres of statuary-covered land. It overlooks the Pacific Ocean and can be seen from the Pacific Coast Highway. The land adjoins a large tract of undeveloped property owned by the Irvine Co.

The castle and land are valued at about $800,000 on the open market, Webb said. But he added that if the property was acquired for Nixon's use, the sale price "would be substantially less."

Nixon, Merrick said, has visited the castle many times, often in his youth and most recently last July at a Republican fund-raising affair during the presidential campaign.

Nicasio Trustees Eye Class Cut

Elimination of its kindergarten in 1969-70 was discussed Tuesday night by the Nicasio School District board, but no decision was reached.

The class currently has nine pupils, but only three are expected next year, according to Beverly Alberigi, board secretary.

A decision is expected at the next meeting, 8 p.m. April 15 at Nicasio School.

The board voted to oppose the proposed three-way split of the Tamalpais High School District, Miss Alberigi reported. Board members pointed out there is no guarantee the district would even be able to keep its school, she said.

Theft Reported

Pair Booked As Suspects In Burglary

Two Oakland men suspected of burglary were arrested by San Rafael police yesterday after their escape route was blocked by heavy traffic.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary were Claude William Allen Jr., 25, and Jimmie Lovell Walker, 20. Allen was also booked on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

The men allegedly attempted to burgle the home of Kerry W. Hill of 190 Bayview Acres, sheriff's deputies said. However, the house was occupied and the men were scared off, deputies reported.

San Rafael police received word to be on the lookout for the suspects and shortly police sighted them speeding west on Third Street.

Police attempted to stop the car without success and the chase began with speeds up to 60 miles an hour. When the suspects reached Irwin Street, their path was blocked by traffic and they turned into a filling station, scattering patrons in their path, police said.

Traffic blocked their exit from the station and the men left their car on foot, followed by police who stopped them. The men were turned over to deputies.

Both were held on bail of $6,250 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

O'Brien's Jury Reports A Split

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The jury in the manslaughter trial of police officer Michael O'Brien announced yesterday it was split 10-2 then retired for the third straight day without reaching a verdict.

Superior Court Judge Joseph Karesh asked the panel of seven men and five women not to reveal whether the split was in favor of conviction or acquittal in the trial of the 28-year-old O'Brien.

O'Brien has been accused of the fatal shooting of Negro truck driver George Baskett in an alley near the Hall of Justice last Sept. 29. The shooting climaxed an argument caused by a minor traffic accident.

Giant Railroad Merger Backed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing examiner recommended today approval of the $6.4 billion merger of the Norfolk & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio rail systems.

The giant merger, which will include nine railroads, would stretch from Maine to North Carolina and from the Tidewater Area of Virginia to Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri.

Session Rescheduled For Civic Center

The Southern Marin unit of the Silent Majority Against Revolutionary Tactics (SMART) will meet at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the planning commission chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

The group had earlier scheduled the meeting for the home of John E. Koster of 86 Via Barranca, Greenbrae.

SIRHAN

ing on a firing range the day before an assassination—as Sirhan did—or lying in wait for the senator—as Sirhan did—was not an act of premeditation.

"He's not a rational man," Richardson said of Sirhan, "he's a man who makes his decisions on a psychotic basis, not on a rational basis."

The defense is trying to prove that Sirhan did not have the mentality to meaningfully plan Kennedy's murder. Premeditation is essential to a first-degree murder conviction.

The psychologist, on the stand for the third day at Sirhan's murder trial, said of the possibility that Sirhan had prepared for the assassination: "That would be of the same kind of psychotic premeditation as a person in a mental ward plotting to steal the keys on the evening shift."

A third defense psychologist, Dr. Stephen J. Howard of the San Fernando Valley Child Guidance Clinic, testified Sirhan is a borderline psychotic personality—"an individual who will go in and out of psychosis."

Howard said he evaluated raw data sent to him by Dr. Richardson on March 4 and the tests showed Sirhan was "tired of the constant fight between strong impulses and drives which are seeking to come out and the defenses that tend to inhibit these drives."

The defenses, Howard said, were weakened and no longer able to inhibit the drives.

Sirhan's courtroom behavior has changed since the start of the trial.

Once attentive, he now barely glances at the witnesses. Once easily aroused to fury by any suggestion that he is mentally ill, Sirhan now sits quietly—almost dreamily—as psychologists say he is sick and getting sicker.

There was one such occasion yesterday as Dr. Roderick Richardson described him variously as:

Driving Case Warrant Issued

Judge David R. Baty of Northwest Marin Justice Court issued a bench warrant yesterday for the arrest of Angel Miranda, 20, a member of the Gypsy Jokers motorcycle gang.

Miranda, of San Francisco, appeared in Baty's court Feb. 26 and was ordered to pay a fine of $120 for mechanical violations on his motorcycle and for driving with a revoked license, or spend 10 days in jail.

The deadline to pay the fine was March 12, according to court clerk Stella Philipscheck, but neither Miranda nor his money appeared.

Bridge Bombing Blamed On Child

Egypt Pilgrim Plane Crashes; Fire Kills 92

CAIRO (UPI)—A Soviet-made turboprop crammed with Moslems returning from Mecca scuffed a wing on landing at Aswan today and burst into flames. Ninety-two persons were killed.

The United Arab Airlines Ilyushin-18 carried a crew of seven and 94 Moslem pilgrims—a total of 101 persons. Fourteen survived but five of them died later in hospitals.

Reports said a wing dipped and caught the runway, turning the airliner into a tumbling ball of flame.

The wreckage blocked the runway and closed the airport at Aswan, 500 miles south of Cairo on the Nile River.

Both Cairo Radio and the Middle East News Agency (MENA) carried reports of the crash—Egypt's worst air disaster since May 20, 1965, when a Pakistani International airliner crashed near Cairo, killing 121.

New Orleans Plane Crash Kills 15 Of 26 Aboard

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A privately owned plane bound for a British Honduras duck and jaguar hunt with 26 persons aboard crashed and burned today in a thick fog at New Orleans International Airport. Fifteen persons died and 11 survived.

The survivors were taken to the New Orleans Ochsner Foundation Hospital.

A temporary morgue was being set up on the east-west runway for the 15 persons killed.

The flight originated in Memphis, Tenn.

Officials in Washington said the FBI disaster squad was en route to assist in identification of the bodies. The plane had been chartered by the Western Tennessee Sportsman's Association.

C. L. Broadwell, 52, a survivor and an alumnium contractor from Memphis said the plane crashed "to the best of my knowledge because the man misjudged his landing."

Planners Heed College's Protest On Cotati Zoning

The Cotati Planning Commission last night zoned a section of East Cotati Avenue for commercial and industrial uses.

Northwestern Pacific Railroad, the landowner, requested the area be zoned all industrial so it might lease the land to an auto-wrecking and storage firm.

The commission heard protests from neighbors and officials at Sonoma State College, who said the proposed zone would be detrimental to the area and the entrance to the college.

The commission voted to zone the front portion of the property from the railroad tracks to the street as commercial which would permit an auto repair service. The rear portion of the property zoned industrial will permit the auto dismantling service.

The Cotati Planning Commission also:

REZONED — Approved rezoning request of Laurine M. Starr that her property at 8356 Gravenstein Highway be changed from residential to commercial to permit the erection of a commercial sign.

LOT SPLIT — Approved the splitting of one lot on East Cotati Avenue into two lots as requested by Paul Golis of Cofego Enterprises. Lot sizes are 150 by 325 feet and 1,252 by 175 feet.

EXPANSION — Approved request of Richard Schueman to enlarge his home at 845 Cypress Avenue.

NAME CHANGE — Recommended that the city council change the name of Sierra and East Cotati avenues to Sonoma State Boulevard to honor nearby Sonoma State College.

Pueblo Air Cover Too Far, Too Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fighter planes were sent to the aid of the Pueblo when she was attacked in the Sea of Japan last year but darkness engulfed the area before the aircraft could arrive, an Air Force general said yesterday.

Lt. Gen. Seth J. McKee, former commander of the U.S. Fifth Air Force, said he dispatched F105s armed with 20 mm cannon when he learned of the Pueblo's plight but the planes were too far away to arrive before the intelligence ship was captured.

The Pueblo was on a mission off North Korea collecting intelligence when she was captured Jan. 23, 1968 and taken into Wonsan Harbor.

After the seizure, there was criticism, much of it from Congress, that airplanes were not dispatched to prevent the North Koreans from commandeering the ship.

McKee, now vice chief of staff for the Air Force, emphasized he acted as quickly as he could to get fighter planes to the scene.

"I personally made the decision to send aircraft, issued appropriate orders to effect such action and Fifth Air Force fighters were launched" the general told a special House armed services subcommittee probing the capture of the Pueblo.

McKee said his command began launching fighter aircraft as soon as possible out of Okinawa, where the only operationally ready combat units were located.

"Unfortunately, they could not get to the scene prior to darkness or prior to the time that the Pueblo entered the three-mile limit," he said. "Therefore after they landed in Korea, it was too late to refuel and relaunch in support of the Pueblo."

McKee said the planes were sent from Okinawa to Osan, South Korea, to refuel because they did not carry sufficient fuel to go directly to the ship and engage in possible combat.

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., subcommittee chairman, and several other members lauded McKee for the actions he took even though the planes could not reach the Pueblo in time to be of help.

"Even from the lofty view of hindsight," Pike said, "We don't find much wrong with the actions you took. I feel sort of good about someone who will stick his neck out and try to do something."

Final Check For Addition Is Approved

Final payment of $14,378 to the Filippo Construction Co. of San Rafael for the Omega addition to Granada School was approved last night by the Reed School District board, according to Supt. H. Joe Edgington.

Edgington said trustees voted to withhold $600 from the original bill of $14,978 because carpeting in the addition was damaged by leaks during recent rains.

Trustees accepted the resignation of Bonita Sanborn, teacher aide at Bel Aire School, effective immediately, because Mrs. Sanborn has found another job. The leave of absence for Elizabeth Livengood, former home economics teacher at Del Mar School, was extended through the 1969-70 school year, Edgington said.

Adoption of the 1969-70 school calendar was delayed at the request of the teachers' association, Edgington said.

Korean Exercise Held A Success

SEOUL (AP) — Exercise Focus Retina, billed as history's longest airborne assault operation, was termed by American officers "a big success."

The U.S.-South Korean war games ended today and 2,500 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division prepared to fly back to Fort Bragg, N.C., tomorrow and Saturday.

The exercise began Monday with 720 of the paratroopers jumping onto the exercise site near Yoju, 40 miles southeast of Seoul, after an 8,500-mile flight from North Carolina.

American military officials in Seoul said all aspects of the maneuver were carried out satisfactorily.

Storm Damage At $265 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI)—California suffered damage of at least $265 million in recent floods and faces the threat of disastrous new floods as heavy snowpacks melt in the mountains, Rep. Harold T. Johnson, D-Calif., testified today.

Johnson, from Roseville in Northern California, opened testimony before the House Public Works Committee in support of a disaster relief bill.

Johnson urged expenditure of $60 million during the next two fiscal years to help rebuild damaged roads that are not a part of the federal-aid highway system and thus not eligible for emergency funds under existing laws.

The $60 million is double what is being asked in the emergency legislation now pending in committee.

Dock Strike Held Mail Delay Cause

LONDON (AP) — The British post office today blamed the two-month New York dock strike for the fact that Christmas mail from America is now being delivered nearly three months late.

A spokesman said more than 18,000 bags of mail and parcels, some bearing November postmarks, have been received since the beginning of the month.

Thoresens Face Only Two Counts

FRESNO (UPI)—Gun collector William E. Thoresen III and his wife, Louise, both face sentencing on two counts of violating federal firearms laws, U.S. Attorney Jerrold Ladar said yesterday.

UPI incorrectly reported Tuesday that Thoresen had been found guilty on three counts.

Ladar said Thoresen was listed on the second count in the indictment along with Mrs. Thoresen.

However, the attorney said Thoresen was not actually prosecuted on the charge which involved shipment of 20,400 rounds of ammunition from Tucson, Ariz., to Oakland.

Mrs. Thoresen was found guilty of aiding and abetting in the munitions shipment.

Both Thoresens were convicted of illegally transporting rifles from New Jersey to San Francisco, and Thoresen was found guilty of transporting two antitank guns from New York to Alameda County.

Swallows Back In Novato Area

Novato's swallows, which normally are a few days ahead of those at Capistrano, were at the old granary south of Gnoss Field yesterday morning, according to Peter Lind who is building restaurant there.

For several years the Novato swallows have arrived a few days before those at Capistrano which are noted for arriving on St. Joseph's Day, March 19.

"Ours may have been here for several days, but I did not look for them until yesterday morning, and there they were," Lind said.

Drug Policy Drafted For School Use

The rights of students and parents in drug abuse cases were outlined Tuesday night by the Novato Unified School District's Drug Policy Committee, according to chairman Gilbert R. Guerin.

The committee has been working for a month on procedures for the schools to handle drug offenders. It had previously outlined a plan to suspend a student involved in the possession, use, or sale of drugs or narcotics on or off a school grounds. The student would be given a hearing before the school administation committee composed of the principal, vice principal, dean and a counselor, Guerin said.

The rights of students during the hearing at the school and the hearing before the board of trustees, follow very closely those set up by the American Civil Liberties Union's recommendation, and the sections of the Educational Code which involve expulsion, Guerin said.

The committee's outline provided that the parent or guardian must be notified in writing and the student be allowed to have a representative of his choice at the hearing.

If the school committee recommends expulsion, the action will go before the board of trustees under the same procedure, Guerin said. If, after a closed meeting, the board decides to expel the student, it shall determine the length of the expulsion, he said. The decision shall be made public.

The completed outline of recommendations will be given to the school board at its April 7 meeting at the administration building, Guerin said.

Sewer District Signs Pact For Lines Takeover

Corte Madera Sanitary District directors have signed a contract with the Tamalpais High School District and Nellen Lands Inc. to purchase the Fifer-Tamalpais High School District sewer system, Secretary Portia Fitzgerald said today.

One of the main conditions of the contract is that the district be paid $12,200 as full payment for the Fifer-Tamalpais High School District pump station.

Directors also signed an agreement for acquisition and construction of improvements for an extension of the Paradise Cay subdivision's sewer system.

Tuesday night's meeting was the last meeting of the borad as district board members. Commencing April 1 the same directors will meet as a town commission since at that time the district will become subsidiary of the town of Corte Madera. Commission meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of the month in town hall.

Stereo tape players and tapes were taken from parked cars in two separate thefts in San Rafael Monday, police reported yesterday.

A stereo tape player and tapes worth $125 and tools worth $125 were stolen from the car of John Michael Biggs, of 530 Las Colindas Road, as it was parked early yesterday at his home. A wing window was broken by the thieves, police said.

A tape player and tapes worth $110 were also taken from the car of San Rafael High School student Craig M. Snagelle, 225 Glen Park Avenue, as it was parked on Third Street near the high school Tuesday morning. Police said entry was gained by jimmying a door lock.

Cigarette Smoke Leads To Arrest

Smoke from a cigarette led to the citizen's arrest Tuesday of a 64-year-old Rodd woman who reportedly jabbed another woman with her elbow at a San Anselmo snack bar, police said yesterday.

Lilliam Pearl Damner of Laurel Grove Avenue, Ross, was arrested by Gayle Trinterud of 497 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo on suspicion of assault and battery and booked into Marin County jail.

Mrs. Trinterud told officers she was jabbed in the left arm by Mrs. Damner at Safeway, 900 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard after Mrs. Damner asked her to move because Mrs. Trinterud's cigarette smoke was bothering her. The incident was reported at 6:25 p.m.

Woman Is Found Dead In Home

Miss Jones, a secretary for H. F. Suhr Co. Mortuary in San Francisco, died of an overdose of barbiturates, according to the Marin County coroner's office. A note found on a dining room table at her home indicated she took seconal sometime during the weekend.

Friends and co-workers of the deceased indicated that she had been feeling despondent recently, the coroner reported. When one friend got no answer to repeated phone calls to her home, he called police.

Drugs Suspect Says Only Drunk

A 20-year-old Mill Valley youth, arrested in San Anselmo Sunday night and thought at first to be under the influence of drugs, may only have been drunk, according to a physician at Mendocino State Hospital.

The Independent-Journal reported Monday that a psychiatrist at the Marin County Mental Health Center said that the youth, Peter Perdue of 70 Surrey Avenue, apparently was suffering withdrawal symptoms from use of heroin.

Dr. Allen Hassan at Mendocino State Hospital, who examined Perdue, said yesterday, that Perdue vigorously denied using drugs and said he was drunk when arrested. "We couldn't confirm it one way or the other," Hassan said. "But sometimes a person under the influence of liquor may exhibit all the symptons of being under the influence of drugs."

Strike Over, American Airlines Flying Again

NEW YORK (AP) — American Airlines resumes flight operations today after a 21-day strike by ground service employes.

The workers voted overwhelmingly yesterday to accept a new contract providing hourly wage increases of 25.5 per cent for line mechanics.

American, the nation's second largest domestic airline, alerted 7,500 furloughed employees, mostly flight crews, to return to work today even before the vote results were formally announced.

During the strike by 12,700 Transportation Workers Union members, the line's 225 jet airplanes were maintained by supervisory and management personnel.

The settlement was announced by Matthew Guinan, international president of the AFL-CIO union, who said it gave American employees "the best wages, pensions, medical insurance protection and job security in the airline industry."

Under the pact, which runs until Feb. 28, 1971, line mechanics' wages will increase from the present $4.16 to $5.21 in the final period of the contract. With added increments for longevity and other factors, some mechanics will receive $5.69.

American serves 52 cities in the United States, Canada and Mexico and normally carries about 50,000 passengers daily. About 15,000 of its employes were kept on the job during the strike.

The airline had gross revenue losses of $57 million during the strike, a spokesman said, but the final loss will not be known until it is determined how much the line receives from a mutual aid pact among major airlines. Under the pact, airlines which get extra business during a strike share part of the revenues with the struck line.

Girl May Be Sent To Juvenile Court

The case of Wendy Helen Handsaker, 18, of 609 Appleberry Drive, Lucas Valley, yesterday was referred to the probation department for possible certification to Marin Juvenile Court.

Miss Handsaker, who is accused of marijuana possession, was arrested in Sausalito last Thursday.

Ike's Progress Is Up And Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, saying she has lost 15 pounds during the long vigil by her husband's bedside, reports the former president "has some good days and some bad ones."

Mrs. Eisenhower said that last Saturday was a particularly bad day for her husband, hospitalized by repeated heart attacks since May.

"I didn't take my clothes off for 30 hours," she commented as she appeared at her second fashion show in two days yesterday.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital, in their last report on the former president about a week ago, said he was progressing well in his recovery from major intestinal surgery and later pneumonia.

Car Theft Suspect To Superior Court

Robert Bruce Lane, 28, former Marinite who now lives in Tacoma, Wash., was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on two counts of car theft.

Lane was arrested March 5 by Mill Valley police, who said he was driving a car stolen in San Francisco. He is also charged with stealing a car Feb. 13.

African Resolution Predicted To Pass

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council may pass a resolution tomorrow calling on South Africa to withdraw from South-West Africa, diplomats from Asia, Africa and Latin America predicted today.

U.S. support for the resolution has been assured, the diplomats said, by watering down provisions calling for boycott and use of armed force when South Africa ignores the resolution. Britain and France are expected to abstain, giving the measure a 13-0 margin.

Los Angeles Coroner Out Amid Claims

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The charges lodged against the man who handled the autopsy of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy were some of the most bizarre ever brought against a public official.

Detailed in a 10-page letter, the accusations strongly suggested Los Angeles County Coroner Thomas Noguchi, 42, suffered neurotic fantasies and needed psychiatric treatment.

Examples of erratic behavior catalogued by his staff and presented to his superiors by the county administrative officer included reports that:

Noguchi prayed for airplane crashes that would bring glory and renown to the coroner's office;

Noguchi expressed a strong desire to perform autopsies on county officials still alive.

RACISM CHARGED

Noguchi denied the charges "generally and specifically" and his wife, Hisako, said he was a victim of racial discrimination, but he was fired this week by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

Noguchi's attorney called the allegations "distorted, ridiculous and untrue" and said the dismissal would be appealed before the county civil service commission and the courts if necessary.

The letter, prepared by Administrative Officer Lindon S. Hollinger and addressed to Noguchi, said, "Many members of your staff, both lay and professional, have expressed grave doubts as to your mental health."

Specific accusations included:

After Kennedy was shot June 5, but before he died 25 hours later, Noguchi expressed the belief the senator would not live and his death would give the coroner a "chance to make a reputation."

'PRAYED FOR CRASH'

"On one occasion you stated that you prayed that Mayor Sam Yorty's helicopter would crash, because the press would be there and you would be there and this would bring glory and prestige to the office."

The letter quoted Noguchi as expressing to a physician the desire to perform autopsies on Hollinger, County Personnel Director Gordon T. Nesvig and Harry Hufford, county budget division chief. "But you further stated you might have to assassinate Hollinger first."

The letter said Noguchi's staff saw him taking drugs, some of which appeared to be amphetamines, and that doctors on his staff believed the bizarre symptoms indicated he had been taking both amphetamine and barbiturate drugs.

"You stated on several occasions that each night you prayer that a Boeing 727 loaded to capacity would crash into the International Hotel because the press would then come and Noguchi would be the center of attention," the letter charged.

None of the accusations involved the actual autopsy performed on Kennedy nor Noguchi's professional competence.

'DEATH AND DISASTER'

His lawyer, Godfrey Isaac, said of the charges: "Many of them seem to be distortions and misinterpretations of normal stressful situations which are inherent in dealing with death and disaster."

Heated controversy surrounded Noguchi's nomination for the $31,104-a-year post prior to his appointment Dec. 19, 1967 by a 3-2 vote of the board of supervisors.

He was opposed by both the UCLA and the University of Southern California medical schools and by the coroner committee of the county medical association on grounds he was inexperienced.

New Orleans Racial Integration Foe Dies

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Leander H. Perez Sr., a short-tempered political czar once excommunicated by the Roman Catholic Church for resisting racial integration, is dead at the age of 77.

The multimillionaire boss of oil-rich Plaquemines Parish, whose wrath at various times centered on Negroes, Jews, political opponents and the U.S. Navy, was stricken with a heart attack last night at his Idlewild plantation.

He had been released Monday from a New Orleans hospital where he was treated for a heart attack suffered on Jan. 10.

Perez once declared he would oppose racial integration "til death." He was excommunicated in 1962 for blocking the opening of a Plaquemines parochial school which had admitted Negroes.

LEANDER H. PEREZ
Had many causes

In 1966 a federal court issued a decree integrating the public schools of Plaquemines Parish, a low-lying area extending from south of New Orleans along the Mississippi River to the Gulf of Mexico. Perez, longtime president of the parish council, was placed under injunction not to interfere.

The injunction was still in force when he died.

In 1963 Perez tangled with the U.S. Navy, which has an air station within the parish at Belle Chasse, over the integration of bars and other public places in the area.

Perez had the parish council declare all drinking places off limits to unifored servicemen and the air station off limits to all civilians.

In 1968 Gov. John McKeithen appointed him a member of the state highway board. By then he had been succeeded as president of the parish council by his son Chalin.

In 1960 he resigned as district attorney of the parish, a post he had held for 36 years, and was succeeded by his son Leander Jr.

The two sons survive, along with two daughters, three sisters, 19 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Tri-Partite Panel Backs Bus System

The Marin County Transit District's bid to contract with the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to finance and operate a new bus system won unanimous endorsement yesterday from the Marin Tri-Partite Transportation Committee.

The transit district voted last December to begin immediate negotiations with the bridge district on a joint powers agreement for an inter-county system "at the earliest possible date."

The bridge board, however, has taken no action on the proposal, considering instead a plan that the bridge district go into the bus business on its own.

The plna, drawn by the bridge district's former engineer, Arthur C. Jenkins, said the transit district either could dissolve itself or operate a bus system within Marin.

Four of the five committee members present yesterday are on the bridge board: Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum, Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, San Francisco Supervisor Ronald Pelosi and Lowell Edington of Napa County. The other member present was Marin Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr.

Among the absent was San Francisco Supervisor Jack Morrison, who previously opposed the proposed joint powers agreement on the ground it could use up the same bridge funds he wants used for a ferry system.

A joint powers agreement would be necessary under the Jenkins plan, said Seymour Kashin, manager of the transit district, because buses between San Francisco and Sonoma inevitably would provide some local service within Marin on their way through.

The committee set its next meeting for 2 p.m. on April 9.

Horse Show Sunday

The 4 M Mounted Sheriff's Patrol horse show will be held Sunday, not Saturday as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal. The show will be at 8 a.m. Sunday at the Novato Horsemen's Arena.

Sausalito's Crime Rate Jumps In '68

Arrests and reported crimes in Sausalito climbed sharply in most categories in 1968, according to the annual report prepared by Police Chief James D. Wright.

Arrests last year totaled 1,435, up 66 from the previous year, while total offenses reported were 2,032 compared to 1,391 in 1967.

Sixty-nine per cent of the reported offenses were cleared, according to the report.

The department cleared the three reported rapes, three of nine reported robberies, 37 of 137 burglaries, 25 of 313 thefts, 14 of 67 car thefts and 3 of 12 forgeries. Reported in 1967 were one rape, six robberies, 129 burglaries, 315 thefts, 45 car thefts and 25 forgeries.

The department cleared 65 of 70 reported narcotics offenses, all 117 drunk offenses and all 34 drunken driving offenses reported. The 1967 figures were 25 narcotics offenses, 116 drunk arrests and 34 drunken driving offenses, all cleared.

Loss from thefts was $109,823 worth of property last year, of which $36,577 has been recovered. In 1967 the figures were $179,542 stolen and $47,892 recovered.

Traffic accidents dropped slightly with 325 accidents compared to 343 in 1967. There was one fatality each year, 36 injury accidents last year compared to 55 in 1967, 86 hit-and-run accidents compared to 81 the previous year, and 202 noninjury accidents compared to 206 in 1967.

The department issued 59,923 tickets compared to 40,413 in 1967. The tickets included 43,685 parking meter citations, 12,642 other parking citations, and 3,596 citations for moving violations.

The 25-member department logged 51,469 hours of regular time compared to 44,010 in 1967, and 2,547 hours of overtime compared to 2,367 hours in 1967.

Department turnover remained low, Wright reported, one man retiring and two resigning.

Wright listed extensive training by the department. All 25 members attended narcotics classes by the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau, four men attended a two-week fingerprint class, one man attended a five-week basic police academy course, two sergeants took a three-week supervisory academy course and Wright attended an executive management class given by the Marin County Police Chiefs Association.

Adult, Juvenile Don't Go Quietly

A 23-year-old San Anselmo man was booked into Marin County Jail Monday night on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, possession of a car with altered identification and three traffic charges after police noticed him acting in a suspicious manner on D Street, San Rafael.

Herman Joseph Sanchez, 23, of 109 Humboldt Street, was booked after police found an open container of whisky in his car.

During the trip to jail, Sanchez and the juvenile with him emptied an officer's thermos of coffee in the back seat of a patrol car and stole the officer's handcuff key, police said.

The juvenile was cited for curfew violation.

Sausalitan Freed; Charges Dropped

Charges were dismissed Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court against Robert Lawrence Orth, 21, of Sausalito, after Judge Alvin B. Goldstein granted a motion to suppress evidence on the grounds of illegal search.

Orth, who was arrested March 10, had been charged with possessing marijuana, dangerous drugs, narcotics, altered credit cards and another person's credit card.

Britain Agrees With U.S. On Sea Floor Plan

GENEVA (AP) — Britain said today it agrees with U.S. reservations toward the Soviet draft treaty to ban the military use of the ocean floor.

The treaty, put before the 17-nation disarmament conference Tuesday, called for a ban on "military bases, structures, installations, fortifications and other objects of military nature" beyond the 12-mile territorial limit.

U.S. delegate Gerard C. Smith said earlier he was "inclined to doubt that we would have any interest in a treaty banning any military use of the sea bed."

British delegate Adrian Porter told the conference: "Our provisional view is that the Russian draft goes too far, particularly in what it seeks to ban from the sea bed.

"On the other hand, we would certainly wish to cooperate in working out an international agreement to prohibit the emplacement or fixing of nuclear weapons or other weapons of mass destruction on the sea bed."

Teen-Ager Accused Of Child Molesting

A 14-year-old San Anselmo boy was booked into Juvenile Hall Tuesday on suspicion of child molesting after a San Anselmo mother reported her daughters, 7 and 4 years old, had been molested, police said yesterday.

The youth, on probation for being beyond parental control, is a Sir Francis Drake High School student, officers reported.

Sausalito's Fire Losses Only $63,784 Last Year

Fire losses in Sausalito last year were cut to little more than a fourth of 1967 losses, Fire Chief Charles E. Masten has reported, and for the first time in several years the per capita fire loss has dropped below the national average.

In his annual report yesterday, Masten said losses last year were $63,784, or $9.20 per capita, compared to 1967 figures of $218,754 and $39.20 per capita. The national average is $10.62 per capita.

The department fought 132 fires last year, including 28 in Dwellings, 27 in cars, 13 in business structures, two in industrial buildings, two in wharfs, and 22 grass and brush fires. Losses totaled $41,434 to structures, $17,170 to contents and $5,225 to cars.

The department also made 130 ambulance calls, answered 38 false alarms, made 54 smoke checks and made 75 investigations.

The inspection division, headed by Capt. Ralph K. Pedersen, made 379 inspections of businesses, 149 in dwellings, 30 in industrial sites, 11 in schools, 15 in churches and 11 in yacht harbors.

Training officer Lt. Robert Quayle reported firemen spent an average of 282 hours each in training compared to 207 hours in 1967. Volunteer firemen spent a total of 237 training hours at monthly drills.

Eight men went to outside training schools including fire alarm school, fire training officers, arson and fire investigation, first aid, and staff and command. Eleven men took fire science courses at College of Marin.

The department also started a summer cadet program, training three boys from Marin City for six weeks in fire fighting, first aid, maintenance, rescue and fire prevention.

Four of each 10 Texans are engaged in agriculture.

Lack Of Confidence Spelt Bond Defeat

Another former school board member who voted "no" is Anita C. Strom of 260 Linden Lane, who served on the board in 1965-67. Mrs. Strom siad she does not believe in the middle school (sixth, seventh and eighth grades under a junior high school-type plan) which is the heart of the proposal.

"Departmentalized education is always more expensive," she said. Also, she does not think sixth graders should be taken from the neighborhood elementary schools to the different atmosphere of a centralized middle school.

"The taxpayer is not represented by the school board as he should be," said Mrs. Strom. Basing the conclusion on her own board service, she declared that the board yields to pressure by powerful teacher organizations which "are for spending, and for imposing their philosophy, frequently at the expense of the child rather than to his benefit."

L. E. Weisenburg Jr. of 29 Sorrento Way, builder and subdivider who was an unsuccessful board of education candidate in 1963, was among those who "voted with the seats of their pants" by staying away from the polls on Feb. 18.

Weisenburg said he has previously supported bond issues. However, he began to doubt the wisdom of some of them during his service on a citizen finance advisory committee in 1962-63. He found, he said, that "the school board is not running the schools as a business. Administrators don't know the true costs of many operations."

An almost-school board candidate was Donald R. Wellington of 335 Fairhills Drive, an executive of Dalmon Products, an Emeryville building supply firm. Wellington took out nomination papers for next month's board election, but changed his mind about running and did not file them.

He said that after reading publicity about the bond issue, "I decided I can't in all good conscience vote for this," so he decided not to vote. However, he was at the city hall — his polling place — on election day, and a poll worker called to him to come and vote. So he voted "no."

Wellington said he just "was not convinced of the necessity for the building program for which the bond issue is sought.

Similarly unconvinced was Edward M. Berol, an attorney of 301 Locust Avenue. He was out of town on election day, but "if I had been here, I would have voted no," he said.

Adding to Berol's skepticism regarding the need was his own experience with the schools. "Over the years I have made efforts to get some information from the board and administration about financial problems of the schools. I wasn't too successful," he commented.

Robert Y. Mann, retired banker and investment counselor of 300 Margarita Drive, was on the citizen committee that produced the $3.1 million elementary district bond issue that failed of passage in 1967. It, too, was based on a Glenwood Middle School.

This time, however, Mann voted "no." He gave almost exactly the same reason as Boyd: "The people supposed to be running the schools have lost the confidence of the taxpayers. Higher and higher spending is not producing a better product."

Noting that the major share of school budgets is for salaries, Mann added: "What the school board needs more than anything else is a specialist to deal with the employees to arrive at a fair basis of payment."

Hiring two kindergarten teachers for each school — one for morning and one for afternoon — was "the straw that broke the camel's back" for attorney John G. Buresh of 237 Mountain View Avenue and caused him to depart from past practice by voting "no."

Buresh said this was but the latest proof of his belief that school expenditures are extravagant. "Tax money was just a continuous fountain that flowed, as far as the schools were concerned," he commented. "On top of that came the failure of high-priced administrators to cope with crises."

Consistent supporters, while sometimes critics, of the San Rafael schools are Dr. and Mrs. William K. Beare of 17 Moncada Way. But neither of them voted for the February bond issue.

Mrs. Beare said she and her husband realize schools must keep up to date, but object to continual experimenting with each new fad. "The school goes off in all directions," she said, and when questions are asked, the questioner is rebuffed.

Robert Stearns, engineer and inventor of Mountain View Avenue, said the current bond issue was "the first one I've ever voted against."

He described the proposed Glenwood Middle School as "more of a country club than a school," saying: "Heating, electric and plumbing problems are greatly magnified by the cluster plan proposed. There is also additional groundskeeping expense. . . . Good teachers, not needlessly expensive buildings, make good schools."

He added: "Schools should stop trying to pull the rug out from under parents who are trying to control their children."

Max Thelen Jr., attorney of 199 Mountain View Avenue, served on a citizen curriculum advisory committee in 1964. He did not vote Feb. 18. "My deliberate abstention was a vote of no confidence," he said.

"A fundamental reason is that the professionals increasingly strive to eliminate, overcome or circumvent any civilian responsibility for the school system," said Thelen. "Many administrators and some teachers consider parents, taxpayers and legislators as the enemy, to be ignored, opposed and ridiculed."

Most vehement "no confidence vote" was by J. Halford Carmona of 125 McCoy Road, president of Carmona Chemical Co.

"I have completely lost confidence in teachers and administrators and in their ability to properly administer the funds provided for them," he said. "They have to somehow be made to realize that they are employees, that the schools belong to the taxpayers.

Waterfront Plan Shifts Get Preview

A sneak preview of the amended Sausalito central waterfront plan was given the Sausalito Planning Commission last night by consultant William E. Spangle Jr. and associates.

The consultants gave the commission an oral rundown on changes made after commission and city council suggestions in previous public hearings. The presentation was not on the agenda mailed out Friday.

Since written materials for the revised plan are not ready, the commission set no public hearing date on the amended plan.

The commission also discussed prezoning for the American Distillery property north of Sausalito, and set an April 16 public hearing for a commission-initiated proposal to zone it for one-family houses, duplexes and apartments. The city recently turned down a proposal for a 548-unit apartment complex for single adults only.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

VARIANCE — Amended a variance granted William Gilkerson for an art gallery above the No Name Bar, 759 Bridgeway, to allow sale of marine crafts such as scrimshaw whale tooth carving and marlinspike seamanship (decorative rope knots).

EASEMENT — Recommended the city council vacate an unused storm drain easement in Marinship.

ZONING — Discussed proposed zoning ordinance changes for which a public hearing will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The city council has set a public hearing on the ordinance for 8 p.m. April 1. Both hearings will be in the council chamber.

Labor Council Raps Tam Split Proposal

The Marin County Labor Council last night agreed to oppose any attempt to dissect or dissolve the Tamalpais High School District, President Charles B. Weers reported.

The council believes any action should be toward unification not a split, Weers said.

Sonoma State On-Campus Housing Wins New Friend

Rohnert Park Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday joined the city council in requesting the state to reconsider plans for construction of on-campus housing at Sonoma State College.

The decision came after the directors heard college officials tell of the need for a dormitory on the campus. John C. Palmer, dean of students, said the future enrollment will be much higher than earlier estimated because the older state colleges are reaching enrollment limits sooner than expected.

Palmer said the chancellor's office has endorsed on-campus housing for the college as well as two classroom buildings for art and physicial science and an administration center.

Palmer and Warren R. Tappin, associate dean in charge of housing, explained that many parents do not allow their children to live in unsupervised off-campus apartments and would appreciate dormitory facilities.

Tappin invited the businessmen to continue the housing discussion today at 8 p.m. at the Rohnert Park Model City Commission meeting.

Many chamber members and apartment owners opposed the on'campus housing, saying that competition from lower-costing dormitories would be unfair.

In other business, directors issued a letter to the Sonoma County Economic Development board asking the planned reprinting of the county map be shelved until the map can be updated. Chamber secretary Nancy Mettert said the 8-year-old map contains many errors in information about Rohnert Park.

Center Repairs Are Authorized

Marinwood Community Services District directors last night authorized a series of minor improvements for the community center to prepare for opening of weekend swimming on March 29.

They authorized up to $1,000 for the purchase of swimming pool supplies. Director Charles Roach and Ralph E. Tischbern, chairman of the parks and recreation commission, were authorized to get bids on a storage shed in the swimming pool complex, the cost not to exceed $850. They will also seek bids for a cabinet for swim trophies.

Marinwood Community Services District directors also:

REFINISH FLOOR — Authorized $400 for supplies to refinish the community center floor.

FIRE SUPPLIES — Approved a $370 outlay for assorted supplies for the fire department.

WORK-STUDY — Authorized the hiring of up to six students to work in school recreation and park maintenance between now and June 30, under a work-study agreement with College of Marin.

Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $112 were taken from his warehouse at 16 De Luca Place, San Rafael, between Friday and Tuesday, Bert Kennedy reported to police yesterday. Missing were a drill, a saw and other equipment.

Suspect Denies Morals Charge

Anthony Alexander Burgess, 20, of San Rafael pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday to a charge of statutory rape on a 15-year-old girl.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 8.

Burgess was arrested after the girl's father told the police he found his daughter in the youth's apartment.

Teachers Try To Force Salary Hikes In Secret

Spurred by the California Teachers Association, Marin's school teachers this year are asking for salary increases well above those granted in the past — and in some cases are trying to push them through without the public knowing about them.

They may be succeeding in several districts.

TAMALPAIS HIGH SCHOOL District teachers this week presented a demand for a 10 per cent salary increase plus additional fringe benefits. And they objected to presenting it in public.

Last week, Larkspur School District teachers handed their board of trustees a demand for an 18.8 per cent increase, along with a seven-page set of rules for negotiating on it.

Larkspur and Tamalpais High School District trustees refused, rightly enough, to receive salary demands in secret. To do so would be contrary both to law and to the public interest.

HOWEVER, IN DIXIE School District negotiations are under way on teacher salaries for next fiscal year, yet the demands or proposals have not been made public.

In Mill Valley, Supt. James A. Collins is negotiating with a teacher salary committee, yet its demands have not been made public.

In Reed School District, the board of trustees has recognized a teacher negotiating council, but its demands have not been made public.

In Ross, trustee L. G. Maclise is conducting negotiations with teachers on salary demands that have not been made public.

In Sausalito, negotiators have been named by the school board, but the demands on which they are to meet and confer have not been made public.

IT IS A FAIR GUESS that in these districts, the teachers are asking somewhere between the 8.5 per cent raise sought in Novato Unified District — the lowest damand so far reported — and the 20 per cent asked in San Anselmo School District — the highest so far reported.

All these raises, of course, would be in addition to the annual increment, about $300 in most districts, which the teachers receive automatically.

Some of the districts could perhaps pay the raises without going to the voters for an increase in tax rate ceilings. Some could not.

Salaries make up 80 to 85 per cent of a school budget. Therefore, a 10 per cent salary raise means an 8 per cent tax raise, one way or another.

TWO AND ONE-HALF years ago, the California Teachers Association's Bay Section served notice on all school boards that the Ralph M. Brown Act requires them to conduct their business in public.

This year, however, the CTA is making an altogether different pitch. Its various local associations are seeking to meet in secret with school boards to bargain away the taxpayers' money in the form of increased salaries and fringe benefits.

It would pay the taxpayers at this time of year to attend school board meetings — and to make sure that the teachers' salary demands and the board's reactions to them are thoroughly aired within the hearing of at least a representation of those who will have to pay the bills.

Some Good Signs

Since many Americans, and presumably some Marinites, have joined the hosts of those having their minds bent or straightened by yoga, depending on how one looks at it, let us all join in learning from the Indians.

From a publication printed in Hong Kong, we have gleaned the following: "Travelers to India tell me of some new and pretty effective road safety signboards. One on the Grand Trunk Road near New Delhi reads: (DRIVE LIKE HELL AND YOU'LL SOON BE THERE.) Another near Calcutta reads: 'DRIVE SLOWLY. OUR HOSPITAL IS SMALL'."

Flournoy Again Tries Reform Of Inheritance Tax System

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Another attempt to put inheritance tax appraisers under state civil service is being made by State Controller Houston I. Flournoy.

Inheritance appraisers, who in the past have been in the main a political adjuct of the controller, have been the subject of legislative controversy for several years.

Three attempts have been made to revise the methods in which they are appointed, primarily to take the appointment out from under a political cloud, but each has failed to get the necessary votes to send it to the governor.

NOW SEN. Lewis F. Sherman, R-Alameda, is introducing legislation to completely revamp the law.

Flournoy has gone as far as he can to take the appraisers out of the class on political appointments, but the best he can do under present law is to hold his own examinations and find out whether the appraisers are qualified.

This procedure has improved the picture, but Flournoy wants these state employees under civil service, and wants revision of the inheritance tax system.

"WE ARE TRYING," the controller said, "once more to establish an inheritance tax appraising system procedure free of political patronage implications, which will simplify, consolidate and strengthen the administration of the inheritance tax law."

The controller estimates the plan he advocates this year will save taxpayers and estates some $3.6 million annually, with no loss of revenues to the state treasury.

He pointed out that previous attempts to enact changes have died in the Senate governmental Efficiency Committee, which is well known as the "graveyard" of much controversial legislation.

Whether this committee will get the measure for consideration again this year remains to be seen, but the prediction is that if it does, another attempt to revise the laws regarding inheritance procedures will go down the drain.

THE CONTROLLER'S plan proposes appraisal responsibilities be divided by the executors of estates and the controller. It is combination of self-appraisal and fixed asset, administrative valuation of much other property and field appraisal by professionally qualified appraisers of the remaining assets.

It would eliminate county treasurers from administration of the tax, with appreciable savings to the taxpayers; maintain unity on probate; institute an inheritance tax return in non-probate cases; provide for the computation of the tax by the controller's office; simplify procedures for releases of liens and consents to transfer, and modify procedures by which safe-deposit boxes are opened.

Admittedly, inheritance tax procedures are complicated, in addition to the political trap into which the system has fallen. The question is whether the legislature will be able to accept the suggested improvements.

Some Omissions In Meeting Report

1. Superintendent hires receptionist without board approval. Gets slap on hand.

2. Playground supervisor is hired without board approval ($5 per hour). (Both are black in regard to ethnic hiring practices.)

3. Superintendent uses words like mother— at board meeting without batting an eye — nobody says a thing.

4. Our attendance of our own school district children is down to 837, an all-time low (last month, 850).

Marin City Fence: Quiz For Parents

Regarding the Marin City fence article in the March 13 edition of the I-J, may I submit the "perfect community and neighborhood quiz" as my comment? Since the issue at stake seems to be possible serious injuries or even death, the following questions may be asked by all Marin County Parents:

1. Do I condone my children's possession of firearms, illegal fireworks (including cherry bombs), slingshots, and dismiss their misadventures with these things as "kids will be kids"?

2. Have my children ever broken, smashed or vandalized the property of others, or played with matches? Am I sure?

3. Have they ever stolen? Did they pay it back?

4. Have my children thrown rocks? At what? Have I ever had rocks thrown at my car or home? Have the offenders been promptly fenced in my neighborhood? If not, why?

5. Do I tacitly condone abusive, hostile, delinquent behavior on the part of my children by inwardly or outwardly resenting neighbors who protest or dismissing them as cranks, crabs, crackpots, etc?

6. If my children abuse and attack the physical person and dignity of other children, what steps do I take?

7. Do I condone and tolerate hostile, abusive and delinquent behavior in my community for friendship's sake? But expect other communities to organize and do something?

In closing, may I suggest that the Marin City fence come down?

Terra Linda Road Link Needed Now

After reading the bleatings of P. R. Ryason in recent editions, I can no longer refrain from speaking out. Mr. Ryason's belittling of a roadway from Terra Linda over the hill via Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow and Butterfield Road sounds like so much whistling in the dark. In stating that the existing roads are not adequate to hold the expected volume of traffic, Mr. Ryason rather underlines the magnitude of the need. This need to cut the travel time from Fairfax and points in San Anselmo to northbound U. S. 101 by some 20 or so minutes certainly exists. A logical solution exists. Why do we wait?

When the public convenience and necessity of the majority demands a course of action, who are the minority to obstruct it? Eminent domain of its very essence demands that occasionally the rights of some few be subjected to the greater needs of the community. . . .

To further devastate his argument that there should be no such route, as existing roads are inadequate; every day poor roads are revised and realigned to perform a sorely needed service. As to the cost, I believe Mr. Ryason is considering a high-speed, multi-lane highway, whereas, two-lane, residential-type road is required now. Our elected officials, imposed upon by special interest groups, have been pussy footing around this matter for too many long years. The need exists now.

As to the argument that the people of Fawn Drive and vicinity bought the land in good faith with an eye to eternal quietude and pastoral restiveness, I say that anyone buying anywhere always does so with the best possible insight that what he buys will retain its character; but the knowledgeable recognize that it is always a calculated risk . . .

Who do these little individuals think they are to feel that their "omnipotence" should stand in the way of the community?

Reason For Fence And Its Result

Upon seeing the article on the fences around Marin City, I wish to add my point of view to the controversy. During the time I have been driving I had times when I have gone out of my way to avoid the Marin City overpass and turn-off, for obvious reasons: people would throw rocks at you for no reason at all. I have had my Corvettes and GTO's, etc., damaged because Negro youths have stood defiantly on the sidewalks around that area before the fences were put up, and pelt your car as you drive by. Since the fence has been up, I have not been bothered or has anyone I know.

If they don't want to be "caged" like animals, they should not act like animals.

Tensions, Contradictions Persist In American Role In Vietnam

SAIGON — Like the symbols on a rigged slot machine, the same signs and symptoms come up here time after time — American lives, American dollars, and, yes, American dedication. For the long future the answer seems as baffling as ever.

A familiar symptom now recurring is the growing tension between the American press corps and the vast American civilian and military establishment.

THE TENSION today grows out of the conviction that the establishment is deliberately playing down the consequences of the latest communist offensive. One of the most responsible correspondents, Charles Mohr of the New York Times, wrote a dispatch dealing with what he interpreted as an attempt to minimize the shelling of the cities and the enemy ground attacks sharply raising the level of American casualties.

This would perhaps be unimportant — no more than the kind of sniping between press and officialdom in many capitals — if it were not that one of the principal objectives of the latest offensive is at issue. The communist goal, it seems clear, is to convince American opinion that the National Liberation Front and North Vietnam can carry on the war indefinitely. Therefore, at the Paris talks the United States must make major concessions and start to move American forces out of a hopeless war at once.

Anything that serves this purpose, as officialdom here sees it, serves the enemy. Hanoi has been broadcasting a James Reston column, following disclosure of 453 American casualties in a single week, calling for a quick ending of the war. The North Vietnam radio picked up a New Yorker magazine article sternly critical of the American position in both Paris and Saigon.

IN-DEPTH reporting of the political subtleties, the complexities of a highly complex situation, is sometimes sent and never used. From the side of officialdom that is the complaint — the distorted picture the American public gets in terms of simple violence.

This is, in effect, what Americans here from the highest level on down are saying about the present offensive. Checkmated by superior U. S.-South Vietnamese forces and superior firepower on the ground and from the air, the offensive is bound to fail militarily. Hanoi knows this just as Hanoi knows that success can be measured only by the results in American public opinion.

Yet the press corps, or a good share of it, remains skeptical. An American military report from Hue says five rockets were dropped on the city that suffered so heavily in the Tet offensive a year ago. But there were no casualties and no damage, the report says. How can this be if five shells exploded in the city slowly being rebuilt from last year's destruction?

In another incident the official briefer reported only slight damage from a mortar attack on the Ninth Division base. A reporter on the spot claimed he had seen damage or destruction to at least 13 helicopters and had seen two gasoline storage areas set afire. This dispute went back and forth, and the briefer's report was upgraded.

If, in fact, the communist goal is to enlarge the credibility gap both here and back home, they can play the game for quite some time by dropping a few shells in Saigon, Danang or Hue from day to day. But, as Hanoi must also know, this could backfire in a greatly enlarged war that from every indication Hanoi does not want.

Power Struggle In Syria Adds To Mideast Woes

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When the extreme left wing of the Syrian Baathist (socialist) party took over in early 1966, it began immediately to eliminate such "foreign frivolities" as neckties, cigarettes and refrigerators.

It also pursued a "foreign cultural evacuation" which included elimination of French and English classes in the schools.

It banned tourists and foreign newsmen and succeeded eventually in isolating itself not only from its Arab neighbors but from the Syrian people as well.

SYRIAN belligerance played an important part in triggering off the 1967 Arab-Israeli War, from which Syria emerged with the smallest loss of territory, the fewest casualties, and with most of its armor unscratched.

So lightly were the Syrian forces regarded by the Israelis that it was not until the closing hours of the six-day war that the Israelis diverted their attention from Jordan and Egypt to take the Golan Heights, from which they easily could have advanced to Damascus.

It did not, however, reduce the belligerence of Syrian language against Israel and Syria has been among the foremost in declaring that Arab lands taken by force must be regained by force.

The Syrian Baathists broke the so-called moderate Baathists in control in Iraq and have refused to have any part of Gunnar Jarring's United Nations Middle East Peace mission.

IN THE KALEIDOSCOPE of Syria politics, the country has experienced nearly a dozen major upheavals in the last 20 years, making it easily the most unstable of Arab nations. And since the Baathists themselves are split between military and civilian wings and between moderates and extremists, it was no great surprise when in late February travelers from Damascus reported another power struggle in progress.

They are:

Lt. Gen. Hafez alAssad, the defense minister who in late February rejected a demand that he appear before the party's disciplinary committee and instead seized control of the country's internal security.

JADID, and al-Attassi are extreme leftwingers. Jadid especially opposed al-Attassi's demands for full cooperation among Arabs regardless of ideology and especially a reconciliation between the Syrian and Iraqi branches of the party.

Jadid, backed by the Russians, also opposed al-Attassi's encouragement of the Palestine commandos.

These are the issues which were to be carried before the Baath party congress today in Damascus.

If al-Attassi emerges the winner, he will demand a unified command for Syria, Iraq and Jordan to close the breach in the eastern line and he will put new pressure on the Russians for modern Mig-21 fighter bombers to replace his antiquated Mig 17s. He also may be expected to step up Syrian commando attacks on Israel.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By FRANK FARRARA

Some Stories You'd Never See Unless We Printed Them Here

As far as the editor is concerned, the purpose of a "Reporter's Notebook" is to give the reader a few choice items that somehow don't manage to find their way into the regular news columns.

That's all right for starters, but how about a few stories that you can never expect to see in the I-J, such as:

FAIRFAX — The Marin County City Administrators' Association voted 3-2 yesterday to fire the Fairfax City Council.

"Any good city manager can run a city without a city council," said City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen of San Rafael, association president.

SAN RAFAEL — The San Rafael Board of Education today angrily denied rumors it was planning a $2.98 bond election to finance postage stamps.

"That rumor is ridiculus," said Board President Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. "We're not going for a bond vote. We're going for a tax increase."

COURTHOUSE — Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos admitted today that he issued a special deputy card to himself.

"After all, if those other fellows have them, why can't I?" the sheriff said.

WOODACRE — The San Geronimo Valley Association urged the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council to establish a target area board in the valley.

"We have poor just like everyone else, and if the government is going to hand out money, we should get our share," said Stanley R. Frederick, association president.

COURTHOUSE — Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, today turned down an offer to use the old courthouse building as an annex to the county schools office.

"Frankly, I was looking for something a little larger," Hollis said.

WEST MARIN — The West Marin Chamber of Commerce today voted unanimously for lower housing density to preserve the rural atmosphere and natural beauty of the coastal area.

"We don't want West Marin to become a crowded mess like East Marin," said a chamber spokesman. "We might even vote Tom Storer back in."

CIVIC CENTER — County Administrator Alan Bruce asked for $25,000 to hire former Supervisor William D. Fusselman as a consultant on economy in government.

"I don't know of anyone who knows more about county government than old Bill," said Bruce.

No Time For Human Decisions; Elect A Computer For President

WASHINGTON — One of the subconscious fears people have about any nuclear missile system is that because the time element is so short, the decision to launch a missile soon will have to be left up to computers.

Therefore, the question of the future is not which may you want to have his finger on the button, but which computer.

We all have read stories of computers that have sent one person five million Reader's Digests, or who have paid a janitor $1 million for a week's work; and anyone who has a charge account knows how stupid and inconsiderate a computer can be. So it's no wonder that the American people have anxieties about a computer deciding whether we're going to get into a nuclear war.

IT SEEMS ONLY fitting that the American public should elect the computer that will make the most important decision for mankind.

At the moment we have many fine computers to choose from. There's IBM, of course, there's Univac, Honeywell, Data Control, RCA and General Electric, just to mention a few.

These computers could easily be put on the ballot in 1972, and instead of a President, we would choose one of them to lead the country for the next four years.

WE STILL would have a political campaign, with the computers vying for votes amongst the electorate. Each computer would have a platform so the people knew where it stood.

And Style still would play an enormous part, as it has with human candidates. A good-looking compupter with appeal to women probably would have a better chance of getting elected than an older computer that knows more but just doesn't have the charisma.

The computers would be subject to questioning by the press to see how they behave under stress. They also would appear on television to discuss how they would handle a missile crisis. '(This could either be by recorded voice or teleprinter.)

The computers would have to let the American public know whether they're programmed for a tough posture with the Soviets, or whether they have left room in their calculations for accommodation.

AFTER WEIGHING all the pros and cons of the computers, the American people would then go to the polls and decide which computer was up to fulfilling the awesome responsibility of deciding the fate of the world.

There are those who might miss the excitement and glamor that come with having a human being as President of the United States. But in these perilous times, a human being is just not up to the responsibility.

A computer can work 24 hours a day, seven days a week. It isn't subject to political pressures. It can make decisions in seconds, and it isn't going to fly every weekend to Key Biscayne.

Also, the beauty of having a computer for a President is that we no longer would have to worry about human error. It's true we still would have to worry about a computer erring, but on the other hand, if the computer erred, we wouldn't have to worry about it very long.

Some Heat, No Light Over Larkspur Lamp

A councilman's request to consider putting one new streetlight on one existing utility pole on a dark Larkspur street sparked a testy exchange at last night's city council meeting.

The council would up telling Marin County to take care of its own side of the street.

The exchange came as a result of the request by Councilman William G. Fleckles that the city consider putting a light on Via Hermosa near Eliseo Drive. The pole in question was on Larkspur's boundary with the Marin County across from the Greenbrae School.

Fleckles's request of city manager Kent B. Bathurst, made by phone last Sunday night, led to what the other four members of the council considered a full-fledged survey of lighting needs in the city.

Mayor Alfred Malvino started off the discussion by saying he thought all such surveys, unless they constituted a "real emergency," should be cleared through the mayor.

After the three other councilmen agreed with Malvino, Fleckles said he had only asked for consideration of "one light on one pole. . .any insinuations notwithstanding."

He said the area near the school was dark and dangerous and should be lighted, adding: "Somebody owes me some kind of, not an apology, but a reassessment of the idea that I'd be naive enough to ask the staff to go out and make a full-fledged survey without the approval of the rest of the council.

"I want it understood I did not ask for it . . . I don't think it was needed."

The subject flared again when councilman Neil R. Brixon said he had just driven past the spot and it was not dark. "The problem is not driving by with car lights, but walking," Fleckles snapped.

Bathurst told the council that Fleckles did not request a survey, but that he considered the 260-word report offered the council necessary to assessing the situation.

The council ended up taking no action on Fleckles' proposal, saying that since most of the pedestrian traffic on the street came from the school on the county's side of the road, Fleckles' should tell any citizen who complains to him to complain to the county instead.

The Larkspur City Council also:

LIBRARY — Met with the Larkspur Library Board to discuss whether a new library should be constructed. The two panels agreed that a committee should be named to explore possible sites for a library, future library needs, and the possibility of building a joint city hall and library.

FOURTH — Deferred action on a request by the Larkspur and Corte Madera Fourth of July Committee to shoot off fireworks in Piper Park pending investigation of the city's insurance liabilities.

BUDGET — Reviewed Bathurst's recommendations for how the 1969-70 city budget should be put together for bookeeping purposes.

EMPLOYEES — Gave final approval to an ordinance to include library employees in the state retirement system.

Labor Councils Back Oil Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three San Francisco area AFL-CIO labor councils pledged backing yesterday for a boycott against Standard Oil Co. of California products.

The boycott was urged by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, on strike at Standard's Chevron chemical plant in Richmond.

The boycott protests company rejection of a contract demand for retaining a union shop clause requiring that new employes join the union.

Standard spokesmen said they oppose the clause because it amounts to compulsory unionism.

The boycott support was pledged by three labor council secretaries — George Johns of San Francisco, Richard Groulz of Alameda County and Art Carter of Contra Costa County.

Hairdresser Seeks Rehiring

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard F. Read has complained to the state Division of Human Rights that the loss of his job as a beauty parlor hairdresser was a case of sex discrimination.

In a petition filed yesterday by his lawyer, Read said he was fired when the salon was purchased by a woman who told him she did not hire males to dress hair.

Discrimination in employment because of sex is contrary to law.

Party Set To Back State College Strike

The Marin Strike Support Committee will sponsor a party at the home of Sid Rubin of 528 Silverado Drive, Tiburon, March 29 at 8 p.m. to raise funds for the San Francisco State Legal Defense Committee.

Leaders of the San Francisco Strike and members of the American Federation of Teachers will be on hand to discuss strike status, prospects for settlement and upcoming trials.

She Paints 'Em With Old World Charm

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Easter is less than three weeks away, and Mrs. Earle Gildersleeve of Novato shared her talents in decorating eggs using bees wax with the paint and putter group of the Novato Newcomers Club.

The art has been handed down to Anne Gildersleeve from her grandmother and mother. Anne has been decorating eggs since she was 8 years old.

ANNE'S FAMILY is Polish, but the Polish people probably got the art from the Ukrainians, who call this type of egg decorating "Pysanky," Anne said.

The Europeans used a stylus (a pointed instrument) for waxing the eggs, but a good substitute is a straight pin stuck in a wooden match.

The eggs should be hard boiled, slowly, adding a little vinegar, to alkalize the egg shells. The eggs should be neither too warm nor too cold when beginning the decorating. They should be at room termperature, and they can be rolled in the hand a bit before starting the decorating. If the egg is too cold, the wax will shrivel, if too hot it will not adhere.

Anne stressed the fact that only bees wax should be used. Parafin will not work. The wax should be heated to a point where it does not smoke, but smells waxy and yet will cling to the head of the pin. Ideal containers for the wax are jar lids with the outside covered with foil.

FOR A WHITE design, the bees wax is applied to the egg in any original pattern, holding the match in the hand and dripping the head of the pin in the hot wax, then applying it to the egg in a downward stroke. The egg is then dipped in the cold dye and for multi-colored eggs, the lightest dyes should be applied first, remembering not to make too much of a design the first time, as there will be no area left for other colors. Following the various applications of waxes and dyes, the egg is held over a burner on the stove and when the wax is heated, wiped off with a cloth.

When the egg is completely finished, a small amount of butter may be placed in the hand and the egg rolled in the hand for a high sheen.

Anne says there is a new "fizzy" cold water tablet dye that is excellent for coloring the eggs, but she uses two tablets rather than one for a deeper color, leaving the egg in the dye for at least an hour.

However, Anne's mother had sent her a brilliant purple dye for the day of the demonstration, and the dye took within a few minutes.

Anne also related that her mother said years ago bees wax was plentiful in Europe but dye was not, so women saved onion skins for several weeks before Easter. They soaked the skins in water for a few hours before waxing the eggs, producing a nice golden brown colored egg. Men, using small pen knives, scraped the colored eggs with various scenes of trees and houses, but this is now a lost art, Anne said.

SEVERAL OF the women at the demonstration asked about the keeping quality of an egg that is hard boiled. Anne told them the egg finally disintegrates inside the shell if the shell is not broken. She had several colored eggs on display that she decorated a year ago. Some eggs have been kept as long as a hundred years, she said.

"There's going to be a lot of egg salad tonight," one woman remarked as some of the eggs were cracked or dropped during the decorating.

There were several innovations in decorating too. One member used a small paint brush to apply the wax, and several members were making broader strokes using feathers.

Many of the women were adept at the art, but there was also much laughter in the room as women joked about their mistakes.

Following the demonstration, Anne said, "Oh, if only my mother could have been here." Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Roberts live in Queens, N.Y.

ANNE CAME to California five years ago, and she has two children, Lenore 11 and Richard 8. She says they also "fool around" decorating the eggs, but most of their patterns turn out psychedelic.

Tall and dark eyed, the former model has many other interests, and she's proud of her bowling average of 171. She also knits, crochets, makes Swedish embroidery and golfs.

EASTER EGGS of various colors and beautiful designs, decorated in the Ukrainian style called Pysanky are displayed by Mrs. Earle Gildersleeve of Novato at the paint and putter group meeting of the Novato Newcomer's Club. Some of the eggs in this basket were decorated with bees wax and dyes last year by Anne, who learned the art from her mother. Anne has been decorating eggs for easter in this style since she was 8 years old.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stasiowski of Fairfax have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lynn Marie, to Dan Busch of San Anselmo.

Lynn is the sister of Lloyd Stasiowski of Fairfax and the granddaughter of Mrs. Marie DeMatei of San Rafael. A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, she attended College of Marin and is employed with Sleezer and Eckhoff in San Rafael.

Dan is the son of Mrs. Irene L. Busch of San Anselmo. He is the brother of Bradley Busch and the grandson of Mrs. George W. Linch, also of San Anselmo.

He is a Drake High School graduate, attended College of Marin and is a student at Sonoma State College. Dan is employed with Lucky market in Fairfax.

WOMAN HISTORY-MAKERS

Crusader For The Voiceless

American women have made their own challenge in their own way in American society. Some of these achievers, challengers and characters are subjects of this series on "woman history."

By BARBARA HOSMER

Controversy over the care in California's state mental hospitals brings to mind the name of America's greatest crusader for humane treatment of the insane, the ill and the imprisoned — Dorothea Lynde Dix.

She exposed conditions that shocked America, making herself a one-woman lobby in behalf of those unable to speak for themselves.

It was by chance that she had happened to replace the usual Sunday school teacher at the East Cambridge, Mass., jail and found the women's quarters there icy cold. She called for a stove immediately and was told that stoves weren't for crazy people, who in the 1840's were often shut away in prisons.

WHEN THE WARDEN asked her to get in and fix the place herself she did. Thus, at nearly 40, Dorothea Dix began a strong-willed crusade that created a nearly unmatchable record for public good.

She had given up teaching when tuberculosis ended her activity. Recovered finally and living on her savings and book royalties, she sought new goals. They were ready made, she found, with her chance visit to the jail.

She put her own childhood and health miseries behind and took up the cause of the mentally ill, who were usually clapped into dark confinement away from public view and conscience. Generally they were treated like beasts, and their behavior grew worse.

Dorothea Dix collared two important persons, future senator Charles Sumner and Samuel Gridley Howe, who took up the cause in the press and the courts. The stove and separate treatment for the mental cases from the other women prisoners were obtained. But that was only one jail.

She set off on an inspection tour that would eventually take her some 18 months through the state of Massachusetts, visiting every almshouse, jail and asylum. She found the insane in cages, cellars and outhouses, living naked, cold and starving in filthy conditions.

She petitioned the state legislature and spoke, citing facts and names. At last the legislature passed her bill to enlarge the Worcester Asylum, a modest start.

AGAIN SHE went, this time to Rhode Island, then New Jersey. Three years of visiting personally each place and studying pertinent information gave her the ammunition she sought. In Rhode Island she persuaded the richest man to donate $50,000 toward enlarging the Providence Asylum. In New Jersey she fought the battle to obtain public funds to set up a model asylum.

On she traveled through the nation, finding the same abominable conditions of suffering and lack of care. Limbs were frozen off in the bitter winter months for lack of any heat, iron collars on patients' necks were chained to floor or walls. . . the brutal list seemed endless.

THROUGH DECADES of tireless exposure of these conditions, Dorothea Dix brought a public understanding of mental illness and pushed to create 32 new hospitals for treatment of the mentally ill in 16 states. She surveyed needs and cajoled the legislators to action.

It wasn't enough. In her travels of some 60,000 miles she had found that not a third of those needing care were in asylums at all. Public lands were being given out liberally, why not set aside some for the downcast, she reasoned. She spent six years in Washington while the Congress was meeting, keeping office hours in a cubbyhole given her in the Capitol so that the Congressmen could consult her. She was persistent, a single-person lobby for those unable to speak for themselves.

At last both houses of Congress passed her bill, but the victory was short. President Pierce vetoed its authorization for public funds for social purposes, leaving it up to each state to care for its dependents.

REELING FROM this blow and in ill health from malaria contracted on her travels, Dorothea sailed for England. But her rest there became an inspection tour of 11 European countries' hospitals and prisons. Scotland was a particular target. She raced back to London on the night train, buttonholed top government officials, and shortly afterward Parliament appointed a commission with ap-

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

Recently at the dinner table my mother told me that improper chewing of my food was causing my skin trouble. When I asked her why this was so, she said, "Indigestion."

Seeing no reason for this, I asked her where she got the information, and she said, "From my doctor." I asked, "when?" And she said, "when I was having acne." (Which was about 25 years ago.)

When I mentioned that times have changed and doctors have learned a lot more about skin problems since the '40s, she blew up! She called me an impudent young fool and threatened me with the broom if I questioned her authority again.

Helen, have I been to school for the past 11 years and learned to ask questions only to have my mother beat my inquisitiveness out of me with her broom? — MISUNDERSTOOD GUY

DEAR GUY:

You may have lost the skirmish, but Ill bet you won your point. If your mother is like most of us second-thoughters, she'll learn from this encounter that you've outgrown the "It's right because I said so" stage; and discussion isn't impudence.

NOTE TO YOUR MOTHER: A parent doesn't lose face when she admits she might be wrong — only when she insists she is always right. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Please don't think this is the usual "he doesn't love me any more" letter.

Bob has been my best friend all through grammar and high school. I've always thought of him like a brother. He would do anything for me, and I feel the same fondness for him.

We go around together quite a bit because many of the guys I know are too busy with their studies to date. I guess you'd say we're going steadily, though that phrase sounds so immature.

Well, a very good friend of mine, Lynn, has started chasing Bob, and he is a big flirt so he has fallen for it. She really doesn't like him — she's just killing time while her boy friend is away at college.

Bob still goes with me, is over at my house much of the time, never asks Lynn out, yet I know he likes her. Should I throw him at her, or should I tell him the truth, that she is just practicing on him?

I need Bob's friendship more than anything, and I'm afraid that if Lynn hurts him, he'll blame me for not warning him, but if I do tell him the truth, he'll think I'm a jealous tattletale, and maybe he won't believe me anyway. What should I do? — ANNE

DEAR ANNE:

Why don't you let Bob make his own decisions? I'd guess he already has, and the girl he likes best is you. — H.

P. S. You could cure him of that big-brother complex with a little bit of unsisterly flirting. Try it! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I understand your sympathy for "Scared to Death" whose pregnancy resulted from rape. But your suggestion for a "legal" abortion is murder! If society gets accumtomed to this terrible act, we'll be killing children and old people next, just because they aren't quite healthy. The person who takes the life of an unborn child is worse than he who forced its existence. Better the girl should suffer a little for seven months than commit murder and suffer guilt the rest of her life. — A.E.R.

DEAR A:

My arguments won't change your thinking any more than yours will change mine. But have you considered that if medical authorities termed an early foetus a child it would be given a death certificate and proper burial? Unless the baby is aborted after the sixth month, there is no furneral.

I say a fertilized egg is potential life — but then so is an unfertilized egg. — H.

PERSONAL TO "SCARED STIFF": If you have no reason to be, you aren't. A telephone call to your family doctor would reassure you — and he won't think you're silly! — H.

Angel Island Excursion For Yacht Club's Women

By MOLLY MARIN

A number of members of the Women's Auxiliary of the San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere, chose the opportunity to tour Angel Island over bridge, dominoes or small boat sailing yesterday.

Hostesses who had invited guests for the excursion included Mmes. Patrick Kirrane, Samuel Mann, George Fritz, W. J. Edinger Jr., Victor Kagan and Benton Mathews. Another group of friends who donned slacks and boating shoes for the informal Ladies' Day were Mmes. Gary Gast, John R. Moore, Robert Barth and Basil Knauth.

THE JEFFERSON Graves Jr. of Ross are entertaining Messrs. and Mmes. Albert Oberman, Robert C. Wilson and Peter Deetken and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Grechman following the wine tasting and fashion show at the Humane Society of Marin in Ignacio sponsored by the Animal Aides of Marin Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Begley of the Marin Country Club Estates have invited Dr. and Mrs. John A. Carollo Jr. of Sebastopol to be dinner guests at their home following the wine tasting party.

MRS. CURRY N. Vaughan and her two daughters, Virginia Grace and Julie Ann, are now staying at the home of Mrs. Vaughan's father, Col. (ret.) Pat Stevens III, at the Marin Country Club Estates in Novato.

THE MARIN General Hospital Founders Auxiliary members planning to attend the group's day at the races Monday at Golden Gate Fields are Mmes. Howard Burns, Arne Kionig and John O'Connell of Kentfield; Robert McKendry and W. Raymond Vizzard of Ross; Myron Christy of Greenbrae, and Richard Mayer of San Rafael.

The Mill Valley group planning to attend includes Mmes. Vincent White, Eugene McGeorge, George Marsh, William Pemberton, Fred Drexler, Peter Behr, Rodney Hartman, Henry Heilbron, Harrison Leppo, Robert Schultz and John Finn III.

Attending the ceremony and a reception which followed at the Montes' home were the godparents, Mrs. Charles F. Keebaugh of Novato and Bruce Liebrock of San Rafael; the maternal great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cogdell of Berkeley; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gai Fleming of Berkeley; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Alice Monte of San Anselmo; Charles F. Keebaugh and Mmes. Bruce Liebrock and Sandra McCarthy.

The ball is sponsored by the Department of Travel Industry of the Government of the Province of British Columbia in conjuction with British Columbia Week.

In Rome she inspected the Vatican asylum and reported conditions to Pope Pius IX. After a personal visit he vowed to build a model asylum.

PRISONS WERE another target, and back in the U.S. she stirred up public opinion and wrote a prison manual setting down decent standards for regeneration of prisoners. Again she personally started wide reforms.

Often she called upon the wealthy to channel their charities to improve conditions for the unfortunate. Libraries were a particular pet of Miss Dix and she opened many, including those for prisoners' use. As therapy for the mentally ill she set up workshops, a concept that is spreading even today.

Soon the country was plunged into the Civil War and Dorothea Dix, who had seen neglect of wounded soldiers during the Crimean war when she was abroad, rushed to help the Union army avoid the health blunders of the British. Joined by Clara Barton and Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, Dorothea Dix rallied women to aid in army hospitals.

She was named Superintendent of Army Nurses to oversee care given by hospital nursing staffs, the first woman public appointee. She fought the foul conditions on every side and made enemies of those who resented her corps of "petticoats" who insisted on sanitary surroundings and real nursing care for the men.

WEAK AND ILL through most of her life, Dorothea Dix persisted in her mission into her eighties and lived to see her one-woman crusade joined by a generation of of other women who made public welfare their concern, and finally, the concern of a nation.

IT'S STRICTLY FOR FUN. YOU CAN WIN!

Here's all you do:

Fill out the entry blank shown (or use a postal card facsimile) to guess the year, month, day, hour, minute and second that the first American Astronaut steps on to the surface of the moon.

Why the contest?

The contest, co-sponsored by the Independent-Journal and Today, the newspaper of Cape Kennedy, is offered as a novel guessing game for our readers — and as a means of recognizing the nation's space program. It's fun, it's out of this world!

SOME TIPS TO AID YOU ON YOUR GUESS

The Space Agency (NASA) has provided for readers the most likely times for the first landing attempt. These "windows" are the days when the Apollo spacecraft can reach pre-selected sites on the moon. The best "window" days include: April 18-24; June 16-22; July 15-22 and August 14-21. While most space experts talk of a June, 1969 landing, some predict it could come as early as April. Others believe it will not come until August. Watch for further news from NASA on the moon landing. And keep the above dates in mind in making your best guess. Happy landing!

RULES

1. ANY MAN, woman or child in the U.S. is eligible to enter except employees of the Independent-Journal and Today, the newspaper of Cape Kennedy and families.)
2. DEADLINE for entries is May 1, 1969. Entries must contain year, month, day, hour, minute and second to be eligible. Official time will be that registered by NASA as the time the first astronaut steps onto the surface of the moon. If astronauts do not leave the lunar module, the time will be the instant the module landed on moon's surface.
3. THE WINNING ENTRY will be that with the exact EASTERN STANDARD TIME or closest to it. Do not worry about difference in the time zones. The time you send in will be judged on the assumption it is Eastern Standard Time.
4. ENTRIES must be mailed to: MOON CONTEST, INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL, P.O. BOX 330, San Rafael, Calif. 94902. Use entry blank herewith or facsimile.
5. FIRST PRIZE: Two-week all-expense paid vacation for two anywhere on earth winner selects. Trip must be completed within one year from date of notification. Second prize: 2-week all-expense paid vacation for two to Cocoa Beach at Cape Kennedy to view future space shot. Third prize: $100 cash. Decision of the judges final.

MUSIC REVIEW

Program, Maestro Blend Perfectly At Opera House

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Program and maestro were well matched last night at the San Francisco Opera House when the noted German guest conductor Hans Schmidt-Isserstedt directed the San Francisco Symphony in a fine perforance of music in the Germanic tradition of Brahms, Beethoven and Richard Strauss.

Schmidt-Isserstedt's smooth, disciplined style was well suited to the classical structure of the Beethoven overture to "Egmont" that opened the concert and Brahms' Symphony No. 4 that closed it. Yet he had plenty of dynamic vitality and fire to do full justice to the romantic spirit of these works and the "Don Quixote" tone poem of Strauss. He conducted all but the Strauss work without score.

The "Egmont" overture expressed Beethoven's dramatic power — "Don Quixote" was the most exciting and colorful work of the evening — but the Brahms was the major musical edifice, full of grandeur and the kind of Brahms virtuoso music that depends on creative inspiration and expressiveness rather mere technical display.

It was interesting that resources of the variation form were illustrated in both the Strauss tone poem and the finale of the Brahms.

Program music par excellence, "Don Quixote" frankly personifies the leading characters of the famous Cervantes masterwork in musical instruments and of these were well done for the most part.

The cello starring in the role of the deluded knight "Don Quixote" offered principal cellist Robert Sayre a true solo part, which he performed with distinction when the cello was playing alone or with very little orchestral accompaniment. Unfortunately, he frequently could not be heard in tutti parts, and it seemed that he lacked the power to stand out rather than that the orchestra was insufficiently controlled.

His tonal quality however, was exquisite, particularly in the beautiful theme that represents Dulcinea, Don Quixote's idealized lady fair, and in the noble and pathetic lyricism of the Don's death in the finale that is one of the permanent musical treasures written by Strauss.

On the other hand, principal violist Rolf Persinger was always commanding in playing some of the motifs assigned to the Don's bumptious squire Sancho Panza. The others were well handled by the bass clarinet and tenor tuba. Though the viola part is not as important as that of the cello, I thought Persinger played it with such consummate skill and expression that his name should have been featured on the program as well as Sayre's, and that is not just chauvinsim because Persinger lives in Marin.

The string sections were exceptionally good in the Brahms and Schmidt-Isserstedt and the whole orchestra gave a brilliant performance of the famous chaconne or passacaglia consisting of 34 variations of an eight-bar subject.

Shakespeare, 'Oz' Booked At Tam High

The New Shakespeare Company of San Francisco, an interracial repertory theater, will perform "Romeo and Juliet" and the "Wizard of Oz" tomorrow through Sunday at the Tamalpais High School auditorium.

"Romeo and Juliet," featuring Lynne Lambert of Novato and James Iglehart of Oakland, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

"Wizard of Oz" will be performed at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The group, a nonprofit corporation with headquarters at the Trinity Episcopal Church in San Francisco, performs for the general public in its own theater and is developing a special program to perform in Bay Area schools. Last weekend, the group appeared at Marin Country Day School, Corte Madera.

The company was formed by Margrit Roma and Clarence Ricklefs.

Full Welfare Checks For Two Families

SAN JOSE (AP) — Two fathers working at full-time jobs are entitled to the difference between what they earn and what their families would receive in walfare payments if they didn't work, says U.S. District Judge Robert F. Peckham.

Francisco Tarin, father of 12, earns $306 a month as a mushroom farm worker. Without a job, Tarin and his family would receive a $424 monthly welfare check.

Juan Macias, father of 10, earns $90 a week as a security guard.

Peckham issued a temporary order yesterday in their suit challenging state and county rules that drop families from welfare rolls if the fathers work fulltime.

The suit charged unconstitutional discrimination against the 22 children in the two families.

The children were denied welfare and medical aid solely because their fathers worked a full-time jobs trying to support their families, contened California Rural Legal Assistance attorneys.

Peckham directed the families be paid until the constitutional issue is heard by a three-judge federal court.

Jail Ordered On Marijuana Sale

Brent Biehl, of no fixed address, was sentenced by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court Tuesday to 90 days in the county jail with a stay of execution for 30 days of the time.

Biehl pleaded guilty to a charge of selling marijuana in December. A second count against him was dismissed.

Judge Haley also placed him on one year probation.

Housing For Elders Asked For Kentfield

A proposal to construct a 56-unit, low-cost senior citizen housing project at Kentfield Corners has been made to the Marin County Housing Authority.

Balboa Enterprises Inc. and Western States Turnkey Corp. have proposed to build the units on a 1.6 acres southwest of College Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, behind the businesses fronting on the boulevard, Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, reported to the authority board last night.

Stutsman said there might be another proposal for construction of senior citizens housing in the Kentfield area, near Marin General Hospital.

He said he would analyze the Kentfield Corners proposal, and make his recommendation at the board's April 1 meeting.

Directors also voted to grant the Marin City Community Services District $25,000 in the next six months and, if they have funds available, up to $25,000 more for the period ending July 1, 1970.

Directors warned that this would be the last time the authority could go to the financial aid of the district.

The district's financial plight was evident in its tentative 1969-70 budget, reviewed by the board, which showed expenditures of $60,000 and income of $14,098.

Stutsman pointed out that in the past 15 months the authority has granted the district $47,000 for its operation.

Chairman Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. described the district's proposed budget as minimal and said justification for authority support was overwhelming.

The district operates the Manzanita Center, which serves as a community center, and without money from the authority, the center wouldn't have funds to operate.

"It would be crucial if the center closed down," said Director James O. Quiett. "All the kids playing basketball now would be out in the street."

Directors are scheduled to have a joint session with the district board at 8 p.m. next Thursday to discuss finding other sources of funds.

Director Vera L. Schultz felt the board was acting hastily and should have waited until its joint meeting.

She said there should be study given to what would happen if the authority didn't have the second $25,000 to grant.

Whether the authority has the money depends upon construction of an access road from Guy Circle to Tennessee Valley Road, explained Stutsman.

Housing Authority directors also:

TELEVISION — Heard a report from Melvin Randolph, Marin City housing manager, that the television antenna service to public housing could be improved at a cost of $200, and agreed that the system operator, Earle Stanton of San Francisco, should bear the cost.

SENIOR HOUSING — Received notice from Stutsman that the Homestead Valley senior housing project will be dedicated either April 17 or 24.

Gnoss Field Given Gasoline Money

Gnoss Field has been allocated $2,500 in aviation gasoline tax funds, according to a report from the State Department of Aeronautics.

Sonoma County Airport and Healdsburg Municipal Airport received a like amount, the report said.

Housing Lack Spurs Urging For Plans

Marin County Redevelopment Agency directors, seeing a critical need for housing in Marin, began to think last night of spurring new redevelopment projects.

"I think the county faces a crisis in housing," Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, told the agency board.

There isn't adequate housing for low and moderate income families, "and the most likely way to proceed is redevelopment," Stutsman contended.

Director Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. suggested that the agency develop a comprehensive plan for housing. He said the authority's leased housing and senior citizen housing programs are proceeding favorably.

Director Richard S. Harding said the leased housing program "is not scratching the surface" of the real need, and the authority needs to move "on all fronts."

Harding said that even moderate and high income families can't find housing, let alone low income families.

Directors agreed that housing needs should be discussed with supervisors.

Directors also voted to support the Marin City Council's application for a $50,000 federal planning grant, which requires Marin County to match it with $25,000 in cash or services.

During the discussion Ehrlich praised County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, noting that Zucker's support was instrumental in gaining approval of the senior citizen housing project in Homestead Valley.

Zucker's name came up when directors wondered whether the county would provide Zucker's planning services as its matching contribution to the federal planning grant.

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency also:

DEVELOPMENT — Received notice that the Development Corp. of Marin City wasn't prepared to present its plan for a one-acre neighborhood shopping center at the entrance to Marin City, as scheduled.

BUDGET — Requested the Department of Housing and Urban Development to increase its budget through 1970 by $429,024 to $3,659,726. Stutsman noted that the proposed increase included $105,552 for improvements such as a neighborhood park near Manzanita Center, and the agency's share of the cost of a new Marin City access road.

Sugar accounts for more than 95 per cent of the annual exports of Mauritius, an island in the Indian Ocean some 1,200 miles east of Africa.

Three-Way Unification Faces Unanimous Critics

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night ran into unanimous opposition to its three-district Tamalpais unification plan.

The committee heard the plan — which would include Bolinas-Stinson School District in a unified district otherwise composed of the Drake High School attendance area — attacked for a variety of reasons.

The proposal was called uneconomical, harmful to education, burdening the poorest part of the existing Tamalpais High School District with the greatest tax load and based on false premises.

Attachment of the Bolinas-Stinson District, far away on Marin's southwest coast, to bring up the assessed valuation was lambasted repeatedly. Several speakers impugned the motives of the committee, pointing out it has five members from the Redwood High School attendance area and only one — recently appointed — from the Drake area.

Failure of the committee to guarantee a "one-man, one-vote" plan for a single election throughout the proposed three districts was also attacked repeatedly.

Among the throng that packed the Drake High School little theater in San Anselmo for the first public hearing on the plan, not one spoke a word in its favor.

A second hearing will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at Redwood High School, concerned primarily with the proposed new district which would include that school's attendance area.

W. Michael Scott, a Lagunitas School District trustee, led off last night's attack by reporting his board unanimously opposes the way the unification plan is being presented, the increased crowding that addition of Bolinas-Stinson students would cause at Drake High, unfair imposition of tax burden on residents of the area least able to pay, and the committee's alleged failure to study adequately nine other possible unification plans for the Tam District area.

That set the tenor for the attacks, and applause was accorded Scott and each speaker thereafter.

Perhaps the high point of the show of opposition, however, did not result from an attack on the plan at all. It came when Clarence B. Larison, superintendent of Bolinas-Stinson School District, took the microphone about 9:30 p.m. to announce that 23 Bolinas-Stinson school children attending the hearing should leave to start their one and one-half hour ride home — the same long ride they would have to make twice a day if they attended Drake High.

Doris Harnsberger, a former San Anselmo School District trustee, was given a standing ovation after a presentation which included graphs to show that attendance and assessed valuation projections used in making the proposed new district fit state requirements were unrealistic.

And Edward Z. Lewis, Bolinas-Stinson School District trustee, got cheers along with applause for his presentation, which dwelt on the effect on Bolinas-Stinson students. He pointed out they would have to ride through territory of the new Shoreline Unified School District to get to and from high school if Bolinas and Stinson Beach were attached to a Drake district.

Statements or resolutions opposing the plan were presented by Isabel Cook Parent-Teacher Association (San Anselmo), Fairfax School District, Drake High School student representative assembly, Fairfax City Council, Drake High School P-TA, San Anselmo School District, Tamalpais High School District, San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, San Anselmo City Council, Wade Thomas School Parents Club (San Anselmo), Brookside P-TA (San Anselmo), Redhill Parents Club (San Anselmo), Manor Hill Homeowners Association (Fairfax), Hidden Valley Parents Club (Sleepy Hollow), Deer Park P-TA (Fairfax), Tamalpais District Teachers Association, White Hill P-TA (Fairfax), and even a representative of the Redwood High School student executive council.

Several Drake High students also spoke, along with a spate of school board candidates from various districts.

The three-district unification plan is the committee's latest attempt to achieve unification of elementary and high school districts in the Tamalpais High School District area.

Kidnaping Case Nearing Jury Debate

The case of Jerry Stanley Borst, 22, of Novato, accused of kidnaping, raping and robbing a Novato housewife, was scheduled to go to the jury today in Marin Superior Court.

Borst took the stand yesterday to say that he had not abducted the 28-year-old woman at knife point as she testified, but rather that he had met her in a Novato shopping center parking lot for a tryst.

He claimed that he had made dates with the woman before and that the parking lot was their customary meeting place.

She earlier described how her two small children were threatened by Borst, who, she said, was carrying a 12-inch knife, and told how she was forced to drive out on Lucas Valley Road, where he raped and robber her.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas today called Borst "Marin's answer to Lothario" and asked conviction on all three counts.

Hamilton Airman, 21, Stabbed

A 21-year-old Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant was stabbed in the back today while riding in a car near Black Point with five beer-drinking friends, according to sheriff's deputies.

Treated at the base hospital for a minor wound was John M. Griffis.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon was Leonard Fay Thurman, 26, also of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Companions of the two men told deputies that they were driving in a car on Harbor Drive about 12:05 a.m. when Thurman asked Griffis for more beer. When Griffis replied that there was no more, Thurman stabbed him with a four-inch pocket knife, according to the witnesses.

Other occupants of the car were Donald Threadgill, 20, Laura Morlan, 18; Charles A. Kaiser, 21, and Chris F. Morlan, 35, all of Hamilton, and Deirdre McCarthy, 18, of 2 Country Land, Novato.

Suspects Held In Auto Theft

San Anselmo police booked two men into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of car theft after arresting the pair in the car two blocks from where it was reported stolen.

Arrested were Donald Charles Harlander, 43 of Orinda, owner of Richmond Boat Works, Richmond, and Quentin Tripp Lewton, 24, of 16 Entrata Avenue, San Anselmo, a boat builder who works for Harlander, police reported.

Mrs. Therese Berreyesa, of 124 Prospect Avenue, called police at 1:05 a.m. saying "Someone just took my car and they are going down the hill."

The car was stopped, with Harlander in the driver's seat, at Del Norte and Prospect avenues, police said.

Parents Seek $450,000 For Fire-Scarred Youngster

A $450,000 suit on behalf of a 5-year-old Santa Venetia boy badly burned in a backyard fire on Oct. 23 was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

The suit claims that Scott Spencer, son of Mrs. Mary E. Johnson of 8 Adrian Way, was burned due to the carelessness of the landlords and because the county did not enforce fire ordinances.

The fire started when the child's brother accidentally dropped a match into a large pile of rubbish in which they were playing, according to the suit.

Named as responsible for the rubbish, which included leaves, boards, rags and junk, were Ione L. and Eugene N. Wilson, Dryer-Wilson and Co. and the County of Marin as well as 20 John Does.

The suit claims that the rubbish was "interesting and attractive to children" and that the landlords and county had permitted it to exist for two years.

The child suffered third degree burns over most of his body.

JUDGE SAYS ONLY TREES FOR TRIMMING

Harold Lee Burr, 36, of San Rafael, who specialized in trimming trees and ladies, has been sentenced to two years in Marin County Jail for two counts of bilking women of large sums of money.

Judge Harold B. Haley of Marin Superior Court placed Burr on 10 years probation and gave him consecutive one-year sentences on two counts of grand theft.

Burr, who apparently gambled away his illicit earnings, defrauded the women by gaining their confidence while trimming their trees. One lent him $6,315 and the other, $23,060.

Burr was also ordered to make restitution to the women.

Stereos, Tapes Stolen From Four Vehicles

Auto stereos and a quantity of tapes were taken last night from four cars parked near 88 Vivian Way, San Rafael, police reported. The cars were forcibly entered between 9 and 11 p.m., police said.

Victims were Donald David Vattuone of 9 Blossom Drive, San Rafael, a stereo and nine tapes valued at $163; Ronald J. Brabo of 379 Irwin Street, San Rafael, a stereo and 18 tapes valued at $212.

Philip Alfred Baiocchi of 1561 Creekside Drive, Petaluma, a stereo and 14 tapes, no value listed, and Wayne Onizuka of 37 Woodland Road, Fairfax, a stereo and one tape valued at $125, police said.

Another auto stereo theft was reported at 2:10 a.m. today and it also occurred in east San Rafael, police said.

Gary Ray Benedetti of 55 Corte Alta, Novato, reported his stereo and 35 tapes, valued at $354, were taken from his car while it was parked at 737 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, between 11:30 p.m. yesterday and 2 a.m. today.

Probation Granted In Credit Card Use

James Warren Tamburini, 21, of San Rafael, who had pleaded guilty to attempting to buy a television set and radio with a stolen credit card, has been placed on one year probation by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court.

Tamburini's offense was declared a misdemeanor by the judge, who also gave him a 15-day jail sentence with the execution stayed.

Sewer Board Bristles At Pollution Claims

The San Rafael Sanitation District board last night hit back at the state agency that accused it of dumping raw sewage and storm waters into the bay.

The board asked one of its members, Norris W. Rawles, to draft a letter of reply to Sidney Lippow of the Bay Region Water Quality Control Board.

"His statement was incorrect and inaccurate," said Rawles. "We haven't had to bypass a single time the entire season."

The board also agreed to meet with the San Rafael City Council to discuss updating agreements on jurisdiction and control of sanitation facilities. A date for the meeting has not yet been set.

The board also agreed that sanitation district employees could switch health insurance plans from the California Physician Service to the Kaiser Plan if they wished.

Personal Appearance Leads To Downfall For Escaper

A 21-year-old burglar and car thief who fled fomr Marin Superior Court almost three years ago, was back in jail today because he returned to ask for his belongings.

The sad saga of Arthur V. Bornn began three years ago when he pleaded guilty to burglary and car theft and before sentencing attempted suicide in Marin County Jail.

Then on the day of the sentencing, when he was being taken into the courtroom of Judge Harold J. Haley, he made a break and sprinted out of the courtroom. He was last seen in San Rafael by Attorney Fred C. Robbins Jr., now a San Rafael councilman, who ran after him as he headed toward St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Sheriff's deputies failed to find the man, but Bornn was arrested a short time later in Wyoming on a car theft charge, was convicted and has spent most of the ensuing time in a federal penitentiary.

Yesterday he arrived at Marin County Jail, apparently thinking, according to the chief jailer, Lt. Newall Snyder, that Marin authorities had forgotten about him. Snyder said a woman called first to ask that Bornn's property be returned to him, but the officer said Bornn had to come for it personally.

When Bornn arrived at the jail, Snyder was waiting for him and informed him that an $11,000 warrant was out on him.

Bornn was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today, where he now faces the escape charge as well as sentencing for the earlier crimes.

Panel Seeks 30-Day Delay On Rezoning

The Novato Downtown Study Committee today asked the Novato City Council to postpone for 30 days all rezoning in the downtown area of Novato, according to City Mgr. Charles A. Brown.

In the interval, the committee will set up a public meeting to discuss the feasibility of a moratorium on new major construction and rezoning during the period it will take to make a federally financed downtown study, Brown said.

The city council, Novato Planning Commission, chamber of commerce and downtown study committee would take part in the meeting tentatively set for 8 p.m. April 1 at the Novato Community House.

The City of Novato has had its application for $30,020 for the study approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, but has not recieved the funds. It has been estimated that it will take 15 months after the funds are available to complete the study.

Auto Stripped

Thieves took the rear tail lights, front lights, spare tire and steering wheel from the car belonging to Claire H. Stevens of 36 Castle Rock Drive, Mill Valley, Monday night or Tuesday morning, sheriff's deputies said today.

Corte Maderan, 79, Found Dead

Fred Kellogg Rowe, 79, an executive with American Telephone and Telegraph in New York for 40 years, died at his Corte Madera home yesterday of an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound, the Marin County Coroner's office said today.

Rowe, living in retirement at his home at 22 Mohawk Avenue, was found in the garage by his wife after she returned from a shopping trip, the coroner's office reported. A note left by the deceased referred to despondency over his health.

Rowe, a native of Missouri, had lived in Marin County for the past seven years.

The body was taken to Keaton's Mortuary.

Novato Joins Ecumenical Housing Plan

Novatans for Racial Equality last night became the 21st member to join the growing list of participants in the Ecumenical Association for Housing in Marin.

About 40 delegates of various member organizations met last night at the Civic Center and approved bylaws for incorporation, presented by Edward Thomson of the Southern Marin Action Committee. The nonprofit corporation hopes to buy land and build housing units for low and moderate income families.

Douglas Ferguson of Sausalito Presbyterian Church was elected last night as vice chairman, to assist association chairman Lawrence Livingston Jr.

Next meeting of the group will be at 8 p.m. on April 23 at the Civic Center.

Bolinas To Seek Federal Funds On Sewage Project

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board last night authorized Kennedy Engineers to apply for a federal grant of $167,000 toward the cost of a proposed Bolinas-Stinson Beach sewage system.

Federal money is available for up to a third of the cost of sewage greatment plants, interceptor lines and outfall lines. Estimated cost of that part of the system is $500,000.

Board President Jose A. Silva was authorized to sign the application, which must be sent to the state agency administering the program by March 31 to be included in 1969-70 projects.

The Bolinas District is under a cease and desist order from the Regional Water Quality Control Board to stop dumping untreated sewage into Bolinas Lagoon. Bolinas and Stinson Beach have been given until July 1970, to complete a sewage treatment system.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday March 20, the 79th day of 1969 with 286 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1942 Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in the Pacific, issued his famous "I shall return" pledge as the Japanese occupied most of the Philippines. He returned from Australia victoriously 30 months later.

In 1951 Argentine Dictator Juan Peron seized control of the opposition newspaper La Prensa.

In 1963 a volcano on the island of Bali began erupting and the death toll eventually went over 1,000.

In 1968 Israeli launched heavy attacks upon terrorist bases in Jordan.

Drake High's Films Reset For Sunday

The NBC special, "Experiment in Television: The New Communicators," which will feature three short films by students at Sir Francis Drake High School has been rescheduled for Sunday at 1:30 p.m. on Channel 4.

The station was to have shown the films last Sunday but made a scheduling change at short notice, according to Drake High School teacher Robert Johnson.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes A Smart Bridge Player Will Play It Coy

"Please give me some advice in an affair of the heart," a young lady pleads. "We played bridge recently against my father and mother, and my father accused my fiance of peeking at his hand. Bob just laughed and said something about counting. What did he mean, and do peekers make good husbands?"

RUFFS HEART

The fiance ruffed the second heart with the king of trumps (the letter goes on) and led the queen of trumps to the ace. West led a diamond to the ace, and a diamond then came back. South took the king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy and drew the last trump.

South then took the ace of clubs and led a club from dummy. East played the eight, and the young man played the nine of clubs and claimed the rest of the tricks before West could play, saying that he would get to dummy with a trump to take another club finesse.

That's when the girl's father accused the young man of peeking. A hasty accusation, it seems. The young man simply counted the hand.

FOUR CLUBS

West's raise and the opening lead showed four hearts, which meant that East held six hearts. East followed to only one spade and only two diamonds. Since these three suits accounted for only nine of East's cards, his other four cards simply had to be clubs.

After taking the ace of clubs declarer knew that East had the missing three clubs. He could safely claim the rest of the tricks.

MARRY HIM

I advise my correspondent to marry this young man before he gets away. A man who can laugh when he is accused of peeking is beautifully secure. But a smart girl would tone her man down so that he doesn't rile oldtimers with early claims. The ideal husband, like the ideal bridge player, knows how to conceal his brilliance.

DAILY QUESTION

♠—K Q J 4 3
♥—10
♦—K J 4
♣—K J 9 3.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

This aceless hand is not quite worth its apparent point count, but it is more than strong enough for an opening bid.

CREAMPUFF
'66 GMC
PICKUP
$1395
We can really say that this is a real creampuff pickup due to the fact that it's our own company truck that we purchased new and have used here at our company for general use and picking up of parts around the city.
This half-ton pickup has just been repainted to blot out our signs and there isn't a mark of wear or damage anywhere. Popular V-6 engine with standard transmission, w/w tires, radio, power steering, Barden bumper, all the chrome mouldings and lots of other extras. A really top-notch truck that's dressed up appearance-wise to look like new. Serviced regularly in our shop so this truck shouldn't need a thing done to it. T68692.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Brain wave testing has taken some of the guesswork out of epilepsy.

The machine (EEG) has demonstrated that normal brain cells give off regular electrical impulses of a definite pattern. Brain waves are registered on a paper and these spikes are interpreted by a specialist in this field.

MOST OF OUR READERS equate epilepsy only with a convulsion, but the disorder is, in reality, the result of an electrical brain storm. The EEG reveals that the spikes suddenly become larger indicating that abnormal activity has spread over the entire organ.

Convulsions are the dramatic aspect of epilepsy, and events preceding the seizure usually are missed. For example, the aura warns of an impending bout.

Many develop a sense of nausea or an indescribable sensation beginning in the region of the stomach and working up to the mouth.

ANOTHER SIGNAL is a feeling of remembering something, a visual image, a sound, or taste. The incident or object may be pleasant or horrible. Now and then a fit of rage ensues. Other sufferers smack the lips or make chewing movements.

Some epileptic attacks never go beyond the aura. When abnormal impulses originate in the temporal lobe (on each side near ear) and do not spread to the rest of the brain, many odd symptoms occur that can't be explained unless a convulsion follows.

In the past, many victims were judged to be crazy because of the bizarre things they saw, heard, or did. Thanks to brain wave tests, we now know that periodic attacks of this nature are a form of temporal lobe (psychomotor) epilepsy.

FOLLOWING THE AURA, jerkiness of the hand or leg may begin. An EEG reveals that the segment of the brain controlling the movements of these structures is "firing off." If these impulses stop here, the convulsion remains localized (focal epilepsy).

A generalized convulsion (grand mal) takes place if the electrical impulses spread to the remainder of the brain.

OVERACTIVITY of the brain cells may result from an injury, infection, or irritation. But, in many instances, the cause is not known.

If Youngster Is 'Hooked,' What Next?

war," a psychiatrist says. "We teach equality and practice discrimination. We preach ideals and do not practice them. We take pills of many kinds and forbid their doing so."

Many adults have "made their peace" with alcohol and tobacco and tranquilizing drugs, but give a flat "No" to any experimentation with marijuana or fail to give cogent reasons for youths not to try it, another points out. This seems unreasonable to many young people.

Parents are not likely to make big points with their children if they simply say, "Wait till you've been through what I've been through in life — then you'll understand." That, says one physician, isn't going to be a very impressive argument if it seems to the youngsters that the parents' lives, jobs or marriages are somewhat miserable.

"Give kids a healthy pattern to follow, and start it early," a psychiatrist suggests. "When and if it ever comes to a real debate over whether a child has a right to do something, it is usually too late."

In the long run, says Dr. Keniston, "those of us who are critical of student drug abuse must demonstrate to our students that three are better and more lasting ways to experience the fullness, the depth, the variety and the richness of life than that of ingesting psychoactive chemicals."

Last presidential election year, with many young people actively campaigning for candidates of their choice, raised the question whether interest in national campaigns or other issues might replace pot and pills, suggests Dr. Donald B. Louria of New York City.

The point, he says, is that "if you want to cure the drug problem, the name of the game is commitment" to something else.

Actions to spread education about drugs are sprouting across the country.

"The drug abuse problem concerns all of us; it is national in scope," says Finlator. "But it is not a national problem so much as it is a local problem, in the community, in the school and in the home. Here is the place where education has to be done."

"It would be best," he adds, "if our schools developed programs teaching respect for drugs in general, or in particular. But if a high school, for example, suddenly puts on a program on drug abuse only, youngsters will laugh at it. The idea of respect for drugs should be developed in courses or classes in general health education."

The new Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs represents a merger last year of the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, which Finlator headed, and the federal Bureau of Narcotics headed by Henry Giordano. John E. Ingersell is the Director.

Both of the formerly separate bureaus have distributed millions of copies of pamphlets and literature on various aspects of drug use and abuse, and the new Bureau continues to do so.

It lists a variety of motion pictures that are available for public showing.

"Today's youth demands accurate, factual, unprejudiced information, and when given such information honestly and directly, in my opinion they respond sensibly," sayd Dr. Keniston and others.

In many scores and perhaps hundreds of communities, there are increasing efforts to spread information about dangerous drugs. The pattern varies broadly.

In some places, parents organize special school courses, or one-day assemblies. Elsewhere, school personnel take the initiative.

Community organizations and service clubs sponsor other efforts. At least one community group also seeks "to bring pressure on local government, civic organizations, school boards, police departments and the like to act in solving the problem."

Numerous colleges and universities are initiating special educational programs about mind-influencing drugs, and other drugs.

"To be effective, a preventive educational effort must be carefully tailored to specific population groups and must be based on the best educational and scientific footing," says Dr. Stanley Yolles, director of the National Institute of Mental Health. "Students are suspicious of information supplied by 'official sources.' They want authoritative information, and to know where it comes from."

Education as to the ill effects of drug abuse has had some effect even in the ghettos," says David Gottlieb of Pennsylvania State University

"Controlled studies indicate that even deprived youngsters who have had meaningful experience with the dangers of addiction are fearful of and reluctant to fool around with heroin," he says. "The more advantaged youngsters seem sufficiently knowledgeable about the more potent drugs, at least initially, and will steer clear of them. Education given, however, is not necessarily information accepted."

Repeatedly, people who have abused dangerous drugs make one significatn point:

They say they might not have become involved if they had had factual knowledge beforehand, particularly when curiosity and thrill-seeking were the main motives for taking such drugs in the first place.

Students Seek Bank Awards

Three Novato High School seniors have been selected for Bank of America awards program zone interviews, according to counselor Ralph Del Sarto.

Interviews will be conducted at the College of Marin April 10 by a panel of five civic leaders under the chairmanship of Dr. Louis H. Herkenhoff, acting president of the college.

Winners in each field will go on to the finals to be held in San Francisco on May 8, he said. The second and third place winners in each field will receive $50 and $25 cash awards, he said.

The three going from Novato High School are: Michael K. Magill, fine arts; Marcy A. Eisenhauer, science and mathematics, and Craig Bilsborough, vocational arts.

Special BART Police Force Held Necessary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will need its own police force to protect its customers from muggers, its operators from holdup men and its property from vandals, BART's security officer says.

Ralph M. Lindsey reported yesterday that the 75-mile network of high speed trains scheduled for completion in 1972 extends into 16 loca government jurisdictions which are not geared to provide adequate policing for BART.

Closed-circuit television and two-way radio communication will be among the crime-prevention tools BART expects to use, Lindsey said.

Swallows Back At Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, (UPI) — Swallow watchers had some anxious moments for a time as they awaited the annual arrival of the birds on St. Joseph's Day.

The historic Mission San Juan Capistrano was socked in by fog yesterday morning and an estimated 10,000 persons on the mission grounds and surrounding streets peered through the gloom in vain.

"But we could hear them up there, on top of the fog, flying and twittering," said Bill Smith, voice of the mission. "They were sort of stacked up like fogbound planes at an airport.

"We got about 500 down at exactly 9:57.25 this morning," Smith said. "They'll find places in the surrounding community."

A subtle message to astute attorneys:

How to obtain glorious county-wide recognition

— without shouting from the rooftops

As a practicing attorney, would it offend you if literally thousands of families became familiar with your firm name? People who just might need a lawyer — if not today, tomorrow?

Would you tear your California Code in half and curse the day? Or would you sit back and bask in the glow of knowing such recognition was coming to the right, and most deserving place?

IF YOU FEEL THAT RECOGNITION is something which is hardly deleterious to building a bigger practice, you might consider how simple, how easy if is to obtain it:

To wit: Place your legal advertising where your firm name will be seen county-wide . . . where 45,000 families (that's 71.0% by the way) are exposed to your legal escutcheon.

Place it where everyone looks — in the Independent-Journal, naturally! Where people have an insatiable curiosity for news . . . where legal notices gain amazing readership, from people who want to know who's doing what and doing it where and when. (One of our best human-interest features!)

Which means your firm name is printed 45,000 times with each legal advertisement you place. Which means you become known, recognized!

A legal notice for a client, as you can so ostutely see, becomes a very legal notice of YOU.

Redwood, Novato, Tam Swimmers To Fight It Out

By GARY TISCHLER

Frantic lineup juggling may decide the 1969 Marin County Athletic League swimming race, which starts tomorrow.

It will be a dogfight between three evenly matched teams — Redwood, Tamalpais and Novato, in no special order. Drake — with only 10 squad members, San Rafael and Terra Linda are all rebuilding, while San Marin, minus a pool, is in its first year of competition.

Bruce Averill, probably the best backstroker in the league, heads a list of standout returnees on coach Norm Cady's Tamalpais squad, the defending champions.

Averill will double in the individual medley and relays.

Freestyle distance man Tam Smiley, breaststroker Brent Bedayan, all-arounder swimmer Tom Anderson, sprinter Lowry McFerren, diver, Bob Del Secco and butterfly man Tad Geiger give the Indians a versatile, if extremely tight, varsity squad.

"We'll have a good chance," Cady says. "We have to fill some gaps, but we should be right in there."

So should Redwood, where coach Bill Purcell has the league's standout freestyler in Ken James, the only swimmer to beat Drake star Bob Girvin last year.

There's also butterfly man Greg Myers, all-around swimmer John Malvino, transfer Mike Roark, who can swim anywhere, breaststroker Norm DeMont and a top sophomore in Brian Hennesy, who's already broken the school individual medley record. The divers will be juniors Don Wallace and Kirk Gray.

"We don't have a big squad," Purcell said. "But we have an extremely versatile team. The question is making up the lineups for each meet."

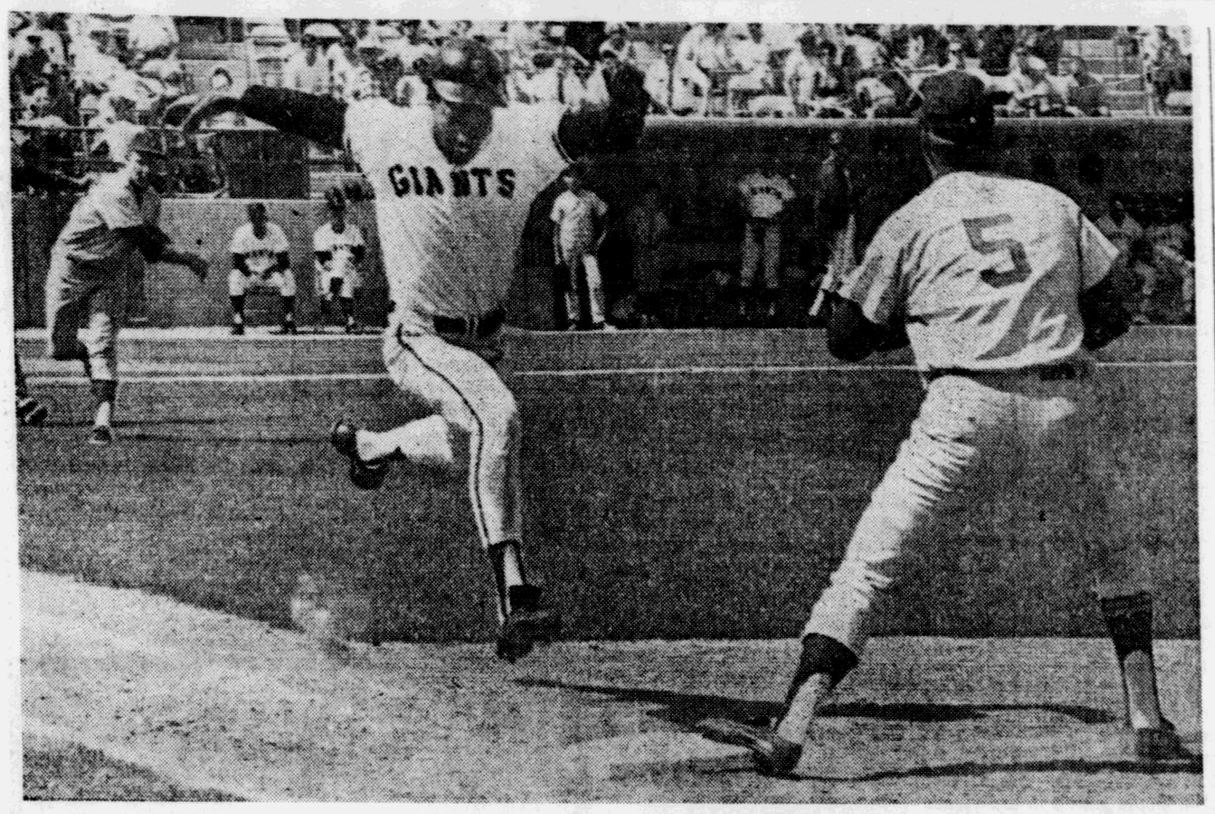
On sheer numbers, and probably talent, Novato will be right in there. The Hornets have the biggest array of freestyle standouts in the league, headed by Roger Backstedt, Bill Kuhn, Rob Cody and Rich Albert, who comprise what is probably the best freestyle relay in the league. There's also Chuck Maloney, and Gary Ferris, giving new coach Harland Bartholemew way deep depth in that area, a hefty portion of any meet.

Kuhn is a good butterfly man, one of the tops in the league, and the Hornets have a standout diver in Duncan Lane, who finished third in the league last year.

The Hornets are weak in other areas, but it may not matter. All they need in the other events is points, not necessarily winners.

Drake's small turnout is a far cry from the championship squad of two years ago. Only five swimmers reported for Class B duty.

The top varsity men are all-around swimmers Pete Locati, backstroker Scott Bradley and diver Bill Thompson.



SAFE AND OUT — San Francisco Giant outfielder Bobby Bonds was all smiles as he beat out a bunt in exhibition game against the Seattle Pilots yesterday at Phoenix. But, the smile soon became a frown as plate umpire Chris Pelekoudas said the bat hit the ball twice and ruled Bonds out. In background is Seattle pitcher Marty Pattin throwing to Don Mincher (5). GIANT RIGHTFIELDER

Bonds Moves Up Fast

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The trip from the ice and snow of Waterbury of the Eastern League to the golden sunshine of major-league baseball in San Francisco took less than two years for Bobby Bonds to complete. It is unlikely that he will need a return ticket.

"I remember the opener of the '67 season in Waterbury," says Bonds, who will open the season in right field for the Giants. "There was two feet of snow on the ground. I wore fur-lined gloves on both hands when I was hitting. All you had to do was hit the ball and it was gone. They couldn't find it in the snow."

Bonds hit only .261 that year, but the Giants liked his speed and power and sent him to Phoenix, their Triple-A farm club, last year. There he hit .370 with eight home runs, three of them grand slams, in 60 games.

"That's not normal development," says Giants' Manager Clyde King, who does not generally lean toward understatement. Some other people thought the same thing at the time and Bonds was called up to take a look at big-league pitching. It was love at first sight.

John Purdin, pitching for the Los Angeles Dodgers, tested Bonds with a fast ball and he promptly hit it over the wall. The bases were loaded at the time and Bonds became the first player in 70 years to hit a grand-slam home run in his first big-league game.

Waiting to greet him at the plate to shake his hand was Willie Mays, affording Bonds his biggest thrill to that date. Imagine, he thought, Willie Mays congratulating Bobby Bonds.

Bonds finished the season in somewhat less spectacular fashion, hitting .254 with nine home runs. But there was one side benefit. As he starts the 1969 season, Bobby Bonds, now 23, is no longer just a 21-year-old kid who was playing at Waterbury two years ago.

"I feel confident and relaxed," he says. "With the experience I got last year playing half a season, it relaxed me a little bit. I know most of the pitchers and what they're going to throw. A person can't be nervous and play this game. It helped me a lot being able to go up as soon as I did."

The comparisons between Bonds, who has great speed as well as power, and Mays are inevitable.

With King moving Mays to leadoff in the batting order this year, Bonds takes over Willie's traditional third spot, lending further fuel to the comparison fire. Also, Bonds may well be the Giants' centerfielder when Mays does retire.

Bonds, however, rejects all comparisons.

"I don't feel there's any ballplayer today who compares with Willie," he says. I can't think I'll ever hit 586 home runs or steal all the bases he has.

"I can only be myself."

Perry Looking Sharp

Giants Cut 12 Players

PHOENIX (UPI) — Strapping Gaylord Perry is making a determined bid to wrest Juan Marichal's hold on San Francisco's opening day pitching assignment.

Perry registered his third straight Cactus League victory yesterday as he worked seven effective innings in the Giants' 9-4 triumph over the Seattle Pilots.

His teammates, meanwhile, rapped out 10 hits, half of them for extra bases. Bobby Bonds and Willie McCovey each doubled twice and third baseman Bob Etheridge just about clinched the opening day job with a fine defensive performance and a triple and single.

Earlier in the day, Manager Clyde King made the first player cut, sending 12 players to nearby Casa Grande for reassignment.

The cut reduced the squad to 30 players, five over the opening day limit.

Tough Job For Drake In NCAA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — It's rough going against Goliath without a slingshot.

Coach Maurice John of Drake knows that better than anybody. He must lead his troops into battle tonight against Giant Lew Alcindor and his corps of Philistines without a man on the roster bigger than 6-foot-9.

The NCAA semifinal game will be televised on NBC (Channel 4) starting at 6:30.

John's plan is to bring in Garry Odom to cover the 7-1½ Alcindor within the first few minutes of the game. Odom enjoyed a successful evening against a 7-footer from Texas A&M in the Midwest regionals.

OUTSIDE

But the key to this game for Drake, John feels, will lie in its ability to hit from the outside. Without that the Bulldogs are sunk.

Coach John Wooden of UCLA, whose team is seeking an unprecedented third consecutive NCAA crown, was high in his praise for Drake and indicated his scouts had brought back glowing reports of the bulldogs' outside shooting.

"I think Drake is a fine basketball team, and I have respect for the Missouri Valley Conference," Wooden said. "I feel any team here can win this tourney."

Injuries could prove to be the deciding factor in the Purdue-North Carolina game. Both teams have been crippled by the loss of key performers and each will be looking to exploit the other's losses.

SIDE LINES

Dick Grubar, a highly-regarded guard, will be on the sidelines for North Carolina and Chuck Davis, a 7-foot center will be out of action for Purdue. So too may Herman Gilliam, an All-Star forward. If Gilliam is unable to play, it will put extra pressure on the Boilermakers' backcourt duo of Rick Mount and Bill Keller.

"Gilliam is running a little better, but I won't know for sure about him until game time," said Purdure Coach George King.

Seals Lead, Then Falter

By JOHN MURPHY

Unfortunately the score only counts at the end of the full 60 minutes so all they could manage against the Detroit Red Wings was a 4-4 tie before a disappointed crowd of 6,964 fans.

The number of shots on goal tell the story. In the first period the greenshirted Seals took aim on Detroit goalie Roy Edwards 15 times and allowed only nine Redwing attempts. The second period was closer with 12 Seal tries vs. 10 for Detroit.

ONE-SIDED

In the last period Detroit outshot the locals 16-6 and played almost the entire 20 minutes in the Oakland end of the rink.

Detroit evened the game at 4:40 of the middle period when Dean Prentice stole the puck in his own end and skated completely around Doug Roberts, faked Seals goalie Gary Smith right out of his pads, and slipped the rubber into the net, all while the Seals had a man advantage because of a penalty to Redwing defenseman Paul Popiel.

GO AHEAD

The lightning struck again at 5:48 of the same stanza when Frank Mahovlich took a perfect pass from Gordie Howe in a two-on-one situation and the Detroiters went ahead 2-1.

Hicke notched his 25th score of the season a scant minute and 16 seconds later when Edwards made a great glove save and then dropped the puck right on Hicke's stick. It took only a flick of the wrist to light the lamp and tie it all up again.

At 8:51 the Seals went ahead again when Norm Ferguson's shot was partially stopped by Edwards and Brian Perry was in perfect position to nudge it home. Carol Vadnais closed out the Oakland scoring with a hard slap shot from the point on a power play at 14:38 of the period while Winger Bob Baun was sitting out a holding penalty.

The Wings came to life again at 4:59 of the third period when the "Old Man Line" of Howe, Mahovlich and Alex DelVecchio — total ages a mere 106 — made a classic sweep down the ice with Howe doing the honors and then at 15:27 the game was tied up for keeps when Wayne Connelly tipped in a Bruce McGregor shot while Doug Roberts was in the penalty box.

RAPS PLAYERS

Seals Coach Fred Glover, obviously unhappy at the result blamed the tie on "some people playing as individuals instead of as a team." Without pointing to any one player he asserted that they had "better forget next year's contracts and concentrate on the rest of this season."

The big third inning that erased a 2-1 Vallejo lead started off with a single by Ken Lazzarini, a double by Dewey Forry, a single by Rick Payne and then Nadell's circuit smash.

Terra Linda's other run came in the first inning when Gary Trono tripled and scored on a wild pitch. A double by Bob Daniele was Terra Linda's other extra base hit.

Starter Mike Timmel, who worked the first five innings, was the winning pitcher with two scoreless innings of relief help from Jerry Goodrick.

O. J. Simpson In Continental Grid League?

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The president of the Orlando Panthers says O.J. Simpson has offered to play for his Continental Football League team for $400,000, and the Panthers think that's a fair price to pay Orange Juice to promote the Sunshine state's favorite beverage.

"O.J. and his agent approached Jim Dunn, the Continental League commissioner, two weeks ago and offered to play for $400,000 if O.J.'s negotiations with the Buffalo Bills fell through," said Elmer Cook, Panthers president.

PROMOTION

"We went to the Florida Citrus commission and asked them to put up the money, since it was a natural promotional bit to go along with their slogan—Drink O.J.," Cook explained.

The Citrus Commission seemed quite warm to the proposal, Cook said, figuring that a specimen of manhood like the ex-Southern California running back would do as much to up the sale of orange juice as all the vitamin-C plugs put together.

"Oh, my God," Cook said reverently when asked how he felt about the chance of his Panthers getting Simpson. "The guy's the hottest thing in the country in our business."

COMMITTED

At present, Simpson is committed to contract negotiations with the Bills of the American Football League, and cannot legally play for any other AFL or National Football League team if he fails to reach a contract with the Bills.

However, there's nothing to stop him from playing for a Continental or Canadian team.

Day Off Turns Into Awful Time For Tigers' Freehan

Detroit Slugger Hit By Pitch, Breaks Nose

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

His day off turned into an awful day for Bill Freehan, the slugging catcher of the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers left several players including Freehan behind at their Lakeland, Fla. training base yesterday while the rest of the squad moved over to Tampa for an exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds. As it turned out, Freehan would have been better off playing in the game.

ERRANT PITCH

An errant batting practice pitch by outfielder Jim Northrup hit Freehan squarely in the face, breaking his nose. He'll be sidelined at least 10 days. And to make the day a total washout for the Tigers, the Reds won the exhibition game, 4-3.

In other exhibition action yesterday, the New York Yankees edged Atlanta 3-2, Boston bombed Houston 13-1, Los Angeles shut out St. Louis 3-0, the New York Mets shaded Philadelphia 5-4, Baltimore downed Pittsburgh 8-5, the Chicago Cubs dropped Cleveland 10-7, San Francisco defeated Seattle 9-4, the Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 5-1, Minnesota tripped Washington 6-4 and the Yankees' "B" team edged Montreal 5-4.

SHOUTED

Freehan was tapping home plate with his bat when Northrup's pitch hit him. "Jim shouted and I looked up just in time to get smashed," Freehan said. "That bone must have shattered in 10 places."

"It was stupid of me not to look before I threw the thing," said Northrup. "I could kick myself for being so dumb."

Meanwhile, at Tampa, the Tigers dropped their fourth in a row with rookie Darrel Chaney's sixth inning homer giving the Reds the victory.

Catcher Frank Fernandez tagged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, sending the Yankees to their victory over Atlanta. It was the sixth loss in the last seven starts for the Braves.

Jim Lonborg pitched four hitless innings and singled two Boston runs across in a seven-run rally against Don Wilson as the Red Sox battered Houston. George Scott had a two-run double in Boston's big fourth inning.

TRIPLE

Len Gabrielson's two-run triple was Los Angeles' big blow and the Dodgers got shutout pitching from Bill Singer and Claude Osteen to beat St. Louis. Curt Flood had two hits for the Cards.

Cleon Jones drove in four runs with a homer and a single against Philadelphia, leading the Mets to their fifth straight victory. Jones boosted his spring average to .433 and has three homers and 12 RBI in eight spring games. Deron Johnson had a three-run homer for the Phillies, his first hit of the spring.

Brooks Robinson walloped a grand slam homer and Frank Robinson added a two-run shot as Baltimore beat Pittsburgh. Rookie outfielder Al Oliver had three hits including two triples for the Pirates.

ROAR BACK

The Cubs spotted Cleveland six runs in the first inning and then roared back to beat the Indians. Rich Nye worked six innings in relief, allowing one run and smashed a two-run homer to lead Chicago's comeback.

Bill Melton rapped two doubles and two singles, leading the White Sox past Kansas City. Tommy John and Gary Peters each hurled four scoreless inning for the White Sox.

Warriors Get The Day Off

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors have another day off today and they need it.

Three regulars pulled up lame after Tuesday night' s 128-115 loss to the Atlanta Hawks. Center Nate Thurmond left the contest early, suffering from a heavy chest cold. Later, Al Attles sustained a slight muscle pull in his leg and Jeff Mullins also pulled up lame with an ankle sprain.

The injuries are not believed serious and the three players are expected back in the lineup for tomorrow's clash against Milwaukee.

Casper Among Favorites

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Bill Casper is not exactly the conniving type but he admitted today he has designs on the Masters.

He hopes to sneak up on it.

"I keep trying to find the right formula for going into the tournament," the 1968 pro golfer of the year said. "One year I play a heavy schedule, the next year I lay off, then I pick a spot here and there.

"I'm still looking for the answer."

STAR-STUDDED

Casper, who has played only five rounds of golf in the last four weeks, is one of the star-studded field of 144 teeing off today in the first round of the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open.

The once feared big three—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—also are in the pack for the first time this year plus Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open titleholder, and the crowd of young turks threatening to take over the game.

For many of them, this is the stretch run toward the Masters, the season's first major championship coming up in April in Augusta, Ga.

WANTS IT

None is looking toward the grand spectacle amidst the Georgia pines with greater anticipation than Casper, the 37-year-old Mormon with the world's most exotic allergies.

Bill has won two U.S. Opens. He is second only to Arnold Palmer in all-time money winnings. He led everybody last year with more than $211,000.

But he's never won the Masters, nor the British Open nor the PGA.

"I usually set goals for myself," the mild-mannered lay preacher from Chula Vista, Calif., said. "This year I have determined to win a major championship. I would prefer the Masters or the British Open. I wouldn't mind winning a third U.S. Open.

RELAXED

"To get ready for the Masters, I decided to skip most of the Florida tour. Before Wednesday, I had played only four rounds. I felt rusty but relaxed."

In his first official tour of the 7,211-yard, par 72 Deerwood Course, Bill shot a 68, tying South Africa's Harold Henning and Dave Stockton for second low pro honors. Dick Sikes led with 67.

Forty-four 1-0 games were played in the National League last season, a major league record.

Another Award For Lew; McManus Wins In Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor, three-time All-American at UCLA, was named winner yesterday of the Dr. James A. Naismith torphy, awarded by the Atlanta, Ga., Tipoff Club, as the outstanding college basketball player of the past season.

TENNIS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Jim McManus of Berkeley dropped Pancho Guzman of Ecuador 7-5, 7-5 while top-seeded Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va. won by default in the second round of the Masters Invitational.

BOWLING

PORTSMOUTH, Va. — Dick Weber of St. Louis compiled a 2,627 pinfall to claim the 12-game qualifying lead in the $45,000 Portsmouth Professional Bowlers Association Open.

HORSE RACING

ARCADIA — Most Host, $5.60, closed with a rush to win the $12,000 San Bernardino County Fair Purse at Santa Anita.

NEW ORLEANS GETS IT

New Site For Super Bowl

The Louisiana city was selected over Miami yesterday by the owners of the 26 pro football teams as the site of the 1970 Super Bowl game.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the selection would maintain the balance between National Football League and American Football League cities.

EVENS IT

Los Angeles, an NFL city, hosted the first Super Bowl in 1966. Miami of the AFL has had it for the past two years.

Rozelle said a majority of the owners swung to New Orleans because the NFL Saints averaged crowds of 75,000 at home last season. The Saints play their home games in the Tulane University stadium, which has an 81,000 capacity.

The vote was not disclosed but the commissioner indicated it was not unanimous.

It took a vote of at least 13 of the 16 NFL owners and 8 of the 10 AFL owners to make the switch from Miami.

FIRST ACTION

Yesterday's decision was the first major action taken in the five-day meeting, which will end tomorrow.

A joint committee of six owners—three from each league—Monday adopted a proposal for the retention of the AFL and NFL as separate entities with interleague games.

But there has been opposition by some of the AFL owners, who want complete realignment.

OBJECTORS

The three main objectors are Paul Brown of Cincinnati, Gerald Phipps of Denver and Joseph Robbie of Miami.

If the thorny problem isn't ironed out here, it won't come up until the owners' spring meeting. That meeting tentatively is scheduled at New York in early May.

Television negotiations are stalled until the question is settled.

It's Good Start For Robyn Smith

The former movie starlet apparently passed her initial riding test at Golden Gate Fields yesterday when she finished second in a five-horse field special exhibition.

The pretty 24-year-old Miss Smith, riding Amabar, led for most of the five furlong race before being finally passed a sixteenth of a mile from the finish by the stakes winning Gee Beau, ridden by veteran jockey Harrks Hawkenson.

The exhibition was run under actual race conditions with the Board of Stewards on hand. After the race, they said they were "pleased" with Miss Smith's performance.

Stars' Player Is Suing Oak

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Jarvis, a professional basketball guard for the Los Angeles Stars, filed a $500,000 assault and battery suit yesterday against Warren Armstrong on the Oakland Oaks.

Jarvis said he was knocked to the floor during a game Jan. 29 and that Armstrong, a 6-2 rookie guard, beat and kicked him on the head and neck.

The civil suit also names as defendants Oakland Basketball, Inc., owner of the American Basketball Association team, and Alex Hannum, coach. The club and Hannum were charged with negligence in hiring Armstrong.

GOLF

BANGKOK, Thailand—Hsieh Yung Yo, a Formosa professional, shot a six-under-par 66 today to take the opening round lead in the Thailand Open Golf Championship. Tis rounud broke the course record of 67 and enabled him to take a three-stroke lead over Bob Unger, 25-year-old American.

Behind-The-Scenes Telecast Of Giants

Phoenix — On the eve of the season opener in Candlestick Park, KPIX will telecast an hour long documentary appropriately called "King of the Giants."

Barry Tompkins, KPIX sports editor, and a smooth working crew patiently put the show together over a three-week period beginning with the sliding pit in Casa Grande and ending with a Cactus League exhibition game in Phoenix Municipal Stadium the other day.

THOSE SEQUENCES may not actually start and close the show which will be telecast Wednesday, April 16, 8:30-9:30 p.m. It logically could start with a clubhouse meeting of the team at which Clyde King, new manager of the Giants, talks strategy and plain common sense.

There is nothing staged about the film work of Ron McCormick, veteran KPIX movie cameraman who never misses a game in Candlestick Park. Dick Scott, producer, and Cal Bollwinkel, executive producer, have seen to that. They haven't cluttered up scenes with wires. And they haven't used any trick backdrops.

EVERYTHING IN the documentary is just as it happened in spring training camp of the Giants during a three-week stretch. The relatively new wireless microphones made it all possible. At least, the mikes made it technically possible.

Tompkins, McCormick, Scott and Bollwinkel provided the know-how. Tompkins is an extremely capable interviewer whose knowledge of baseball is reflected in the kind of penetrating questions he asks. He works without text and is worth every penny of whatever salary KPIX pays him.

TOMPKINS' TALKS with King and members of the team are gems but the ability of the wireless mike to take fans right behind home plate as Bob Barton is catching and Doug Harvey is umpiring an actual game will captivate KPIX viewers the night of April 16.

The clubhouse scenes are absolutely fascinating as behind-the-scene stuff invariably is. Regardless of whether you are a Giant fan or not you shouldn't miss "King Of The Giants" if you have any interest whatsoever in baseball.

INDEED, YOU don't even have to be a baseball nut to like this one because it is loaded with stars, headed by the 3 Ms of the Giants. They, of course, are Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Juan Marichal. And they are paid like movie stars, too. Their combined salaries top $300,000.

SIFFORD GIVEN HIS DUE

A Change In Ryder Cup Standings

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association made a quick adjustment in its Ryder Cup standings yesterday and thus avoided a possible racial issue involving Charlie Sifford.

Sifford, a 45-year-old Negro pro, was distressed when informed here that he was 17th in the Ryder Cup standings, instead of 10th as he figured.

"I hear they have given me only 35 points for winning the Los Angeles Open instead of 70 which I should have got," Sifford said.

The point standings determine the 12-man team which the United States will send to Royal Birkdale in England in September for the biennial series with the British. The U.S. team never has had a black member.

The pros are awarded points —70 for each tournament victory with graded down points for other places. The top 12 pros of the year are named to the team.

A call to the PGA headquarters in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., disclosed that Sifford, indeed, was 17th.

"He was given 35 points for winning at Los Angeles," a spokesman said. "The points were split between Los Angeles and the tournament at Alameda (a satellite event also sponsored by the PGA on the same dates)."

A friend of Sifford's put in another call to Leon Fraser, president of the PGA, at his club in Atlantic City, N.J., followed by a telephonic conference with the PGA board of directors.

It was decided that Sifford should have his full 70 points. But Charlie isn't completely happy.

He still wants to play in the Masters at Augusta. No Negro ever has competed in the event.

"It's my ambition — I will some day," Sifford vowed.

Only Way To Play Against The Bruins

Are you one who thinks a mouse should have the chivalry to trade bites with a lion in mortal combat? Do you think it's unsporting of a deer to run from a hunter? Is it rotten of a duck to fly too high? Can a cat climb a tree to get away from a dog?

Do you believe that the gunmen of the Old West always gave the other fellow the first draw? Would it shock you to know that Billy the Kid killed more people with shots in the back or ambushes from behind a fence than he did any other way?

THEN, YOU'RE probably the kind of guy who gets apoplectic when he sees the "stall" in basketball. You are probably like Gen. Braddock, who couldn't understand why the Indian didn't fight like a man instead of wiping out his force by skulking behind rocks, firing from trees and breaking off the engagement when he came up with superior forces.

Nature gives spots to the leopard, wings to the eagle, speed to the zebra — and brains to man — to equalize the competition of life and survival.

NO ONE CRITICIZES an animal for using its natural defenses. Even in most other sports, the critic is understanding. No one expects a boxer to trade punches with a slugger. An outmanned football team is applauded for throwing passes, and is not expected to hurl itself to defeat in the line. A baseball team may bunt, walk dangerous hitters, put on an infield shift, or do any one of a number of things to neutralize an opponent's advantage without bringing scorn from the pressbox.

But, just watch the scandalized sucking-in of breath if, as appears likely, the other teams who face UCLA in the upcoming national college basketball finals resort to a kind of "hide-the-ball" strategy to offset the fact the Bruins will come on court with a player who is a foot taller and several leagues better than many of the players around him.

LISTEN! THEY give a bullfighter a sword and a cape, don't they? Even a skunk gets a scent. World War I was won on a stall. Retreat is honorable in the face of overwhelming odds.

If you had to play a basketball game with mere collegians against Lew Alcindor where you either had to shoot or give up the ball every 30 seconds, you might as well just phone in the loss.

YOU WILL NOTICE the only game Alcindor and Co. lost all year was one in which their only conqueror, USC, owned the ball for 28 of the 40 minutes. USC's tactics reminded me of a cruel game they used to play when we were kids: a bunch of guys would snatch the skating cap off the smallest kid and then they would lob it back and forth just out of his frantic reach until he began to cry.

The point is, this is the ONLY way to beat the Alcindor Bruins. USC never lost sight of this fact. Even with the score 11-4, it refused to be hectored into trying desperation baskets. It made its fight like a ringwise old veteran, or an out-gunned general luring the enemy into his swamp.

BUT THIS MADE for a dull game, you say? Well, if a team plays a stall against a team of relatively equal strength, I would agree. But the presence of Alcindor makes it highly exciting — like one of those old Joe Louis fights where the suspense would build up and the crowd would roar if the other guy merely continued to survive. A waltz between two tankers would have been a bore.

But with a Joe Louis — or a Lew Alcindor — on the attack, a stall becomes the Perils of Pauline, the Great Escape, a guy trying to crawl off the Indianapolis Speedway in the middle of the race, a guy hiding in a closet trying not to breathe. It's a chase over rooftops, a man trying to bluff a pair of treys into a big pot. It's great theater, baby, and, as far as I'm concerned, it'll play.

Rohnert Park's Muny Course To Open Back 9

The back nine holes of the Rohnert Park municipal golf course will be open to public play Saturday, according to golf course superintendent Sam Singh.

The back nine holes have been regraded, leveled and replanted. With the opening of the full 18 holes to the public, the course is the only 18-hole municipal course in Sonoma and Marin counties.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Some women feel more comfortable rolling right down the gutter line for pins on the right side of the alley, as illustrated. There's something about bowling "cross-grain" that bothers them. Don't let it. When you're going for the 10-pin, especially, always start from the left side of the approach. You have much more alley-width to work with this way.

San Pablo Bay Oil Drilling Studies May Be Deferred

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The State Lands Commission will receive a report within the next two weeks on the feasibility of drilling for oil in the flats surrounding San Pablo Bay which connects San Francisco Bay with the Carquinez Straits and the Delta.

Because of the recent oil spill tragedy off Santa Barbara, and the ensuing hue and cry by conservationists, the San Pablo Bay project is expected to be deferred until further notice.

QUIET

The Department of Fish and Game hasn't said much. They really can't under existing State protocol. They have to wait until the Lands Commission actually approves an oil lease program in San Pablo Bay before they can voice a protest or make any recommendations.

But the DFG is watching developments. San Pablo Bay, which includes the pathway for migrating fishlife up the rich Sacramento and San Joaquin River drainages, is absolutely vital to the recreational well-being of California.

According to the Department of Fish and Game, the area under consideration for oil drilling has an effect on no less than 2½ to 5 million striped bass; up to a million king salmon; 40,000 to 60,000 steelhead; 2-3 million shad; thousands of sturgeon; millions of clams; between 250,000 and one million ducks and geese and an estimated 250,000 various shorebirds.

From experience with offshore drilling operations in Southern California, the DFG is well aware that there is some oil leakage in the best of operations. Pumps break down, pipes develop holes and periodic small spills occur from a variety of mechanical causes.

CATASTROPHY

The huge and mobile Pacific Ocean does a tolerable job of diluting these minor southern slurps. But should a major breakdown occur, like happened off Santa Barbara earlier in the year, in the restricted waters of San Pablo Bay, with the tides moving in and out as they do, the resultant damage to fish and wildlife resources could be catastrophic.

Hence, the State Lands Commission doesn't figure to press the issue. And in the unlikely event that they do attempt to open San Pablo Bay to oil drilling, the Department of Fish and Game biologists and conservationists will make their protest.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Weak In Defense

DENVER (AP) — A 43-7 defeat handed them by the Oakland Raiders in the American Football League was especially humiliating for the Denver Broncos. Oakland scored in four different ways — touchdown, extra point, safety and field goal — before the Broncos had a chance to run an offensive play.

Boston Favored In NIT

Coach Bob Cousy's slick band of smooth ball-handlers likes to play the fast-breaking game but it's also adept at the slowdown, ball-control style. That's why the Eagles own the nation's longest winning streak at 18 and are favored to win the 32nd annual National Invitation Tournament.

U.S. ARMY

The Eagles face defense-minded Army, the nation's top defensive club, in one semifinal game tonight while Temple battles Tennessee, the nation's No. 2 defensive club, in the other semifinal. The winners meet in the finals Saturday afternoon.

Even though the Eagles like to run, Cousy says they'll try to beat Army at its own slowdown game. If Tennessee beats Temple, the Eagles will run into the slowdown game again—provided BC gets past Army.

The Tennessee-Temple game also should be a close struggle. Tennessee plays the same type defensive game Army does, but Tennessee does it in a different way. While Army is strictly a man-to-man club, Tennessee uses a 1-3-1 trap zone. The Volunteers also have a big man in 6-10 Bobby Croft; Army doesn't have a player over 6-6.

New Desalting Process Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A California firm has developed a new process which strains out nearly 100 per cent of the salts in inland brackish waters and ultimately could use it to desalt sea water.

The process, utilizing a new highly selective membrane of strainer, was developed by the Universal Water Corp. of Del Mar, under contract with the Interior Department's office of saline water.

Previously brackish waters — those found in ground wells for example — were desalted through the process of distillation.

The new method involves application of pressure on the salt water which forces the pure water to diffuse through the membrane, leaving the salt behind.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Leading Toymakers See Good Prospects

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. The declining birth rate leaves me in doubt as to my holdings in the toy industry. I purchased both Mattel, Inc., and Tonka several years ago as long-range growth stocks for retirement now seven years away. What is your view? — A. H.

A. Although there has been a dramatic decline in the birth rate from the bustling levels of the mid-1940s, another baby boom is predicted. The bulge in the birth rate following World War II will generate a similar rise in the number of births by the mid-1970s. Your discerning selections within the toy industry should continue to return above-average results.

Tonka's line of high-quality metal trucks, offered in four size ranges, is less susceptible to fad and seasonal buying patterns that plague the toy industry Tonka also produces a line of hydraulic components for use in construction and farm machinery. A line of barbecue equipment originally manufactured to take up slack factory time was sold last July to release needed plant space.

Mattel controls 10 per cent of the domestic and 1 per cent of the foreign toy markets. An extremely successful merchandiser, Mattel has programmed for a 15 per cent share of the U.S. and 3.5 per cent share of the overseas market within five years. Recently Mattel has utilized acquisitions as a means of supplementing its line of 500 toys and games and to attain its growth goals.

The Monogram Models takeover by Mattel added a line of plastic scale-model hobby kits, a year-around item. Three European acquisitions have been completed — a doll maker, a miniature car producer and a distributor. The 30 per cent gain reported in sales for the fiscal year ended Feb. 1 lifts volume to $210 million. A large part of the increase was attributed to Mattel's successful new year-around marketing program — All-Occasion Gift Center.

Confidence Lack Spelt San Rafael School Bond Doom

Reasons Behind 'No' Vote On $2.1 Million Proposal

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

"I don't have confidence in the board and the administration."

In those words, attorney Thomas P. Boyd, who served nearly 12 years on the San Rafael Board of Education, today summed up why he voted against a proposed $2.1 million elementary school bond issue on Feb. 18.

The bond issue fell six percentage points short of the necessary two-thirds affirmative vote. The San Rafael Board of Education has voted to try it again on June 10.

Only 37.8 per cent of the elementary school district's registered voters cast ballots in February. There were many reports that people who customarily support school finance measures had stayed away from the polls or voted "no." In an attempt to learn the reasons, the Independent-Journal sought out some of these people who were willing to talk for publication.

Boyd, of 77 Brentwood Drive, served on the board during a period of great expansion following World War II. Elected in 1947, he served until resigning, near the end of a third term in 1958.

"We only failed to pass one bond issue while I was on the board," he said. "Every time, we told them exactly why we needed the money and what we were going to do with it."

In the present case, he said, "they are preparing a building program without showing the necessity." And, he com-

Attack On Vehicle Smog Is Approved

$10,000 To Be Spent On Natural Gas Tests

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Highway Commission approved today a smog-fighting program of testing trucks and autos fueled by natural gas rather than gasoline.

The commission authorized the spending of $10,000 to test about 10 autos in the Los Angeles area. Some such autos already are being used by utilities companies.

The commission said autos powered by natural gas are more economical than gasoline-fueled cars and significantly cut smog-producing exhaust emissions.

Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina, told the commission, "The use of natural gas — whether in liquefied or compressed form — results in the lowest concentration of pollutants from the operation of an internal combustion engine on a motor vehicle that we know of."

The cars and trucks will be those regularly used by the state Division of Highways.

The California Highway Patrol soon will test steam-powered autos, and steam-powered buses will be tried in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Meanwhile, the state's major smog fighting organization has launched a study to determine if public and private agencies are doing enough to develop a practical smog-free auto.

If the answer is no, the state Air Resources Board may propose a national project to design such a car.

The idea was proposed yesterday by Dr. Willard F. Libby of UCLA, winner of the 1960 Nobel Prize in chemistry, and a member of the Air Resources Board.

Libby guessed that $50 million is being spent toward development of smog - free vehicles but he asked, "Is that adequate considering the national need?"

"There isn't the slightest doubt Detroit could design a smog-free auto," Libby told a reporter.

The qestion is how much it would cost and if people could afford it.

Robert McJones of Pacific Lighting and Gas Co. interjected that his firm is operating "a clean car" — one that produced virtually no smog. He said his firm's fleet runs on natural gas "with startling" low smog-producing result.

Meanwhile, the board proceeded to implement the tough new auto smog restrictions inposed by the 1968 Legislature. It certified for the first time a device to control evaporation of raw gasoline from auto fuel tanks

Both Sides Trade Charges In Paris

PARIS (AP) — The United States charged today the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam "is a calculated part of a plan to take over South Vietnam by force."

At the ninth session of the Paris peace talks, South Vietnam accused the other side of preparing a massive new attack on Saigon and said unless it is called off it will have an adverse impact on the negotiations. (See war story, page 2.)

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front defended the offensive as an answer to what it called "terrorist and sweep operations against the South Vietnamese people." It asserted President Nixon's warning of an "appropriate response" to the current offensive was a threat to escalate the war.

North Vietnam declared the United States and its allies had intensified the war, a charge rejected by the American delegation.

The meeting adjourned after four hours and the participants agreed to meet again next Thursday.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said that the Communist command planned its offensive long ago and made detailed and careful preparations which were in no way a response to U.S. acts.

"It is clear," he continued, "that the attacks which were launched on Feb. 22 were not undertaken as a response to any recent allied initiative. They were instead the long-heralded winter-spring campaign of 1969, a campaign of which your side warned in advance and of which it has boasted since."

In advance of the session, reports circulated that the United States and North Vietnam are conducting secret negotiations on troops withdrawals in another capital, probably Vientiane, Laos.

It was reported the United States entered into the negotiations away from Paris to avoid trouble with its South Vietnamese allies and that North Vietnam did likewise to keep the National Liberation Front out of it.

Sirhan Plans Psychotic, Expert Says

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sirhan Bishara Sirhan could have premeditated the killing of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in a psychotic state, but he would not have been "a cool, calculating, skillful assassin," a psychologist said today.

While Sirhan sat at the witness table staring at his hands, Dr. Roderick Richardson said that "Mr. Sirhan has the capacity to arrive at his own moral structure of the situation—to feel he alone sees it, he alone feels it, he alone can execute it.

"He no longer responds to what he sees as a popular consensus—he alone is right."

Mutiny Trial Back In Session

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—Five soldiers returned to trial on charges of mutiny today after a half-day recess granted the defense to seek reconsideration of their pleas.

David Lowe of Vacaville ,Solano County), civilian attorney for one, made the request, saying, "It would give us a chance to make a deal with the Army on changing pleas if the terms of sentencing were agreed on in advance."

But when Lt. Gen. Stabley Larsen, 6th Army commander at the Presidio in San Francisco, was contacted, he directed that the court-martial take its course.

President To Inspect Oily Beaches

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon will fly tomorrow to California and a weekend stay including an inspection of oil-coated beaches of Santa Barbara and a possible look at sites for a summer White House.

His wife Pat plans to accompany him along with Secretary of State and Mrs. William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, special assistant for national security affairs.

THE DRUG SCENE

Youngster 'Hooked'? Counseling Needed

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

(Ninth in a series of 10)

If youngsters do become "hooked" or dependent upon mind-influencing drugs, what then?

By that time, authorities advise, the problem is usually beyond the parents' ability to handle it alone.

"Some kind of expert counseling is called for," says Dr. Kenneth Keniston of Yale University. It could be a family friend, a school counselor, a minister, a physician, not necessaryily a psychologist or psychiatrist.

"Don't regard it as a sign of moral corruption, but rather as something being wrong in their lives," he adds.

Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth of Harvard suggests telling them that "you will not condone what they are doing, but that you will help them all you can, and stand by them."

A college counselor adds: In interviews with college youths using drugs in a self-destructive way, "it was impressive how often drugs had been 'used' to inform parents, teachers and others that the individual desperately needed help."

The young tend to copy the ideas, values, beliefs — and also prejudices — of parents, and so parents should set good examples to follow.

John Finlator, associate director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs remarks: "It's difficult for adults to answer the young person who says, "I don't know why people get excited when I use drugs — my old man's been hung up on martinis for years."

"Kids tend to tell the truth and mirror what we don't want to see in oursleves," says Dr. Morris E. Chafetz, Harvard Medical School psychiatrist. "We want to separate pot and alcohol, but we are of the generation that abuses so many drugs."

The way parents behave and talk can seem hypocritical at times to youngsters, who may then look upon mind-influencing drugs as a way of escaping hypocrisy.

"We teach peace and practice

Coloradans Outlaw Coyness About Age

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A bill passed in the Colorado Legislature today prevents women who do not want to disclose their ages from simply using the term "over 21" on marriage licenses.

Under the measure, prospective brides and grooms must not only tell how old they are but must furnish proof to marriage license clerks.

San Anselmo Beautifiers Snarl Post Office Moving Schedule

Eighteen "Unlawful to Occupy This Building" signs were slapped last night on San Anselmo's new post office by city forces when developers failed to fulfill landscaping requirements in their contract.

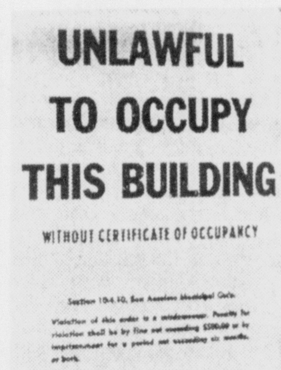
As a result the post office, now located at 333 San Anselmo Avenue, will be unable to move for at least a week. And it may mean that Alfred Barthel of San Rafael may be unable to open his new restaurant, Senor Alfredo, on April 1.

Postmaster John F. Fahy said today that he would like to move his overcrowded post office equipment as soon as post office lock boxes are installed.

The new post office, twice the size of the present one, and Senor Alfredo are located in the former Safeway market, at 121 and 115 San Anselmo Avenue, respectively.

The stopper is that the owner and developer of the property, Charles W. Mapes Co. of San Francisco, has not fulfilled the landscaping requirement for the 24-car parking lot adjacent to the building, requirements established last October.

No certificate of occupancy can be issued until either the landscaping is in or a cash bond between $6,000 and $10,000 is posted by the developer, Charles R. Letizell, city engineer and public works director, said today.



SAN ANSELMO SIGN
Postman, don't ring

The landscaping hassel was the subject of a meeting last night of the city's Design Review Committee.

The committee voted 5-1 on landscaping changes in the parking lot's entrance trees, the ground cover and the cover on a freestanding brick wall. Their motion also called for three trees along the building and eliminated irrigation of four street trees on San Anselmo Avenue.

Mapes is to resubmit his plans to the board at 8 p.m. Wednesday, in city hall.

Voting "no" on the changes was board member Laurie Antolino who said he would like to have one more flowering cherry tree in the lot, Leitzell said.

Storming angry today was Barthel who said, "We don't have enough parking places, but still they want to hide the so-called ugly brick building. The post office spent $2,500 putting up a brick wall and (James G.) McDonald (board chairman) wants ivy to grow on it to cover the 'ugly brick building'."

Barthel said he has talked to his attorney to see what he can do about getting his restaurant on opening date. "I'm an innocent third party," he lamented. "My lease did not state I needed trees."

Leitzell said, "Normally we don't put up so many signs but we wanted to impress the Post Office Department."

The plans were approved last October, the engineer reported, and the ordinance requires appeal within 10 days. However, it was felt it was necessary to allow an appeal in this case, Leitzell explained.

The post office, represented by James Schultz, regional real estate official, submitted nine objections to the landscaping March 12, Leitzell said.

They included opposition to two large trees on both sides of the entrance on the theory they would interfere with street traffic vision, opposition to planting of two trees in front of the building, one which the post office said would cover the title of the post office, the other which would interfere with raising and lowering of the flag.

The Post Office objected to being held responsible for maintenance of landscaping, paying for the water used by the automatic irrigation system and two planters which it was felt would eliminate three parking stalls.

Most of these objections were dropped last night, Leitzell said.

Mapes was unable to be reached by telephone for comment on the landscaping brouhaha.

Laird, Packard On Stand To Defend Sentinel Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the United States "cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities" but contended the modified antiballistic missile (ABM) system would "protect people by making sure a nuclear attack doesn't occur in the first place."

Opening the Nixon administration's fight for public and congressional approval of the controversial ABM project, Laird said the system is based on the theory, "We must rely on our deterrents to make sure a nuclear attack doesn't start."

Laird rejected the contention by ABM opponents that the project is an escalation of the arms race. He called it instead "a building block for peace" which "opens the door wider to mutual arms control" with the Soviet Union.

"It strengthens our ability to prevent nuclear war," Laird told the Senate Armed Services Committee headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.

FBI Agent Foils Hijack Of Plane At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A gunman who had ordered a flight to Cuba was disarmed and arrested aboard an airliner by an FBI agent among the passengers when the plane landed here to refuel.

As the agent, big, graying John Reed, struggled with the would-be hijacker, the man's .22-caliber pistol went off, but the bullet richocheted off the floor without hitting anybody.

The FBI identified the gunman as Douglas Alton Dickey, 27, and said documents in his possession showed he was born in Casa Grande, Ariz. He was held on a federal charge of air piracy, which carries a maximum penalty of death.

Robert E. Rightmyer, agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, said Dickey boarded the plane, Delta Airlines Flight 918, last night at Dallas.

Rightmyer said the man produced his pistol and took over the plane about five minutes before it was scheduled to land at New Orleans. He agreed to a landing when the pilot said he could not make it to Cuba without refueling.

Once the plane was on the ground, Rightmyer said, the gunman said the 89 other passengers could get off. The last passenger to approach the exit door, where the man stood gun in hand, was Reed, assistant special agent in charge at Oklahoma City.

Reed stopped in front of the man and informed him he was under arrest. He said the man replied:

"I do not intend to kill you but I am going to Havana and I am going to shoot you in the leg."

Beatle John Lennon, Yoko Ono Married

It was the second marriage for both and the second for the Beatles in eight days. Paul McCartney married an American divorcee, Linda Eastman, in London March 12.

The first Mrs. Lennon was granted custody of their 5-year-old son Julian. She also received alimony which she described as "generous."

Miss Ono first attracted notoriety in Britain as a film producer, when she made a movie showing 365 bare human bottoms and nothing else. She and Lennon also caused a stir recently with a record cover showing the two of them in a front nude view on one side and a rear nude view on the other.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Dueling Again

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab and Israeli forces dueled again in the violence-scarred Beisan Valley south of the Sea of Galilee today. The Israeli army said two border policemen were wounded.

The army reported an Israeli frontier patrol was the target of bazooka and small arms fire near Tirat Zvi, 20 miles south of the sea. The patrol returned the fire.

It was the second day of action along the Jordanian cease-fire line. Several Israeli border settlements were fired on yesterday, and Israeli planes roared across the Jordan River to hammer suspected guerrilla positions.

Piano To Library

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon plans to present the grand piano played by former President Harry S Truman to the Truman Library in Independence, Mo. The piano has been in the White House family quarters.

White House sources said the piano had been shipped to Independence and Nixon hopes to make the presentation when he visits Truman tomorrow on his way to California.

Like Nixon, Truman enjoyed playing the piano. He frequently entertained family and friends while in the White House.

Quakes Felt

PASADENA (AP) — A series of about 10 earthquakes, pinpointed in the Gulf of California off Mexico's west coast, was recorded in an hour early today by the seismology station at California Institute of Technology.

The strongest tremor hit 5.5 on the Richter scale — potentially damaging.

Not Giving Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Park Service, despite manpower problems, has decided not to turn its camping grounds over to private operators just yet.

Director George B. Hartzog Jr., announced today that the service will continue to operate the national park campgrounds this year, while studying its two experiments in allowing grounds to be operated by concessionaires to reduce personnel.

Undersecretary Russell E. Train said he had instructed the National Park Service to review the concession policy.

Weapon Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration says it plans to begin testing next week a new antihijacker device designed to tell if passengers boarding airplanes are carrying weapons.

David D. Thomas, acting administrator of the FAA, said the devices would first be tried secretly at various terminals served by Eastern Air Lines — the company hardest hit by hijackers. Passengers will not know they are being checked.

Thomas would not identify the airports involved, but said it could be assumed they would include Washington National and the major New York City fields.

Auto Recall Mail Costs $1 Million

DETROIT (AP) — The first letters notifying more than 3 million Chevrolet owners that their cars or trucks may have defects go into the mail today, more than three weeks after General Motors announced it was recalling the vehicles.

Chevrolet Division said the letters would go out by certified mail at the rate of 100,000 a day until all the owners are told to take their vehicles to dealers for inspection or service.

At that rate it should take until the middle of May to inform all the owners.

$1 MILLION COST

At 36 cents a certified letter the postage alone will cost over $1 million.

The Chevrolet cars and trucks are part of the 4.9 million vehicles called in by G.M. on Feb. 26 in the auto industry's largest recall campaign.

Chevrolet said the delay in getting out the letters was caused by shortage of a new part, the time required to put together a list of the owners to be notified and "just getting the massive paper work done."

Chevrolet is the last of the G.M. divisions to get started in mailing its recall letters.

Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac are already mailing letters to tell nearly 1.4 million owners of 1968 and 1969 vehicles they may have problems.

RECORDS PROBLEM

The problem of notifying the owners of 2.4 million Chevrolets which may have exhaust system defects is aggravated by the fact that some are 1965 and 1966 models.

Since the beginning of the 1967 model run, auto manufacturers rather than dealers have been required to notify owners of recalls. Since August 1966 G.M. has stored in a computer the serial number and owner's name and address on every car sold, a spokesman said.

To get the names of the owners of the 1965 and 1966 model Chevies, however, the division had to go to R.L. Polk and Co., the only firm in the country which keeps tracks of the motor vehicle registrations in all 50 states.

Mildred Donivan, manager of Polk's automotive special services department, says Polk had to run a computer search on the registrations of 68.8 million cars and 13.5 million trucks to come up with a basic list of owners of 2.3 million 1965 and 1966 Chevrolets.

Peru Seizes More U.S. Tuna Boats

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru seized two more U.S. tuna boats but released them last night after their captains paid $25,000 in fines.

The incident could complicate the negotiations John Irwin, a special representative of President Nixon, is beginning with the Peruvian government over the expropriation of U.S. oil properties.

Irwin, who arrived last week, declined to comment on the seizure of the two ships from San Diego, the Cape Anne and the San Juan, 23 miles off the north coast of this Andean nation.

A Peruvian torpedo boat took the two U.S. ships in tow. Peru claims a 200-mile territorial fishing limit while the United States and most other nations recognize a 12-mile limit.

For the San Juan, whose captain had to pay a $17,000 fine, it was the second encounter with Peruvian naval power. Last Feb. 14, when a gunboat seized another U.S. ship, the San Juan was fired on.

The Cape Anne, whose captain paid an $8,000 fine, was involved in a similar incident in 1965 when it sailed under the name Mayflower, maritime sources here said. Then it was sailing 75 miles offshore when a Peruvian vessel fired at it, slightly wounding an American seaman.

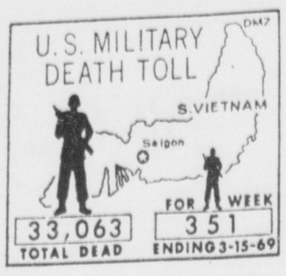
In Washington, several congressmen called for reprisals against Peru, and Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, R-Wash., said there have been nearly 80 "illegal" seizures of American tuna boats on Latin-American coasts since 1961.

Film Banned

LONDON (UPI) — A film on teen-agers and drugs, made by British schoolboys, has been banned from national television by a county education board. Two major British television firms had asked to show the film, which includes one youth on an LSD trip.

U.S. Toll In Vietnam Nears Korea Losses

SAIGON (AP) — Th U.S. Command announced today that 351 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, pushing the total of U.S. battlefield dead to 10,112 in the 10 months since the Paris peace talks began and to 33,063 in more than eight years of war.



The American toll last week was 15 more than the previous week's total and raised the number of Americans killed in the first three weeks of the Viet Cong's spring offensive to 1,140, only 240 less than the 1,380 U.S. troops reported killed during the eight weeks of 1969 prior to the offensive.

If the current casualty rate continues the total of American dead in the Vietnam war will exceed the Korean war toll of 33,629 by the end of this month.

South Vietnamese casualties were 325 killed and 1,156 wounded, up from 259 and 1,058 the previous week, the government said.

U.S. headquarters said 4,137 of the enemy were killed last week, bringing the total enemy dead to at least 119,100 since the Paris talks began last May and to at least 465,479 since the United States entered the war on Jan. 1, 1961.

The enemy toll for the first three weeks of the offensive is 15,099 dead according to allied figures.

As the enemy's offensive rolled into its 26th day with no end in sight, U.S. headquarters reported about 30 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns last night. For the second night, the chief target was Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and a major military base.

For the second day ground fighting also was reported south of Da Nang, and this time close to the city. South Vietnamese infantry reported killing 66 North Vietnamese in two clashes yesterday within 10 miles of the city. First reports said at least two South Vietnamese were killed and about a dozen wounded.

Elsewhere in the northern sector, a North Vietnamese force overran a militia compound near Tam Ky, but U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops took it back and killed 18 of the enemy in a sharp fight.

Invasion Of Anguilla Is Bloodless

ANGUILLA (AP) — British troops, broiled under the Caribbean sun today as they went through the motions of military occupation. The Anguillans remained quiet following the bloodless invasion of their tiny island.

The 6,000 Anguillans offered no armed resistance to the occupation by 135 British paratroopers and marines, and there was only one major emotional outburst.

When acting President Ronald Webster called on British officers at their command headquarters yesterday, a crowd of about 300 of his people hoisted him to their shoulders, shouted their support and sang the Anguillan freedom song to the tune of the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Webster also protested the invasion in a note to London last night.

TRAIN SABOTAGED, TOO

Two engines and 31 cars of a 40-car Southern Pacific freight train litter Suisun Valley west of Fairfield, Solano County, as firemen battle flames started in two cars full of white phosphorus. Officials said the train, bound for Oakland, was sabotaged yesterday by rail disconnection, and suggested that both the $500,000 train damage and the earlier inferno caused by dynamiting a Shell Oil Co. pipeline in Canyon, Contra Costa County may have been sabotage by groups opposing the Vietnam War. Shell has offered a $50,000 reward for information on the pipe dynamiter. (UPI Telephoto)

Campus Woe Likened To Hitler Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — Psychologist Bruno Bettelheim says there are striking similarities between student disorders in the United States and the upheaval in German universities that preceded the rise of Adolf Hitler.

Bettelheim, a survivor of Hitler's concentration camps, says a determination to bring down the establishment is the same motive in both cases, but the great danger now is to the universities, not the nation.

IDEALIST VIEW

In testimony prepared for House Education subcommittee hearings on student unrest, Bettelheim said a further parallel between today and pre-Nazi Germany is a prevailing attitude that the disorderly youths are idealists concerned with the real issues of society.

"Then as now," he said, "the rebellious students were pictured as a new generation disgusted with the complacency of their parents, fighting courageously for a better world."

Bettelheim, a professor of psychology at the University of Chicago, said many modern student rebels are in fact overwrought adolescents pushed unwillingly into college.

"I think it is unnatural to keep a young person for some 20 years in dependency, and attending school," said Bettelheim.

TRAINING URGED

Bettelheim said instead of pursuing a policy of college education for everyone the United States should develop high-level vocational education to train youngsters for jobs that will give their lives meaning and purpose.

He said special prep schools should be established for both black and white youngsters from culturally deprived backgrounds so they will be able to enter college on an equal footing with other youths.

And to counteract the disrupt of influence of the student militants, he said, the universities should use their full administrative powers to control the situation and try to organize the non-rebellious students into an effective counterforce.

Progressive Schooling Argued In Mill Valley

Progressive education and resulting community polarization emerged last night as the major issue in the Mill Valley School District board campaign.

The six men and one woman vying for three positions on the school board spoke on the issues and the functions of the board at a Parent-Teachers Association candidates' night at Homestead School.

Also mentioned as issues were communication between the board and the community and the 75-cent tax hike election scheduled for June 3.

But the type of education being offered in Mill Valley schools — individualized instruction, ungraded classes, independent study and other innovative methods — was the major topic.

Candidate Robert E. Murphy, an attorney, said residents he has talked with are most concerned about innovation and the rate is being accomplished in Mill Valley schools.

People are also concerned about "relations between the board and the superintendent. Some feel the board has abdicated its authority to the superintendent," he said.

Dr. John Lee, a Mill Valley general practitioner, approved of "liberalization of education" but warned that it must be evaluated as it progresses.

William Broderick, a sales engineer, said, "People wonder if the basic academic skills will be lost or de-emphasized" in the new methods of education. He was less enthusiastic than some of the other candidates on the matter of progressive education but commented that he believes youngsters are still getting the basic skills.

"We should stress the individual," said candidate William P. Everts Jr., the only incumbent. Everts firmly favored continuing present methods.

Joyce B. Ladar, a housewife and mother, called communication "a very serious problem" in the district as she favored "educational leadership."

John Eliot, an attorney, commented on the split in the community brought on by new methods of teaching and learning, pointing out "a lot of people don't understand these educational theories," while others are "too enthusiastic."

John H. Cutler, an attoney, explored problems of community relations, an area he said the present board has neglected. He favored forming citizen committees to study changes before the changes are made, not after, as occurred last year in the methods of reporting to parents.

All of the candiates mentioned the June tax election as a secondary issue and none spoke against it. However, each one favored finding new means of support to relieve the property tax.

During a question and answer period following individual statements, candidates were asked to comment on the effect of self-directed programs on children when they reach high school.

Everts indicated the youngsters would be far ahead or, he hoped, at least excited and enthusiastic about school.

Eliot didn't share his enthusiasm, pointing out there is no assurance now the effect will be good. "It's one argument for unification" to continue the same method of education through high school.

Mrs. Ladar pointed out that Tamalpais High School is moving in the same direction as Mill Valley elementary schools with such innovations as modular scheduling.

Candidates were also asked to comment on the many people who are unhappy with unstructured learning, particularly as Old Mill School which is in a total program of progressive education.

Mrs. Ladar commented that the unstructured program involved looking at the child and seeing how much he is learning, not just getting through a book in a year.

Each of the candidates expressed the belief that education should not be all one way — that there should be choices.

Everts pointed out that the kind of teachers and superintendent the district has engender an excitement for learning and suggested correcting litter problems which some people associated with permissiveness.

Answering a question on communication, Murphy said, "Many people don't come (to board meetings) because they don't feel there is a real discussion." He would ask for more explanation and discussion and send board minutes out to anyone who wants them.

Bomber-Type F111 Cut Back Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Pentagon leadership hs all but shot down the FB111 strategic bomber former defense chief Robert S. McNamara insisted would be a good replacement for aging B52s.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told Congress yesterday he is cutting plans for the swing-wing jet to only four squadrons—a nominal 60 planes.

Three years ago McNamara was proposing 250 FB111s—variants of the controversial TFX design—contending it would be about as good, and less expensive, as another advanced bomber the Air Force could develop to haul its nuclear bombs in the 1970s.

Laird made plain he was buying the four squadrons mainly to recover something from the vast funds spent on the program —"to salvage what we can of the work in process.

Despite months of work, Laird said, the FB111 "is still experiencing development and production difficulties and the cost per aircraft continues to mount."

In an even more damaging comment on the McNamara theory, Laird asserted that "the FB111 will not meet the requirements for a true intercontinental bomber."

Pentagon officials said the 60 planes will cost $1.7 billion over-all, which includes heavy research and development expenses. McNamara originally estimated 250 models would cost $1.9 billion.

Laird said he would accelerate efforts to develop a completely new nuclear-equipped plane the Air Force calls the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft—AMSA.

Clausen Backs Drug Courses

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A bill to set up federal programs to encourage better education about drug abuse was introduced today by Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District.

The $44 million called for in the bill would set up new drug abuse courses, help communities set up "drug alert" seminars, and help school districts provide demonstration projects on drug abuse education.

It also would finance special courses on drug education for teachers.

The $44 million expenditure would be through June, 1974.

Naming his bill the "Drug Abuse Education Act of 1969," Clausen said in a press statement that "our educational systems must now focus attention on this extremely serious health and social problem."

Petaluma Market Hit By Burglars

Burglars made off with 138 cans of beer after breaking into Mallet's grocery store, 1004 B Street, Petaluma, yesterday.

Also taken were 200 loose packs of cigarettes, 12 cartons of cigarettes, six cartons of candy and $1 in pennies. Total value was set at $168. Police said entry was made by breaking a window on the east side of the building.

Firemen's Dance

The annual St. Patrick's Day dance — the proceeds to go to the sick and benefit fund of the Novato Volunteer Firemen — will be held from 9 p.m. Saturday to 1 a.m. at the IDESI hall at Machin and Sweetser avenues in Novato, according to co-chairmen Robert P. Nolan and Robert S. Ruzick.

Whites In Gary, Ind., Want Out

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Mayor Richard G. Hatcher, a Negro, has launched a grass roots campaign to head off the detachment from the city of half its white population—and 20 per cent of its property tax revenues.

The threat comes from a move to disannex, or place outside the city limits, the Glen Park suburban area on the south side with its 42,000 residents, nearly all whites. In the entire city, whites number only slightly more than 80,000.

Glen Park political leaders concede there are racial overtones. But they say the major complaint is that Glen Park property taxes are being funneled into city spending in central Gary, predominantly Negro, while city services in Glen Park are neglected.

Hatcher has begun a series of meetings in suburban homes in an attempt to spike the detachment move, which he says would cost Glen Park residents higher taxes in the long run.

"Gary has become a fishbowl and the eyes of the nation are upon us," he said at one meeting. He added that taking Glen Park away would mean that "democracy as we know it doesn't work."

Negroes comprise about 55 per cent of Gary's population of 180,000. Among cities with a Negro elected mayor it is second in size only to Cleveland.

New York College Campus Building Held By Students

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

More than 200 students occupied the administration building of the State University of New York's Buffalo campus today after destroying two shacks at a U.S. Navy research project and burning blueprints and two Chicago - area colleges were closed yesterday and police went to a third.

A group of Negro youths leaving a basketball game at Fifth Avenue High School in Pittsburgh stoned police cars and barricaded several streets with garbage cans. At least 16 persons were arrested. One policeman was injured by a thrown object.

In Chicago, 300 dissident black students held the 18-story YMCA College in downtown Chicago for seven hours yesterday, complaining the school planned to drop 280 students from a federal work-study program. They barricaded themselves in the building and no classes were held.

A newly-elected black alderman, Fred Hubbard of Chicago's Second Ward, met with the students and said there might be a program cutback, but it would come from Washington—not the YMCA College. The students took down their barricades after seven hours.

Chicago State College on the South Side was closed after fights between white and Negro students.

Black students said a white youth, Michael Brennan, 19, sprayed Mace at a Negro girl in the cafeteria. Brennan said he grabbed a can of Mace from one of the blacks after they threatened him because he refused to accept "black power literature."

At other campuses:

New York — Twenty-one students who sat-in at the State University of New York's Stony Brook campus were sentenced to 15 days in the Suffolk County Jail at Commack after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of loitering.

Human Leg Bone Found On Coast

A human leg bone found on the Marin coast just south of the Sonoma County line has been sent to the Marin County coroner's office for possible identification.

Sonoma State College anatomist Dr. Ralph Bushnell said the bone probably was from a person who had not been dead for long.

The Sonoma County sheriff's office said in Santa Rosa that the bone was found last weekend by Dr. Chris Kjeldsen, a Sonoma State College marine biologist.

Asst. Marin Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said pathology tests will be conducted on the bone when his office receives it and coroner's investigators will also inspect the area where the bone was found wedged in some rocks.

Youth Held In Burglary Probe

Brian Kurt Armstrong, 17, of 79 King Street, Mill Valley, was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall yesterday on suspicion of burglary, Mill Valley police reported.

Police said Armstrong burglarized the homes of Elizabeth Mertin, 75 Millside Lane, Henry J. Fernades, 211 Helens Lane and a third house in the same neighborhood yesterday.

Records, cigarettes, a woman's wristwatch and fur stole were taken from Mrs. Mertin's house, police said. Inventory of items taken from the other two houses was not complete today.

Shortly after Fernades reported the burglary at his home at 3:20 p.m. officers saw a youth walking down Molino Avenue carrying some of the stolen property. Upon questioning, the youth said Armstrong had given him the items, according to police.

Jury Selection Still Unfinished

Juror selection continued today for the second day in Marin Superior Court in the trial of Gabe Jackson, community worker for the Sausalito School District, who is charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Jackson, 32, is charged with the Aug. 23 shooting of Frederick Washington of Marin City.

The shooting occurred on a Marin street after an argument over a gambling debt.

Jackson, who is reprensented by Willaim O. Weissich of San Rafael, has claimed that he shot Washington in self defense.

The trial is being held in the court room of Judge Harold J. Haley.

Father Booked In Beating Case

A 48-year-old San Anselmo construction worker was arrested yesterday after neighbors reported to police that he has beaten his 5-year-old child with objects such as a metal golf club, a cane and a baseball bat.

Ernest Carl Carson of 10 Elm Court was booked into Marin County Jail on a warrant charging child abuse, with bail set at $660, police reported.

Police said they arrested Carson at 5:30 p.m. at his home after they saw the man's son, Rolfe, playing in a neighbor's yard with a large cut under his right eye and the boy's face bruised and swollen.

Killing Witness Found Murdered

BOSTON (AP) — One of the chief state witnesses in the slaying of three men last November in the headquarters of a Negro self-help organization was found shot to death today.

Police identified the victim as Ronald Hicks, 41, of Boston, one of two survivors of the shootings which occurred Nov. 13 at the office of the New England Grass Roots Organization (NEGRO).

Hicks was found dead with two bullet wounds behind an ear. Police said his body was discovered in his $8,000 car parked in the Back Bay section.

The 1968 law requires evaporative loss control devices on 1970 models for the first time. It also imposes restrictions on oxides of nitrogen for the first time on 1971 models—although some auto makers have said they could not make the 1971 deadline.

The Air Resources Board approved the gasoline evaporation device built for the new Ford Maverick, a low - priced auto designed to compete with foreign imports. The 1970 model goes on sale this April.

Special seals and traps prevent gasoline vapors from escaping the tank. Instead, they are collected and forced into a charcoal filter apparatus near the engine. From there, the vapors are forced into the engine and burned.

Meanwhile, the board was told that oxides of nitrogen, another smog component, can be cut by one-third on virtually any auto merely by disconnecting the spark advance. The advance apparatus is designed to make the engine fire with maximum compression. This makes for more power, but contributes to inefficient burning of the gasses.

Insurance Is Hiked By Panel

Strawberry Recreation District directors last night voted to increase the district's liability insurance to $2 million per person and $2 million per occurance, secretary Jeanne Heick reported.

Annual premium for the new policy which will also include $100,000 for property damage will be $363, Mrs. Heick said.

Directors named Sandra Schultz of Fairfax director of the summer swim program, replacing Danil Shillinger, director for the past two years.

Miss Schultz will be paid $500 for the eight-week program, Mrs. Heick said. Directors also approved a $3 an hour salary for the three instructors in the swim program.

Probation Is Given In Marijuana Case

Gwendolyn Marjorie Vasco, 35, of no fixed address, yesterday was placed on one-year probation and given a 30-day jail sentence with execution stayed for a count of possessing marijuana and one of illegally using a credit card.

Three additional credit card charges against her had been dismissed earlier by Judge Harold J. Haley, who sentenced her yesterday. Miss Vasco admitted having marijuana in San Rafael on July 14 and using a credit card owned by a San Rafael woman to buy more than $1,000 worth of articles last year.

Russell Will Undergo Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, one of the most powerful men in Congress, announced today he will immediately undergo cobalt treatments for a lung tumor.

"I think it is fair to assume it is malignant," the senator said in a tape recording played to newsmen by his press aide.

Russell, president pro tem of the Senate and chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said he will continue in the Senate.

"The doctors advised me strongly to continue my work and to await the outcome of treatment," the veteran Georgia Democrat said.

"I've decided to take that course."

SENTINEL

given it last week by President Nixon, the defense secretary said it "is not a stumbling block to arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union," adding: "The Soviet Union is given an added incentive to negotiate a meaningful agreement."

In the event the Soviets fail to take advantage of this opportunity, Laird said, the Safeguard strengthens the nation's defense posture by providing greater protection of its strategic deterrent force.

Laird made clear his program is aimed both at the possibility of a Communist Chinese missile attack in the 1970s and the growing offensive missile force of the Soviet Union.

Deputy Secretary David R. Packard, who followed Laird to the witness stand, said flatly the proposal rejects the idea of a later expansion into a "thick" network designed to protect American cities from Soviet attack.

In a change of plans the Armed Services Committee opened the hearings today to television. Hearings before the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on the disarmament tomorrow also will be televised.

Packard also reported:

That Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles deployment and development are continuing and that "parity has been reached" with U.S. missile forces.

No Official Panel Backing

The Mill Valley Human Rights Commission has not officially supported the Mill Valley Youth Commission, as reported in Tuesday's Independent-Journal.

Rights Commission Chairman Roger J. Fleischmann said his group would be glad to consider the proposal whenever it might be brought before his commission but said no action has been taken at the present time.

At Monday night's council meeting, Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos said he had discussed youth problems with the human rights commission but made no mention of any endorsement of the proposed commission.

NIXON

pected at the Ogden home by nightfall.

The Nixons plan to visit the old mission at San Juan Capistrano on Saturday. The President will confer at breakfast Sunday with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, arriving Saturday night from Vietnam.

With the Nixons, General Goodpaster and Bunker plan to return to Washington later Sunday aboard Air Force One.

"He enjoys visiting the mission and wants to go there," press aide Ron Ziegler said of Nixon's visit to Capistrano, seven miles from San Clemente. That tour is planned for about noon Sunday.

Owner Thomas A. Merrick, a retired contractor, and real estate man Glenn W. Webb said yesterday they have met four times in the past month with six Key Biscayne, Fla., businessmen who they say have expressed an interest in acquiring it for Nixon's possible use.

Merrick and Webb said the businessmen, who asked that their names be kept confidential, made no pretense of representing the President in any official or unofficial capacity.

The castle, which took three years and $200,000 to construct and was completed in 1931, was built by Walter Pyne, said to be an eccentric oil millionaire.

After Pyne's death in 1945, the mansion changed hands several times, ending up in Merrick's possession. By then it had been converted into a 13-unit apartment house, all now occupied.

The building, along with two big guest houses and a goat barn, stands on five unfenced acres of statuary-covered land. It overlooks the Pacific Ocean and can be seen from the Pacific Coast Highway. The land adjoins a large tract of undeveloped property owned by the Irvine Co.

The castle and land are valued at about $800,000 on the open market, Webb said. But he added that if the property was acquired for Nixon's use, the sale price "would be substantially less."

Nixon, Merrick said, has visited the castle many times, often in his youth and most recently last July at a Republican fund-raising affair during the presidential campaign.

Nicasio Trustees Eye Class Cut

Elimination of its kindergarten in 1969-70 was discussed Tuesday night by the Nicasio School District board, but no decision was reached.

The class currently has nine pupils, but only three are expected next year, according to Beverly Alberigi, board secretary.

A decision is expected at the next meeting, 8 p.m. April 15 at Nicasio School.

The board voted to oppose the proposed three-way split of the Tamalpais High School District, Miss Alberigi reported. Board members pointed out there is no guarantee the district would even be able to keep its school, she said.

Theft Reported

Pair Booked As Suspects In Burglary

Two Oakland men suspected of burglary were arrested by San Rafael police yesterday after their escape route was blocked by heavy traffic.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary were Claude William Allen Jr., 25, and Jimmie Lovell Walker, 20. Allen was also booked on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

The men allegedly attempted to burgle the home of Kerry W. Hill of 190 Bayview Acres, sheriff's deputies said. However, the house was occupied and the men were scared off, deputies reported.

San Rafael police received word to be on the lookout for the suspects and shortly police sighted them speeding west on Third Street.

Police attempted to stop the car without success and the chase began with speeds up to 60 miles an hour. When the suspects reached Irwin Street, their path was blocked by traffic and they turned into a filling station, scattering patrons in their path, police said.

Traffic blocked their exit from the station and the men left their car on foot, followed by police who stopped them. The men were turned over to deputies.

Both were held on bail of $6,250 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

O'Brien's Jury Reports A Split

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The jury in the manslaughter trial of police officer Michael O'Brien announced yesterday it was split 10-2 then retired for the third straight day without reaching a verdict.

Superior Court Judge Joseph Karesh asked the panel of seven men and five women not to reveal whether the split was in favor of conviction or acquittal in the trial of the 28-year-old O'Brien.

O'Brien has been accused of the fatal shooting of Negro truck driver George Baskett in an alley near the Hall of Justice last Sept. 29. The shooting climaxed an argument caused by a minor traffic accident.

Giant Railroad Merger Backed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing examiner recommended today approval of the $6.4 billion merger of the Norfolk & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio rail systems.

The giant merger, which will include nine railroads, would stretch from Maine to North Carolina and from the Tidewater Area of Virginia to Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri.

ing on a firing range the day before an assassination—as Sirhan did—or lying in wait for the senator—as Sirhan did—was not an act of premeditation.

"He's not a rational man," Richardson said of Sirhan, "he's a man who makes his decisions on a psychotic basis, not on a rational basis."

The defense is trying to prove that Sirhan did not have the mentality to meaningfully plan Kennedy's murder. Premeditation is essential to a first-degree murder conviction.

The psychologist, on the stand for the third day at Sirhan's murder trial, said of the possibility that Sirhan had prepared for the assassination: "That would be of the same kind of psychotic premeditation as a person in a mental ward plotting to steal the keys on the evening shift."

A third defense psychologist, Dr. Stephen J. Howard of the San Fernando Valley Child Guidance Clinic, testified Sirhan is a borderline psychotic personality—"an individual who will go in and out of psychosis."

Howard said he evaluated raw data sent to him by Dr. Richardson on March 4 and the tests showed Sirhan was "tired of the constant fight between strong impulses and drives which are seeking to come out and the defenses that tend to inhibit these drives."

The defenses, Howard said, were weakened and no longer able to inhibit the drives.

Sirhan's courtroom behavior has changed since the start of the trial.

Once attentive, he now barely glances at the witnesses. Once easily aroused to fury by any suggestion that he is mentally ill, Sirhan now sits quietly—almost dreamily—as psychologists say he is sick and getting sicker.

There was one such occasion yesterday as Dr. Roderick Richardson described him variously as:

Driving Case Warrant Issued

Miranda, of San Francisco, appeared in Baty's court Feb. 26 and was ordered to pay a fine of $120 for mechanical violations on his motorcycle and for driving with a revoked license, or spend 10 days in jail.

The deadline to pay the fine was March 12, according to court clerk Stella Philipscheck, but neither Miranda nor his money appeared.

Bridge Bombing Blamed On Child

(UPI Telephoto map)

Egypt Pilgrim Plane Crashes; Fire Kills 92

CAIRO (UPI)—A Soviet-made turboprop crammed with Moslems returning from Mecca scuffed a wing on landing at Aswan today and burst into flames. Ninety-two persons were killed.

The United Arab Airlines Ilyushin-18 carried a crew of seven and 94 Moslem pilgrims—a total of 101 persons. Fourteen survived but five of them died later in hospitals.

Reports said a wing dipped and caught the runway, turning the airliner into a tumbling ball of flame.

The wreckage blocked the runway and closed the airport at Aswan, 500 miles south of Cairo on the Nile River.

Both Cairo Radio and the Middle East News Agency (MENA) carried reports of the crash—Egypt's worst air disaster since May 20, 1965, when a Pakistani International airliner crashed near Cairo, killing 121.

New Orleans Plane Crash Kills 15 Of 26 Aboard

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A privately owned plane bound for a British Honduras duck and jaguar hunt with 26 persons aboard crashed and burned today in a thick fog at New Orleans International Airport. Fifteen persons died and 11 survived.

The survivors were taken to the New Orleans Ochsner Foundation Hospital.

A temporary morgue was being set up on the east-west runway for the 15 persons killed.

The flight originated in Memphis, Tenn.

Officials in Washington said the FBI disaster squad was en route to assist in identification of the bodies. The plane had been chartered by the Western Tennessee Sportsman's Association.

C. L. Broadwell, 52, a survivor and an alumnium contractor from Memphis said the plane crashed "to the best of my knowledge because the man misjudged his landing."

"The plane hit and bumped and the left wing broke," he said.

Planners Heed College's Protest On Cotati Zoning

Northwestern Pacific Railroad, the landowner, requested the area be zoned all industrial so it might lease the land to an auto-wrecking and storage firm.

The commission heard protests from neighbors and officials at Sonoma State College, who said the proposed zone would be detrimental to the area and the entrance to the college.

The commission voted to zone the front portion of the property from the railroad tracks to the street as commercial which would permit an auto repair service. The rear portion of the property zoned industrial will permit the auto dismantling service.

The Cotati Planning Commission also:

REZONED — Approved rezoning request of Laurine M. Starr that her property at 8356 Gravenstein Highway be changed from residential to commercial to permit the erection of a commercial sign.

LOT SPLIT — Approved the splitting of one lot on East Cotati Avenue into two lots as requested by Paul Golis of Cofego Enterprises. Lot sizes are 150 by 325 feet and 1,252 by 175 feet.

EXPANSION — Approved request of Richard Schueman to enlarge his home at 845 Cypress Avenue.

NAME CHANGE — Recommended that the city council change the name of Sierra and East Cotati avenues to Sonoma State Boulevard to honor nearby Sonoma State College.

Pueblo Air Cover Too Far, Too Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fighter planes were sent to the aid of the Pueblo when she was attacked in the Sea of Japan last year but darkness engulfed the area before the aircraft could arrive, an Air Force general said yesterday.

Lt. Gen. Seth J. McKee, former commander of the U.S. Fifth Air Force, said he dispatched F105s armed with 20 mm cannon when he learned of the Pueblo's plight but the planes were too far away to arrive before the intelligence ship was captured.

The Pueblo was on a mission off North Korea collecting intelligence when she was captured Jan. 23, 1968 and taken into Wonsan Harbor.

After the seizure, there was criticism, much of it from Congress, that airplanes were not dispatched to prevent the North Koreans from commandeering the ship.

McKee, now vice chief of staff for the Air Force, emphasized he acted as quickly as he could to get fighter planes to the scene.

"I personally made the decision to send aircraft, issued appropriate orders to effect such action and Fifth Air Force fighters were launched" the general told a special House armed services subcommittee probing the capture of the Pueblo.

McKee said his command began launching fighter aircraft as soon as possible out of Okinawa, where the only operationally ready combat units were located.

"Unfortunately, they could not get to the scene prior to darkness or prior to the time that the Pueblo entered the three-mile limit," he said. "Therefore after they landed in Korea, it was too late to refuel and relaunch in support of the Pueblo."

McKee said the planes were sent from Okinawa to Osan, South Korea, to refuel because they did not carry sufficient fuel to go directly to the ship and engage in possible combat.

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., subcommittee chairman, and several other members lauded McKee for the actions he took even though the planes could not reach the Pueblo in time to be of help.

"Even from the lofty view of hindsight," Pike said, "We don't find much wrong with the actions you took. I feel sort of good about someone who will stick his neck out and try to do something."

Storm Damage At $265 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI)—California suffered damage of at least $265 million in recent floods and faces the threat of disastrous new floods as heavy snowpacks melt in the mountains, Rep. Harold T. Johnson, D-Calif., testified today.

Johnson, from Roseville in Northern California, opened testimony before the House Public Works Committee in support of a disaster relief bill.

Johnson urged expenditure of $60 million during the next two fiscal years to help rebuild damaged roads that are not a part of the federal-aid highway system and thus not eligible for emergency funds under existing laws.

The $60 million is double what is being asked in the emergency legislation now pending in committee.

Final Check For Addition Is Approved

Final payment of $14,378 to the Filippo Construction Co. of San Rafael for the Omega addition to Granada School was approved last night by the Reed School District board, according to Supt. H. Joe Edgington.

Edgington said trustees voted to withhold $600 from the original bill of $14,978 because carpeting in the addition was damaged by leaks during recent rains.

Trustees accepted the resignation of Bonita Sanborn, teacher aide at Bel Aire School, effective immediately, because Mrs. Sanborn has found another job. The leave of absence for Elizabeth Livengood, former home economics teacher at Del Mar School, was extended through the 1969-70 school year, Edgington said.

Adoption of the 1969-70 school calendar was delayed at the request of the teachers' association, Edgington said.

Korean Exercise Held A Success

The U.S.-South Korean war games ended today and 2,500 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division prepared to fly back to Fort Bragg, N.C., tomorrow and Saturday.

The exercise began Monday with 720 of the paratroopers jumping onto the exercise site near Yoju, 40 miles southeast of Seoul, after an 8,500-mile flight from North Carolina.

American military officials in Seoul said all aspects of the maneuver were carried out satisfactorily.

Dock Strike Held Mail Delay Cause

LONDON (AP) — The British post office today blamed the two-month New York dock strike for the fact that Christmas mail from America is now being delivered nearly three months late.

A spokesman said more than 18,000 bags of mail and parcels, some bearing November postmarks, have been received since the beginning of the month.

Thoresens Face Only Two Counts

FRESNO (UPI)—Gun collector William E. Thoresen III and his wife, Louise, both face sentencing on two counts of violating federal firearms laws, U.S. Attorney Jerrold Ladar said yesterday.

UPI incorrectly reported Tuesday that Thoresen had been found guilty on three counts.

Ladar said Thoresen was listed on the second count in the indictment along with Mrs. Thoresen.

However, the attorney said Thoresen was not actually prosecuted on the charge which involved shipment of 20,400 rounds of ammunition from Tucson, Ariz., to Oakland.

Mrs. Thoresen was found guilty of aiding and abetting in the munitions shipment.

Both Thoresens were convicted of illegally transporting rifles from New Jersey to San Francisco, and Thoresen was found guilty of transporting two antitank guns from New York to Alameda County.

Swallows Back In Novato Area

Novato's swallows, which normally are a few days ahead of those at Capistrano, were at the old granary south of Gnoss Field yesterday morning, according to Peter Lind who is building restaurant there.

For several years the Novato swallows have arrived a few days before those at Capistrano which are noted for arriving on St. Joseph's Day, March 19.

"Ours may have been here for several days, but I did not look for them until yesterday morning, and there they were," Lind said.

Drug Policy Drafted For School Use

The rights of students and parents in drug abuse cases were outlined Tuesday night by the Novato Unified School District's Drug Policy Committee, according to chairman Gilbert R. Guerin.

The committee has been working for a month on procedures for the schools to handle drug offenders. It had previously outlined a plan to suspend a student involved in the possession, use, or sale of drugs or narcotics on or off a school grounds. The student would be given a hearing before the school administation committee composed of the principal, vice principal, dean and a counselor, Guerin said.

The rights of students during the hearing at the school and the hearing before the board of trustees, follow very closely those set up by the American Civil Liberties Union's recommendation, and the sections of the Educational Code which involve expulsion, Guerin said.

The committee's outline provided that the parent or guardian must be notified in writing and the student be allowed to have a representative of his choice at the hearing.

If the school committee recommends expulsion, the action will go before the board of trustees under the same procedure, Guerin said. If, after a closed meeting, the board decides to expel the student, it shall determine the length of the expulsion, he said. The decision shall be made public.

The completed outline of recommendations will be given to the school board at its April 7 meeting at the administration building, Guerin said.

Sewer District Signs Pact For Lines Takeover

Corte Madera Sanitary District directors have signed a contract with the Tamalpais High School District and Nellen Lands Inc. to purchase the Fifer-Tamalpais High School District sewer system, Secretary Portia Fitzgerald said today.

One of the main conditions of the contract is that the district be paid $12,200 as full payment for the Fifer-Tamalpais High School District pump station.

Directors also signed an agreement for acquisition and construction of improvements for an extension of the Paradise Cay subdivision's sewer system.

Tuesday night's meeting was the last meeting of the borad as district board members. Commencing April 1 the same directors will meet as a town commission since at that time the district will become subsidiary of the town of Corte Madera. Commission meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of the month in town hall.

Stereo tape players and tapes were taken from parked cars in two separate thefts in San Rafael Monday, police reported yesterday.

A stereo tape player and tapes worth $125 and tools worth $125 were stolen from the car of John Michael Biggs, of 530 Las Colindas Road, as it was parked early yesterday at his home. A wing window was broken by the thieves, police said.

A tape player and tapes worth $110 were also taken from the car of San Rafael High School student Craig M. Snagelle, 225 Glen Park Avenue, as it was parked on Third Street near the high school Tuesday morning. Police said entry was gained by jimmying a door lock.

Cigarette Smoke Leads To Arrest

Smoke from a cigarette led to the citizen's arrest Tuesday of a 64-year-old Rodd woman who reportedly jabbed another woman with her elbow at a San Anselmo snack bar, police said yesterday.

Lilliam Pearl Damner of Laurel Grove Avenue, Ross, was arrested by Gayle Trinterud of 497 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo on suspicion of assault and battery and booked into Marin County jail.

Mrs. Trinterud told officers she was jabbed in the left arm by Mrs. Damner at Safeway, 900 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard after Mrs. Damner asked her to move because Mrs. Trinterud's cigarette smoke was bothering her. The incident was reported at 6:25 p.m.

Woman Is Found Dead In Home

Miss Jones, a secretary for H. F. Suhr Co. Mortuary in San Francisco, died of an overdose of barbiturates, according to the Marin County coroner's office. A note found on a dining room table at her home indicated she took seconal sometime during the weekend.

Friends and co-workers of the deceased indicated that she had been feeling despondent recently, the coroner reported. When one friend got no answer to repeated phone calls to her home, he called police.

To Juvenile Court

Edwin M. Starling Jr., 19, of San Francisco was certified to Marin Juvenile Court Tuesday by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court. Starling is accused of attempting to use a stolen Emporium voucher and possession of an illegal hypodermic needle.

Drugs Suspect Says Only Drunk

A 20-year-old Mill Valley youth, arrested in San Anselmo Sunday night and thought at first to be under the influence of drugs, may only have been drunk, according to a physician at Mendocino State Hospital.

The Independent-Journal reported Monday that a psychiatrist at the Marin County Mental Health Center said that the youth, Peter Perdue of 70 Surrey Avenue, apparently was suffering withdrawal symptoms from use of heroin.

Dr. Allen Hassan at Mendocino State Hospital, who examined Perdue, said yesterday, that Perdue vigorously denied using drugs and said he was drunk when arrested. "We couldn't confirm it one way or the other," Hassan said. "But sometimes a person under the influence of liquor may exhibit all the symptons of being under the influence of drugs."

Strike Over, American Airlines Flying Again

The workers voted overwhelmingly yesterday to accept a new contract providing hourly wage increases of 25.5 per cent for line mechanics.

American, the nation's second largest domestic airline, alerted 7,500 furloughed employees, mostly flight crews, to return to work today even before the vote results were formally announced.

During the strike by 12,700 Transportation Workers Union members, the line's 225 jet airplanes were maintained by supervisory and management personnel.

The settlement was announced by Matthew Guinan, international president of the AFL-CIO union, who said it gave American employees "the best wages, pensions, medical insurance protection and job security in the airline industry."

Under the pact, which runs until Feb. 28, 1971, line mechanics' wages will increase from the present $4.16 to $5.21 in the final period of the contract. With added increments for longevity and other factors, some mechanics will receive $5.69.

American serves 52 cities in the United States, Canada and Mexico and normally carries about 50 000 passengers daily. About 15,000 of its employes were kept on the job during the strike.

The airline had gross revenue losses of $57 million during the strike, a spokesman said, but the final loss will not be known until it is determined how much the line receives from a mutual aid pact among major airlines. Under the pact, airlines which get extra business during a strike share part of the revenues with the struck line.

Girl May Be Sent To Juvenile Court

The case of Wendy Helen Handsaker, 18, of 609 Appleberry Drive, Lucas Valley, yesterday was referred to the probation department for possible certification to Marin Juvenile Court.

Miss Handsaker, who is accused of marijuana possession, was arrested in Sausalito last Thursday.

Ike's Progress Is Up And Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, saying she has lost 15 pounds during the long vigil by her husband's bedside, reports the former president "has some good days and some bad ones."

Mrs. Eisenhower said that last Saturday was a particularly bad day for her husband, hospitalized by repeated heart attacks since May.

"I didn't take my clothes off for 30 hours," she commented as she appeared at her second fashion show in two days yesterday.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital, in their last report on the former president about a week ago, said he was progressing well in his recovery from major intestinal surgery and later pneumonia.

Car Theft Suspect To Superior Court

Robert Bruce Lane, 28, former Marinite who now lives in Tacoma, Wash., was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on two counts of car theft.

Lane was arrested March 5 by Mill Valley police, who said he was driving a car stolen in San Francisco. He is also charged with stealing a car Feb. 13.

African Resolution Predicted To Pass

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council may pass a resolution tomorrow calling on South Africa to withdraw from South-West Africa, diplomats from Asia, Africa and Latin America predicted today.

U.S. support for the resolution has been assured, the diplomats said, by watering down provisions calling for boycott and use of armed force when South Africa ignores the resolution. Britain and France are expected to abstain, giving the measure a 13-0 margin.

Los Angeles Coroner Out Amid Claims

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The charges lodged against the man who handled the autopsy of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy were some of the most bizarre ever brought against a public official.

Detailed in a 10-page letter, the accusations strongly suggested Los Angeles County Coroner Thomas Noguchi, 42, suffered neurotic fantasies and needed psychiatric treatment.

Examples of erratic behavior catalogued by his staff and presented to his superiors by the county administrative officer included reports that:

Noguchi prayed for airplane crashes that would bring glory and renown to the coroner's office;

Noguchi expressed a strong desire to perform autopsies on county officials still alive.

RACISM CHARGED

Noguchi denied the charges "generally and specifically" and his wife, Hisako, said he was a victim of racial discrimination, but he was fired this week by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

Noguchi's attorney called the allegations "distorted, ridiculous and untrue" and said the dismissal would be appealed before the county civil service commission and the courts if necessary.

The letter, prepared by Administrative Officer Lindon S. Hollinger and addressed to Noguchi, said, "Many members of your staff, both lay and professional, have expressed grave doubts as to your mental health."

Specific accusations included:

After Kennedy was shot June 5, but before he died 25 hours later, Noguchi expressed the belief the senator would not live and his death would give the coroner a "chance to make a reputation."

'PRAYED FOR CRASH'

"On one occasion you stated that you prayed that Mayor Sam Yorty's helicopter would crash, because the press would be there and you would be there and this would bring glory and prestige to the office."

The letter quoted Noguchi as expressing to a physician the desire to perform autopsies on Hollinger, County Personnel Director Gordon T. Nesvig and Harry Hufford, county budget division chief. "But you further stated you might have to assassinate Hollinger first."

The letter said Noguchi's staff saw him taking drugs, some of which appeared to be amphetamines, and that doctors on his staff believed the bizarre symptoms indicated he had been taking both amphetamine and barbiturate drugs.

"You stated on several occasions that each night you prayer that a Boeing 727 loaded to capacity would crash into the International Hotel because the press would then come and Noguchi would be the center of attention," the letter charged.

None of the accusations involved the actual autopsy performed on Kennedy nor Noguchi's professional competence.

'DEATH AND DISASTER'

His lawyer, Godfrey Isaac, said of the charges: "Many of them seem to be distortions and misinterpretations of normal stressful situations which are inherent in dealing with death and disaster."

Heated controversy surrounded Noguchi's nomination for the $31,104-a-year post prior to his appointment Dec. 19, 1967 by a 3-2 vote of the board of supervisors.

He was opposed by both the UCLA and the University of Southern California medical schools and by the coroner committee of the county medical association on grounds he was inexperienced.

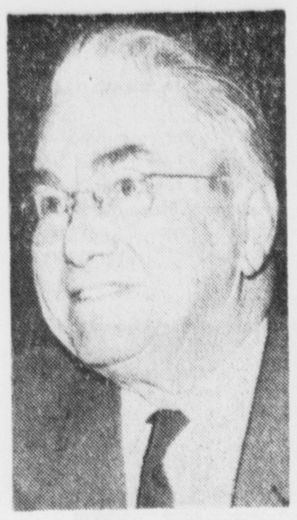
New Orleans Racial Integration Foe Dies



LEANDER H. PEREZ
Had many causes

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Leander H. Perez Sr., a short-tempered political czar once excommunicated by the Roman Catholic Church for resisting racial integration, is dead at the age of 77.

The multimillionaire boss of oil-rich Plaquemines Parish, whose wrath at various times centered on Negroes, Jews, political opponents and the U.S. Navy, was stricken with a heart attack last night at his Idlewild plantation.

He had been released Monday from a New Orleans hospital where he was treated for a heart attack suffered on Jan. 10.

Perez once declared he would oppose racial integration "til death." He was excommunicated in 1962 for blocking the opening of a Plaquemines parochial school which had admitted Negroes.

In 1966 a federal court issued a decree integrating the public schools of Plaquemines Parish, a low-lying area extending from south of New Orleans along the Mississippi River to the Gulf of Mexico. Perez, longtime president of the parish council, was placed under injunction not to interfere.

The injunction was still in force when he died.

In 1963 Perez tangled with the U.S. Navy, which has an air station within the parish at Belle Chasse, over the integration of bars and other public places in the area.

Perez had the parish council declare all drinking places off limits to unifored servicemen and the air station off limits to all civilians.

In 1968 Gov. John McKeithen appointed him a member of the state highway board. By then he had been succeeded as president of the parish council by his son Chalin.

In 1960 he resigned as district attorney of the parish, a post he had held for 36 years, and was succeeded by his son Leander Jr.

The two sons survive, along with two daughters, three sisters, 19 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Tri-Partite Panel Backs Bus System

The Marin County Transit District's bid to contract with the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to finance and operate a new bus system won unanimous endorsement yesterday from the Marin Tri-Partite Transportation Committee.

The transit district voted last December to begin immediate negotiations with the bridge district on a joint powers agreement for an inter-county system "at the earliest possible date."

The bridge board, however, has taken no action on the proposal, considering instead a plan that the bridge district go into the bus business on its own.

The plna, drawn by the bridge district's former engineer, Arthur C. Jenkins, said the transit district either could dissolve itself or operate a bus system within Marin.

Four of the five committee members present yesterday are on the bridge board: Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum, Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, San Francisco Supervisor Ronald Pelosi and Lowell Edington of Napa County. The other member present was Marin Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr.

Among the absent was San Francisco Supervisor Jack Morrison, who previously opposed the proposed joint powers agreement on the ground it could use up the same bridge funds he wants used for a ferry system.

A joint powers agreement would be necessary under the Jenkins plan, said Seymour Kashin, manager of the transit district, because buses between San Francisco and Sonoma inevitably would provide some local service within Marin on their way through.

The committee set its next meeting for 2 p.m. on April 9.

Horse Show Sunday

The 4 M Mounted Sheriff's Patrol horse show will be held Sunday, not Saturday as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal. The show will be at 8 a.m. Sunday at the Novato Horsemen's Arena.

Sausalito's Crime Rate Jumps In '68

Arrests and reported crimes in Sausalito climbed sharply in most categories in 1968, according to the annual report prepared by Police Chief James D. Wright.

Arrests last year totaled 1,435, up 66 from the previous year, while total offenses reported were 2,032 compared to 1,391 in 1967.

Sixty-nine per cent of the reported offenses were cleared, according to the report.

The department cleared the three reported rapes, three of nine reported robberies, 37 of 137 burglaries, 25 of 313 thefts, 14 of 67 car thefts and 3 of 12 forgeries. Reported in 1967 were one rape, six robberies, 129 burglaries, 315 thefts, 45 car thefts and 25 forgeries.

The department cleared 65 of 70 reported narcotics offenses, all 117 drunk offenses and all 34 drunken driving offenses reported. The 1967 figures were 25 narcotics offenses, 116 drunk arrests and 34 drunken driving offenses, all cleared.

Loss from thefts was $109,823 worth of property last year, of which $36,577 has been recovered. In 1967 the figures were $179,542 stolen and $47,892 recovered.

Traffic accidents dropped slightly with 325 accidents compared to 343 in 1967. There was one fatality each year, 36 injury accidents last year compared to 55 in 1967, 86 hit-and-run accidents compared to 81 the previous year, and 202 noninjury accidents compared to 206 in 1967.

The department issued 59,923 tickets compared to 40,413 in 1967. The tickets included 43,685 parking meter citations, 12,642 other parking citations, and 3,596 citations for moving violations.

The 25-member department logged 51,469 hours of regular time compared to 44,010 in 1967, and 2,547 hours of overtime compared to 2,367 hours in 1967.

Department turnover remained low, Wright reported, one man retiring and two resigning.

Wright listed extensive training by the department. All 25 members attended narcotics classes by the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau, four men attended a two-week fingerprint class, one man attended a five-week basic police academy course, two sergeants took a three-week supervisory academy course and Wright attended an executive management class given by the Marin County Police Chiefs Association.

Adult, Juvenile Don't Go Quietly

A 23-year-old San Anselmo man was booked into Marin County Jail Monday night on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, possession of a car with altered identification and three traffic charges after police noticed him acting in a suspicious manner on D Street, San Rafael.

Herman Joseph Sanchez, 23, of 109 Humboldt Street, was booked after police found an open container of whisky in his car.

During the trip to jail, Sanchez and the juvenile with him emptied an officer's thermos of coffee in the back seat of a patrol car and stole the officer's handcuff key, police said.

The juvenile was cited for curfew violation.

Sanchez was released an $625 bail to appear Friday in Marin Municipal Court.

Sausalitan Freed; Charges Dropped

Charges were dismissed Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court against Robert Lawrence Orth, 21, of Sausalito, after Judge Alvin B. Goldstein granted a motion to suppress evidence on the grounds of illegal search.

Orth, who was arrested March 10, had been charged with possessing marijuana, dangerous drugs, narcotics, altered credit cards and another person's credit card.

Britain Agrees With U.S. On Sea Floor Plan

GENEVA (AP) — Britain said today it agrees with U.S. reservations toward the Soviet draft treaty to ban the military use of the ocean floor.

The treaty, put before the 17-nation disarmament conference Tuesday, called for a ban on "military bases, structures, installations, fortifications and other objects of military nature" beyond the 12-mile territorial limit.

U.S. delegate Gerard C. Smith said earlier he was "inclined to doubt that we would have any interest in a treaty banning any military use of the sea bed."

British delegate Adrian Porter told the conference: "Our provisional view is that the Russian draft goes too far, particularly in what it seeks to ban from the sea bed.

"On the other hand, we would certainly wish to cooperate in working out an international agreement to prohibit the emplacement or fixing of nuclear weapons or other weapons of mass destruction on the sea bed."

Teen-Ager Accused Of Child Molesting

A 14-year-old San Anselmo boy was booked into Juvenile Hall Tuesday on suspicion of child molesting after a San Anselmo mother reported her daughters, 7 and 4 years old, had been molested, police said yesterday.

The youth, on probation for being beyond parental control, is a Sir Francis Drake High School student, officers reported.

Sausalito's Fire Losses Only $63,784 Last Year

Fire losses in Sausalito last year were cut to little more than a fourth of 1967 losses, Fire Chief Charles E. Masten has reported, and for the first time in several years the per capita fire loss has dropped below the national average.

In his annual report yesterday, Masten said losses last year were $63,784, or $9.20 per capita, compared to 1967 figures of $218,754 and $39.20 per capita. The national average is $10.62 per capita.

The department fought 132 fires last year, including 28 in Dwellings, 27 in cars, 13 in business structures, two in industrial buildings, two in wharfs, and 22 grass and brush fires. Losses totaled $41,434 to structures, $17,170 to contents and $5,225 to cars.

The department also made 130 ambulance calls, answered 38 false alarms, made 54 smoke checks and made 75 investigations.

The inspection division, headed by Capt. Ralph K. Pedersen, made 379 inspections of businesses, 149 in dwellings, 30 in industrial sites, 11 in schools, 15 in churches and 11 in yacht harbors.

Training officer Lt. Robert Quayle reported firemen spent an average of 282 hours each in training compared to 207 hours in 1967. Volunteer firemen spent a total of 237 training hours at monthly drills.

Eight men went to outside training schools including fire alarm school, fire training officers, arson and fire investigation, first aid, and staff and command. Eleven men took fire science courses at College of Marin.

The department also started a summer cadet program, training three boys from Marin City for six weeks in fire fighting, first aid, maintenance, rescue and fire prevention.

Four of each 10 Texans are engaged in agriculture.

Lack Of Confidence Spelt Bond Defeat

Another former school board member who voted "no" is Anita C. Strom of 260 Linden Lane, who served on the board in 1965-67. Mrs. Strom siad she does not believe in the middle school (sixth, seventh and eighth grades under a junior high school-type plan) which is the heart of the proposal.

"Departmentalized education is always more expensive," she said. Also, she does not think sixth graders should be taken from the neighborhood elementary schools to the different atmosphere of a centralized middle school.

"The taxpayer is not represented by the school board as he should be," said Mrs. Strom. Basing the conclusion on her own board service, she declared that the board yields to pressure by powerful teacher organizations which "are for spending, and for imposing their philosophy, frequently at the expense of the child rather than to his benefit."

L. E. Weisenburg Jr. of 29 Sorrento Way, builder and subdivider who was an unsuccessful board of education candidate in 1963, was among those who "voted with the seats of their pants" by staying away from the polls on Feb. 18.

Weisenburg said he has previously supported bond issues. However, he began to doubt the wisdom of some of them during his service on a citizen finance advisory committee in 1962-63. He found, he said, that "the school board is not running the schools as a business. Administrators don't know the true costs of many operations."

An almost-school board candidate was Donald R. Wellington of 335 Fairhills Drive, an executive of Dalmon Products, an Emeryville building supply firm. Wellington took out nomination papers for next month's board election, but changed his mind about running and did not file them.

He said that after reading publicity about the bond issue, "I decided I can't in all good conscience vote for this," so he decided not to vote. However, he was at the city hall — his polling place — on election day, and a poll worker called to him to come and vote. So he voted "no."

Wellington said he just "was not convinced of the necessity for the building program for which the bond issue is sought.

Similarly unconvinced was Edward M. Berol, an attorney of 301 Locust Avenue. He was out of town on election day, but "if I had been here, I would have voted no," he said.

Adding to Berol's skepticism regarding the need was his own experience with the schools. "Over the years I have made efforts to get some information from the board and administration about financial problems of the schools. I wasn't too successful," he commented.

Robert Y. Mann, retired banker and investment counselor of 300 Margarita Drive, was on the citizen committee that produced the $3.1 million elementary district bond issue that failed of passage in 1967. It, too, was based on a Glenwood Middle School.

This time, however, Mann voted "no." He gave almost exactly the same reason as Boyd: "The people supposed to be running the schools have lost the confidence of the taxpayers. Higher and higher spending is not producing a better product."

Noting that the major share of school budgets is for salaries, Mann added: "What the school board needs more than anything else is a specialist to deal with the employees to arrive at a fair basis of payment."

Hiring two kindergarten teachers for each school — one for morning and one for afternoon — was "the straw that broke the camel's back" for attorney John G. Buresh of 237 Mountain View Avenue and caused him to depart from past practice by voting "no."

Buresh said this was but the latest proof of his belief that school expenditures are extravagant. "Tax money was just a continuous fountain that flowed, as far as the schools were concerned," he commented. "On top of that came the failure of high-priced administrators to cope with crises."

Consistent supporters, while sometimes critics, of the San Rafael schools are Dr. and Mrs. William K. Beare of 17 Moncada Way. But neither of them voted for the February bond issue.

Mrs. Beare said she and her husband realize schools must keep up to date, but object to continual experimenting with each new fad. "The school goes off in all directions," she said, and when questions are asked, the questioner is rebuffed.

Robert Stearns, engineer and inventor of Mountain View Avenue, said the current bond issue was "the first one I've ever voted against."

He described the proposed Glenwood Middle School as "more of a country club than a school," saying: "Heating, electric and plumbing problems are greatly magnified by the cluster plan proposed. There is also additional groundskeeping expense. . . . Good teachers, not needlessly expensive buildings, make good schools."

He added: "Schools should stop trying to pull the rug out from under parents who are trying to control their children."

Max Thelen Jr., attorney of 199 Mountain View Avenue, served on a citizen curriculum advisory committee in 1964. He did not vote Feb. 18. "My deliberate abstention was a vote of no confidence," he said.

"A fundamental reason is that the professionals increasingly strive to eliminate, overcome or circumvent any civilian responsibility for the school system," said Thelen. "Many administrators and some teachers consider parents, taxpayers and legislators as the enemy, to be ignored, opposed and ridiculed."

Most vehement "no confidence vote" was by J. Halford Carmona of 125 McCoy Road, president of Carmona Chemical Co.

"I have completely lost confidence in teachers and administrators and in their ability to properly administer the funds provided for them," he said. "They have to somehow be made to realize that they are employees, that the schools belong to the taxpayers.

Waterfront Plan Shifts Get Preview

A sneak preview of the amended Sausalito central waterfront plan was given the Sausalito Planning Commission last night by consultant William E. Spangle Jr. and associates.

The consultants gave the commission an oral rundown on changes made after commission and city council suggestions in previous public hearings. The presentation was not on the agenda mailed out Friday.

Since written materials for the revised plan are not ready, the commission set no public hearing date on the amended plan.

The commission also discussed prezoning for the American Distillery property north of Sausalito, and set an April 16 public hearing for a commission-initiated proposal to zone it for one-family houses, duplexes and apartments. The city recently turned down a proposal for a 548-unit apartment complex for single adults only.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

VARIANCE — Amended a variance granted William Gilkerson for an art gallery above the No Name Bar, 759 Bridgeway, to allow sale of marine crafts such as scrimshaw whale tooth carving and marlinspike seamanship (decorative rope knots).

EASEMENT — Recommended the city council vacate an unused storm drain easement in Marinship.

ZONING — Discussed proposed zoning ordinance changes for which a public hearing will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The city council has set a public hearing on the ordinance for 8 p.m. April 1. Both hearings will be in the council chamber.

Labor Council Raps Tam Split Proposal

The Marin County Labor Council last night agreed to oppose any attempt to dissect or dissolve the Tamalpais High School District, President Charles B. Weers reported.

The council believes any action should be toward unification not a split, Weers said.

Sonoma State On-Campus Housing Wins New Friend

Rohnert Park Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday joined the city council in requesting the state to reconsider plans for construction of on-campus housing at Sonoma State College.

The decision came after the directors heard college officials tell of the need for a dormitory on the campus. John C. Palmer, dean of students, said the future enrollment will be much higher than earlier estimated because the older state colleges are reaching enrollment limits sooner than expected.

Palmer said the chancellor's office has endorsed on-campus housing for the college as well as two classroom buildings for art and physicial science and an administration center.

Palmer and Warren R. Tappin, associate dean in charge of housing, explained that many parents do not allow their children to live in unsupervised off-campus apartments and would appreciate dormitory facilities.

Tappin invited the businessmen to continue the housing discussion today at 8 p.m. at the Rohnert Park Model City Commission meeting.

Many chamber members and apartment owners opposed the on'campus housing, saying that competition from lower-costing dormitories would be unfair.

In other business, directors issued a letter to the Sonoma County Economic Development board asking the planned reprinting of the county map be shelved until the map can be updated. Chamber secretary Nancy Mettert said the 8-year-old map contains many errors in information about Rohnert Park.

Center Repairs Are Authorized

Marinwood Community Services District directors last night authorized a series of minor improvements for the community center to prepare for opening of weekend swimming on March 29.

They authorized up to $1,000 for the purchase of swimming pool supplies. Director Charles Roach and Ralph E. Tischbern, chairman of the parks and recreation commission, were authorized to get bids on a storage shed in the swimming pool complex, the cost not to exceed $850. They will also seek bids for a cabinet for swim trophies.

Marinwood Community Services District directors also:

REFINISH FLOOR — Authorized $400 for supplies to refinish the community center floor.

WORK-STUDY — Authorized the hiring of up to six students to work in school recreation and park maintenance between now and June 30, under a work-study agreement with College of Marin.

Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $112 were taken from his warehouse at 16 De Luca Place, San Rafael, between Friday and Tuesday, Bert Kennedy reported to police yesterday. Missing were a drill, a saw and other equipment.

Suspect Denies Morals Charge

Anthony Alexander Burgess, 20, of San Rafael pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday to a charge of statutory rape on a 15-year-old girl.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 8.

Burgess was arrested after the girl's father told the police he found his daughter in the youth's apartment.

Senior Citizens Nominees Sought

The Marin Senior Coordinating Council is asking cities and civic organizations to nominate candidates for the 1969 senior citizen award which will be presented during Senior Citizen Month in May.

Nominees must be 60 years old or more as of calendar year 1969 and must have been county residents for at least three years.

Teachers Try To Force Salary Hikes In Secret

Spurred by the California Teachers Association, Marin's school teachers this year are asking for salary increases well above those granted in the past — and in some cases are trying to push them through without the public knowing about them.

They may be succeeding in several districts.

TAMALPAIS HIGH SCHOOL District teachers this week presented a demand for a 10 per cent salary increase plus additional fringe benefits. And they objected to presenting it in public.

Last week, Larkspur School District teachers handed their board of trustees a demand for an 18.8 per cent increase, along with a seven-page set of rules for negotiating on it.

Larkspur and Tamalpais High School District trustees refused, rightly enough, to receive salary demands in secret. To do so would be contrary both to law and to the public interest.

HOWEVER, IN DIXIE School District negotiations are under way on teacher salaries for next fiscal year, yet the demands or proposals have not been made public.

In Mill Valley, Supt. James A. Collins is negotiating with a teacher salary committee, yet its demands have not been made public.

In Reed School District, the board of trustees has recognized a teacher negotiating council, but its demands have not been made public.

In Ross, trustee L. G. Maclise is conducting negotiations with teachers on salary demands that have not been made public.

In Sausalito, negotiators have been named by the school board, but the demands on which they are to meet and confer have not been made public.

IT IS A FAIR GUESS that in these districts, the teachers are asking somewhere between the 8.5 per cent raise sought in Novato Unified District — the lowest damand so far reported — and the 20 per cent asked in San Anselmo School District — the highest so far reported.

All these raises, of course, would be in addition to the annual increment, about $300 in most districts, which the teachers receive automatically.

Some of the districts could perhaps pay the raises without going to the voters for an increase in tax rate ceilings. Some could not.

Salaries make up 80 to 85 per cent of a school budget. Therefore, a 10 per cent salary raise means an 8 per cent tax raise, one way or another.

TWO AND ONE-HALF years ago, the California Teachers Association's Bay Section served notice on all school boards that the Ralph M. Brown Act requires them to conduct their business in public.

This year, however, the CTA is making an altogether different pitch. Its various local associations are seeking to meet in secret with school boards to bargain away the taxpayers' money in the form of increased salaries and fringe benefits.

It would pay the taxpayers at this time of year to attend school board meetings — and to make sure that the teachers' salary demands and the board's reactions to them are thoroughly aired within the hearing of at least a representation of those who will have to pay the bills.

Some Good Signs

Since many Americans, and presumably some Marinites, have joined the hosts of those having their minds bent or straightened by yoga, depending on how one looks at it, let us all join in learning from the Indians.

From a publication printed in Hong Kong, we have gleaned the following: "Travelers to India tell me of some new and pretty effective road safety signboards. One on the Grand Trunk Road near New Delhi reads: (DRIVE LIKE HELL AND YOU'LL SOON BE THERE.) Another near Calcutta reads: 'DRIVE SLOWLY. OUR HOSPITAL IS SMALL'."

Flournoy Again Tries Reform Of Inheritance Tax System

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Another attempt to put inheritance tax appraisers under state civil service is being made by State Controller Houston I. Flournoy.

Inheritance appraisers, who in the past have been in the main a political adjuct of the controller, have been the subject of legislative controversy for several years.

Three attempts have been made to revise the methods in which they are appointed, primarily to take the appointment out from under a political cloud, but each has failed to get the necessary votes to send it to the governor.

NOW SEN. Lewis F. Sherman, R-Alameda, is introducing legislation to completely revamp the law.

Flournoy has gone as far as he can to take the appraisers out of the class on political appointments, but the best he can do under present law is to hold his own examinations and find out whether the appraisers are qualified.

This procedure has improved the picture, but Flournoy wants these state employees under civil service, and wants revision of the inheritance tax system.

"WE ARE TRYING," the controller said, "once more to establish an inheritance tax appraising system procedure free of political patronage implications, which will simplify, consolidate and strengthen the administration of the inheritance tax law."

The controller estimates the plan he advocates this year will save taxpayers and estates some $3.6 million annually, with no loss of revenues to the state treasury.

He pointed out that previous attempts to enact changes have died in the Senate governmental Efficiency Committee, which is well known as the "graveyard" of much controversial legislation.

Whether this committee will get the measure for consideration again this year remains to be seen, but the prediction is that if it does, another attempt to revise the laws regarding inheritance procedures will go down the drain.

THE CONTROLLER'S plan proposes appraisal responsibilities be divided by the executors of estates and the controller. It is combination of self-appraisal and fixed asset, administrative valuation of much other property and field appraisal by professionally qualified appraisers of the remaining assets.

It would eliminate county treasurers from administration of the tax, with appreciable savings to the taxpayers; maintain unity on probate; institute an inheritance tax return in non-probate cases; provide for the computation of the tax by the controller's office; simplify procedures for releases of liens and consents to transfer, and modify procedures by which safe-deposit boxes are opened.

Admittedly, inheritance tax procedures are complicated, in addition to the political trap into which the system has fallen. The question is whether the legislature will be able to accept the suggested improvements.

Some Omissions In Meeting Report

1. Superintendent hires receptionist without board approval. Gets slap on hand.

2. Playground supervisor is hired without board approval ($5 per hour). (Both are black in regard to ethnic hiring practices.)

3. Superintendent uses words like mother— at board meeting without batting an eye — nobody says a thing.

4. Our attendance of our own school district children is down to 837, an all-time low (last month, 850).

Marin City Fence: Quiz For Parents

Regarding the Marin City fence article in the March 13 edition of the I-J, may I submit the "perfect community and neighborhood quiz" as my comment? Since the issue at stake seems to be possible serious injuries or even death, the following questions may be asked by all Marin County Parents:

1. Do I condone my children's possession of firearms, illegal fireworks (including cherry bombs), slingshots, and dismiss their misadventures with these things as "kids will be kids"?

2. Have my children ever broken, smashed or vandalized the property of others, or played with matches? Am I sure?

3. Have they ever stolen? Did they pay it back?

4. Have my children thrown rocks? At what? Have I ever had rocks thrown at my car or home? Have the offenders been promptly fenced in my neighborhood? If not, why?

5. Do I tacitly condone abusive, hostile, delinquent behavior on the part of my children by inwardly or outwardly resenting neighbors who protest or dismissing them as cranks, crabs, crackpots, etc?

6. If my children abuse and attack the physical person and dignity of other children, what steps do I take?

7. Do I condone and tolerate hostile, abusive and delinquent behavior in my community for friendship's sake? But expect other communities to organize and do something?

In closing, may I suggest that the Marin City fence come down?

Terra Linda Road Link Needed Now

After reading the bleatings of P. R. Ryason in recent editions, I can no longer refrain from speaking out. Mr. Ryason's belittling of a roadway from Terra Linda over the hill via Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow and Butterfield Road sounds like so much whistling in the dark. In stating that the existing roads are not adequate to hold the expected volume of traffic, Mr. Ryason rather underlines the magnitude of the need. This need to cut the travel time from Fairfax and points in San Anselmo to northbound U. S. 101 by some 20 or so minutes certainly exists. A logical solution exists. Why do we wait?

When the public convenience and necessity of the majority demands a course of action, who are the minority to obstruct it? Eminent domain of its very essence demands that occasionally the rights of some few be subjected to the greater needs of the community. . . .

To further devastate his argument that there should be no such route, as existing roads are inadequate; every day poor roads are revised and realigned to perform a sorely needed service. As to the cost, I believe Mr. Ryason is considering a high-speed, multilane highway, whereas, two-lane, residential-type road is required now. Our elected officials, imposed upon by special interest groups, have been pussy footing around this matter for too many long years. The need exists now.

As to the argument that the people of Fawn Drive and vicinity bought the land in good faith with an eye to eternal quietude and pastoral restiveness, I say that anyone buying anywhere always does so with the best possible insight that what he buys will retain its character; but the knowledgeable recognize that it is always a calculated risk . . .

Who do these little individuals think they are to feel that their "omnipotence" should stand in the way of the community?

Reason For Fence And Its Result

Upon seeing the article on the fences around Marin City, I wish to add my point of view to the controversy. During the time I have been driving I had times when I have gone out of my way to avoid the Marin City overpass and turn-off, for obvious reasons: people would throw rocks at you for no reason at all. I have had my Corvettes and GTO's, etc., damaged because Negro youths have stood defiantly on the sidewalks around that area before the fences were put up, and pelt your car as you drive by. Since the fence has been up, I have not been bothered or has anyone I know.

Tensions, Contradictions Persist In American Role In Vietnam

SAIGON — Like the symbols on a rigged slot machine, the same signs and symptoms come up here time after time — American lives, American dollars, and, yes, American dedication. For the long future the answer seems as baffling as ever.

A familiar symptom now recurring is the growing tension between the American press corps and the vast American civilian and military establishment.

THE TENSION today grows out of the conviction that the establishment is deliberately playing down the consequences of the latest communist offensive. One of the most responsible correspondents, Charles Mohr of the New York Times, wrote a dispatch dealing with what he interpreted as an attempt to minimize the shelling of the cities and the enemy ground attacks sharply raising the level of American casualties.

This would perhaps be unimportant — no more than the kind of sniping between press and officialdom in many capitals — if it were not that one of the principal objectives of the latest offensive is at issue. The communist goal, it seems clear, is to convince American opinion that the National Liberation Front and North Vietnam can carry on the war indefinitely. Therefore, at the Paris talks the United States must make major concessions and start to move American forces out of a hopeless war at once.

Anything that serves this purpose, as officialdom here sees it, serves the enemy. Hanoi has been broadcasting a James Reston column, following disclosure of 453 American casualties in a single week, calling for a quick ending of the war. The North Vietnam radio picked up a New Yorker magazine article sternly critical of the American position in both Paris and Saigon.

IN-DEPTH reporting of the political subtleties, the complexities of a highly complex situation, is sometimes sent and never used. From the side of officialdom that is the complaint — the distorted picture the American public gets in terms of simple violence.

This is, in effect, what Americans here from the highest level on down are saying about the present offensive. Checkmated by superior U. S.-South Vietnamese forces and superior firepower on the ground and from the air, the offensive is bound to fail militarily. Hanoi knows this just as Hanoi knows that success can be measured only by the results in American public opinion.

Yet the press corps, or a good share of it, remains skeptical. An American military report from Hue says five rockets were dropped on the city that suffered so heavily in the Tet offensive a year ago. But there were no casualties and no damage, the report says. How can this be if five shells exploded in the city slowly being rebuilt from last year's destruction?

In another incident the official briefer reported only slight damage from a mortar attack on the Ninth Division base. A reporter on the spot claimed he had seen damage or destruction to at least 13 helicopters and had seen two gasoline storage areas set afire. This dispute went back and forth, and the briefer's report was upgraded.

If, in fact, the communist goal is to enlarge the credibility gap both here and back home, they can play the game for quite some time by dropping a few shells in Saigon, Danang or Hue from day to day. But, as Hanoi must also know, this could backfire in a greatly enlarged war that from every indication Hanoi does not want.

Power Struggle In Syria Adds To Mideast Woes

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When the extreme left wing of the Syrian Baathist (socialist) party took over in early 1966, it began immediately to eliminate such "foreign frivolities" as neckties, cigarettes and refrigerators.

It also pursued a "foreign cultural evacuation" which included elimination of French and English classes in the schools.

It banned tourists and foreign newsmen and succeeded eventually in isolating itself not only from its Arab neighbors but from the Syrian people as well.

SYRIAN belligerance played an important part in triggering off the 1967 Arab-Israeli War, from which Syria emerged with the smallest loss of territory, the fewest casualties, and with most of its armor unscratched.

So lightly were the Syrian forces regarded by the Israelis that it was not until the closing hours of the six-day war that the Israelis diverted their attention from Jordan and Egypt to take the Golan Heights, from which they easily could have advanced to Damacus.

It did not, however, reduce the belligerence of Syrian language against Israel and Syria has been among the foremost in declaring that Arab lands taken by force must be regained by force.

The Syrian Baathists broke the so-called moderate Baathists in control in Iraq and have refused to have any part of Gunnar Jarring's United Nations Middle East Peace mission.

IN THE KALEIDOSCOPE of Syria politics, the country has experienced nearly a dozen major upheavals in the last 20 years, making it easily the most unstable of Arab nations. And since the Baathists themselves are split between military and civilian wings and between moderates and extremists, it was no great surprise when in late February travelers from Damascus reported another power struggle in progress.

They are:

Lt. Gen. Hafez alAssad, the defense minister who in late February rejected a demand that he appear before the party's disciplinary committee and instead seized control of the country's internal security.

JADID, and al-Attassi are extreme leftwingers. Jadid especially opposed al-Attassi's demands for full cooperation among Arabs regardless of ideology and especially a reconciliation between the Syrian and Iraqi branches of the party.

Jadid, backed by the Russians, also opposed al-Attassi's encouragement of the Palestine commandos.

These are the issues which were to be carried before the Baath party congress today in Damascus.

If al-Attassi emerges the winner, he will demand a unified command for Syria, Iraq and Jordan to close a breach in the eastern line and he will put new pressure on the Russians for modern Mig-21 fighter bombers to replace his antiquated Mig 17s. He also may be expected to step up Syrian commando attacks on Israel.

Some Stories You'd Never See Unless We Printed Them Here

As far as the editor is concerned, the purpose of a "Reporter's Notebook" is to give the reader a few choice items that somehow don't manage to find their way into the regular news columns.

That's all right for starters, but how about a few stories that you can never expect to see in the I-J, such as:

FAIRFAX — The Marin County City Administrators' Association voted 3-2 yesterday to fire the Fairfax City Council.

"Any good city manager can run a city without a city council," said City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen of San Rafael, association president.

SAN RAFAEL — The San Rafael Board of Education today angrily denied rumors it was planning a $2.98 bond election to finance postage stamps.

"That rumor is ridiculus," said Board President Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. "We're not going for a bond vote. We're going for a tax increase."

COURTHOUSE — Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos admitted today that he issued a special deputy card to himself.

"After all, if those other fellows have them, why can't I?" the sheriff said.

WOODACRE — The San Geronimo Valley Association urged the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council to establish a target area board in the valley.

"We have poor just like everyone else, and if the government is going to hand out money, we should get our share," said Stanley R. Frederick, association president.

COURTHOUSE — Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, today turned down an offer to use the old courthouse building as an annex to the county schools office.

"Frankly, I was looking for something a little larger," Hollis said.

WEST MARIN — The West Marin Chamber of Commerce today voted unanimously for lower housing density to preserve the rural atmosphere and natural beauty of the coastal area.

"We don't want West Marin to become a crowded mess like East Marin," said a chamber spokesman. "We might even vote Tom Storer back in."

CIVIC CENTER — County Administrator Alan Bruce asked for $25,000 to hire former Supervisor William D. Fusselman as a consultant on economy in government.

"I don't know of anyone who knows more about county government than old Bill," said Bruce.

ART BUCHWALD

No Time For Human Decisions; Elect A Computer For President

WASHINGTON — One of the subconscious fears people have about any nuclear missile system is that because the time element is so short, the decision to launch a missile soon will have to be left up to computers.

Therefore, the question of the future is not which may you want to have his finger on the button, but which computer.

We all have read stories of computers that have sent one person five million Reader's Digests, or who have paid a janitor $1 million for a week's work; and anyone who has a charge account knows how stupid and inconsiderate a computer can be. So it's no wonder that the American people have anxieties about a computer deciding whether we're going to get into a nuclear war.

IT SEEMS ONLY fitting that the American public should elect the computer that will make the most important decision for mankind.

At the moment we have many fine computers to choose from. There's IBM, of course, there's Univac, Honeywell, Data Control, RCA and General Electric, just to mention a few.

These computers could easily be put on the ballot in 1972, and instead of a President, we would choose one of them to lead the country for the next four years.

WE STILL would have a political campaign, with the computers vying for votes amongst the electorate. Each computer would have a platform so the people knew where it stood.

And Style still would play an enormous part, as it has with human candidates. A good-looking compupter with appeal to women probably would have a better chance of getting elected than an older computer that knows more but just doesn't have the charisma.

The computers would be subject to questioning by the press to see how they behave under stress. They also would appear on television to discuss how they would handle a missile crisis. '(This could either be by recorded voice or teleprinter.)

The computers would have to let the American public know whether they're programmed for a tough posture with the Soviets, or whether they have left room in their calculations for accommodation.

AFTER WEIGHING all the pros and cons of the computers, the American people would then go to the polls and decide which computer was up to fulfilling the awesome responsibility of deciding the fate of the world.

There are those who might miss the excitement and glamor that come with having a human being as President of the United States. But in these perilous times, a human being is just not up to the responsibility.

A computer can work 24 hours a day, seven days a week. It isn't subject to political pressures. It can make decisions in seconds, and it isn't going to fly every weekend to Key Biscayne.

Also, the beauty of having a computer for a President is that we no longer would have to worry about human error. It's true we still would have to worry about a computer erring, but on the other hand, if the computer erred, we wouldn't have to worry about it very long.

Some Heat, No Light Over Larkspur Lamp

A councilman's request to consider putting one new streetlight on one existing utility pole on a dark Larkspur street sparked a testy exchange at last night's city council meeting.

The council would up telling Marin County to take care of its own side of the street.

The exchange came as a result of the request by Councilman William G. Fleckles that the city consider putting a light on Via Hermosa near Eliseo Drive. The pole in question was on Larkspur's boundary with the Marin County across from the Greenbrae School.

Fleckles's request of city manager Kent B. Bathurst, made by phone last Sunday night, led to what the other four members of the council considered a full-fledged survey of lighting needs in the city.

Mayor Alfred Malvino started off the discussion by saying he thought all such surveys, unless they constituted a "real emergency," should be cleared through the mayor.

After the three other councilmen agreed with Malvino, Fleckles said he had only asked for consideration of "one light on one pole. . .any insinuations notwithstanding."

He said the area near the school was dark and dangerous and should be lighted, adding: "Somebody owes me some kind of, not an apology, but a reassessment of the idea that I'd be naive enough to ask the staff to go out and make a full-fledged survey without the approval of the rest of the council.

"I want it understood I did not ask for it . . . I don't think it was needed."

The subject flared again when councilman Neil R. Brixon said he had just driven past the spot and it was not dark. "The problem is not driving by with car lights, but walking," Fleckles snapped.

Bathurst told the council that Fleckles did not request a survey, but that he considered the 260-word report offered the council necessary to assessing the situation.

The council ended up taking no action on Fleckles' proposal, saying that since most of the pedestrian traffic on the street came from the school on the county's side of the road, Fleckles' should tell any citizen who complains to him to complain to the county instead.

The Larkspur City Council also:

LIBRARY — Met with the Larkspur Library Board to discuss whether a new library should be constructed. The two panels agreed that a committee should be named to explore possible sites for a library, future library needs, and the possibility of building a joint city hall and library.

FOURTH — Deferred action on a request by the Larkspur and Corte Madera Fourth of July Committee to shoot off fireworks in Piper Park pending investigation of the city's insurance liabilities.

BUDGET — Reviewed Bathurst's recommendations for how the 1969-70 city budget should be put together for bookeeping purposes.

EMPLOYEES — Gave final approval to an ordinance to include library employees in the state retirement system.

Labor Councils Back Oil Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three San Francisco area AFL-CIO labor councils pledged backing yesterday for a boycott against Standard Oil Co. of California products.

The boycott was urged by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, on strike at Standard's Chevron chemical plant in Richmond.

The boycott protests company rejection of a contract demand for retaining a union shop clause requiring that new employes join the union.

Standard spokesmen said they oppose the clause because it amounts to compulsory unionism.

The boycott support was pledged by three labor council secretaries — George Johns of San Francisco, Richard Groulz of Alameda County and Art Carter of Contra Costa County.

Hairdresser Seeks Rehiring

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard F. Read has complained to the state Division of Human Rights that the loss of his job as a beauty parlor hairdresser was a case of sex discrimination.

In a petition filed yesterday by his lawyer, Read said he was fired when the salon was purchased by a woman who told him she did not hire males to dress hair.

Discrimination in employment because of sex is contrary to law.

Party Set To Back State College Strike

She Paints 'Em With Old World Charm

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Easter is less than three weeks away, and Mrs. Earle Gildersleeve of Novato shared her talents in decorating eggs using bees wax with the paint and putter group of the Novato Newcomers Club.

The art has been handed down to Anne Gildersleeve from her grandmother and mother. Anne has been decorating eggs since she was 8 years old.

ANNE'S FAMILY is Polish, but the Polish people probably got the art from the Ukrainians, who call this type of egg decorating "Pysanky," Anne said.

The Europeans used a stylus (a pointed instrument) for waxing the eggs, but a good substitute is a straight pin stuck in a wooden match.

The eggs should be hard boiled, slowly, adding a little vinegar, to alkalize the egg shells. The eggs should be neither too warm nor too cold when beginning the decorating. They should be at room termperature, and they can be rolled in the hand a bit before starting the decorating. If the egg is too cold, the wax will shrivel, if too hot it will not adhere.

Anne stressed the fact that only bees wax should be used. Parafin will not work. The wax should be heated to a point where it does not smoke, but smells waxy and yet will cling to the head of the pin. Ideal containers for the wax are jar lids with the outside covered with foil.

FOR A WHITE design, the bees wax is applied to the egg in any original pattern, holding the match in the hand and dripping the head of the pin in the hot wax, then applying it to the egg in a downward stroke. The egg is then dipped in the cold dye and for multi-colored eggs, the lightest dyes should be applied first, remembering not to make too much of a design the first time, as there will be no area left for other colors. Following the various applications of waxes and dyes, the egg is held over a burner on the stove and when the wax is heated, wiped off with a cloth.

When the egg is completely finished, a small amount of butter may be placed in the hand and the egg rolled in the hand for a high sheen.

Anne says there is a new "fizzy" cold water tablet dye that is excellent for coloring the eggs, but she uses two tablets rather than one for a deeper color, leaving the egg in the dye for at least an hour.

However, Anne's mother had sent her a brilliant purple dye for the day of the demonstration, and the dye took within a few minutes.

Anne also related that her mother said years ago bees wax was plentiful in Europe but dye was not, so women saved onion skins for several weeks before Easter. They soaked the skins in water for a few hours before waxing the eggs, producing a nice golden brown colored egg. Men, using small pen knives, scraped the colored eggs with various scenes of trees and houses, but this is now a lost art, Anne said.

SEVERAL OF the women at the demonstration asked about the keeping quality of an egg that is hard boiled. Anne told them the egg finally disintegrates inside the shell if the shell is not broken. She had several colored eggs on display that she decorated a year ago. Some eggs have been kept as long as a hundred years, she said.

"There's going to be a lot of egg salad tonight," one woman remarked as some of the eggs were cracked or dropped during the decorating.

There were several innovations in decorating too. One member used a small paint brush to apply the wax, and several members were making broader strokes using feathers.

Many of the women were adept at the art, but there was also much laughter in the room as women joked about their mistakes.

Following the demonstration, Anne said, "Oh, if only my mother could have been here." Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Roberts live in Queens, N.Y.

ANNE CAME to California five years ago, and she has two children, Lenore 11 and Richard 8. She says they also "fool around" decorating the eggs, but most of their patterns turn out psychedelic.

Tall and dark eyed, the former model has many other interests, and she's proud of her bowling average of 171. She also knits, crochets, makes Swedish embroidery and golfs.

EASTER EGGS of various colors and beautiful designs, decorated in the Ukrainian style called Pysanky are displayed by Mrs. Earle Gildersleeve of Novato at the paint and putter group meeting of the Novato Newcomer's Club. Some of the eggs in this basket were decorated with bees wax and dyes last year by Anne, who learned the art from her mother. Anne has been decorating eggs for easter in this style since she was 8 years old.

WOMAN HISTORY-MAKERS

Crusader For The Voiceless

American women have made their own challenge in their own way in American society. Some of these achievers, challengers and characters are subjects of this series on "woman history."

By BARBARA HOSMER

Controversy over the care in California's state mental hospitals brings to mind the name of America's greatest crusader for humane treatment of the insane, the ill and the imprisoned — Dorothea Lynde Dix.

She exposed conditions that shocked America, making herself a one-woman lobby in behalf of those unable to speak for themselves.

It was by chance that she had happened to replace the usual Sunday school teacher at the East Cambridge, Mass., jail and found the women's quarters there icy cold. She called for a stove immediately and was told that stoves weren't for crazy people, who in the 1840's were often shut away in prisons.

WHEN THE WARDEN asked her to get in and fix the place herself she did. Thus, at nearly 40, Dorothea Dix began a strong-willed crusade that created a nearly unmatchable record for public good.

She had given up teaching when tuberculosis ended her activity. Recovered finally and living on her savings and book royalties, she sought new goals. They were ready made, she found, with her chance visit to the jail.

She put her own childhood and health miseries behind and took up the cause of the mentally ill, who were usually clapped into dark confinement away from public view and conscience. Generally they were treated like beasts, and their behavior grew worse.

Dorothea Dix collared two important persons, future senator Charles Sumner and Samuel Gridley Howe, who took up the cause in the press and the courts. The stove and separate treatment for the mental cases from the other women prisoners were obtained. But that was only one jail.

She set off on an inspection tour that would eventually take her some 18 months through the state of Massachusetts, visiting every almshouse, jail and asylum. She found the insane in cages, cellars and outhouses, living naked, cold and starving in filthy conditions.

She petitioned the state legislature and spoke, citing facts and names. At last the legislature passed her bill to enlarge the Worcester Asylum, a modest start.

AGAIN SHE went, this time to Rhode Island, then New Jersey. Three years of visiting personally each place and studying pertinent information gave her the ammunition she sought. In Rhode Island she persuaded the richest man to donate $50,000 toward enlarging the Providence Asylum. In New Jersey she fought the battle to obtain public funds to set up a model asylum.

On she traveled through the nation, finding the same abominable conditions of suffering and lack of care. Limbs were frozen off in the bitter winter months for lack of any heat, iron collars on patients' necks were chained to floor or walls. . . the brutal list seemed endless.

THROUGH DECADES of tireless exposure of these conditions, Dorothea Dix brought a public understanding of mental illness and pushed to create 32 new hospitals for treatment of the mentally ill in 16 states. She surveyed needs and cajoled the legislators to action.

It wasn't enough. In her travels of some 60,000 miles she had found that not a third of those needing care were in asylums at all. Public lands were being given out liberally, why not set aside some for the downcast, she reasoned. She spent six years in Washington while the Congress was meeting, keeping office hours in a cubbyhole given her in the Capitol so that the Congressmen could consult her. She was persistent, a single-person lobby for those unable to speak for themselves.

At last both houses of Congress passed her bill, but the victory was short. President Pierce vetoed its authorization for public funds for social purposes, leaving it up to each state to care for its dependents.

REELING FROM this blow and in ill health from malaria contracted on her travels, Dorothea sailed for England. But her rest there became an inspection tour of 11 European countries' hospitals and prisons. Scotland was a particular target. She raced back to London on the night train, buttonholed top government officials, and shortly afterward Parliament appointed a commission with ap-

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

Recently at the dinner table my mother told me that improper chewing of my food was causing my skin trouble. When I asked her why this was so, she said, "Indigestion."

Seeing no reason for this, I asked her where she got the information, and she said, "From my doctor." I asked, "when?" And she said, "when I was having acne." (Which was about 25 years ago.)

When I mentioned that times have changed and doctors have learned a lot more about skin problems since the '40s, she blew up! She called me an impudent young fool and threatened me with the broom if I questioned her authority again.

Helen, have I been to school for the past 11 years and learned to ask questions only to have my mother beat my inquisitiveness out of me with her broom? — MISUNDERSTOOD GUY

DEAR GUY:

You may have lost the skirmish, but Ill bet you won your point. If your mother is like most of us second-thoughters, she'll learn from this encounter that you've outgrown the "It's right because I said so" stage; and discussion isn't impudence.

NOTE TO YOUR MOTHER: A parent doesn't lose face when she admits she might be wrong — only when she insists she is always right. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Please don't think this is the usual "he doesn't love me any more" letter.

Bob has been my best friend all through grammar and high school. I've always thought of him like a brother. He would do anything for me, and I feel the same fondness for him.

We go around together quite a bit because many of the guys I know are too busy with their studies to date. I guess you'd say we're going steadily, though that phrase sounds so immature.

Well, a very good friend of mine, Lynn, has started chasing Bob, and he is a big flirt so he has fallen for it. She really doesn't like him — she's just killing time while her boy friend is away at college.

Bob still goes with me, is over at my house much of the time, never asks Lynn out, yet I know he likes her. Should I throw him at her, or should I tell him the truth, that she is just practicing on him?

I need Bob's friendship more than anything, and I'm afraid that if Lynn hurts him, he'll blame me for not warning him, but if I do tell him the truth, he'll think I'm a jealous tattletale, and maybe he won't believe me anyway. What should I do? — ANNE

DEAR ANNE:

Why don't you let Bob make his own decisions? I'd guess he already has, and the girl he likes best is you. — H.

P. S. You could cure him of that big-brother complex with a little bit of unsisterly flirting. Try it! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I understand your sympathy for "Scared to Death" whose pregnancy resulted from rape. But your suggestion for a "legal" abortion is murder! If society gets accumtomed to this terrible act, we'll be killing children and old people next, just because they aren't quite healthy. The person who takes the life of an unborn child is worse than he who forced its existence. Better the girl should suffer a little for seven months than commit murder and suffer guilt the rest of her life. — A.E.R.

DEAR A:

My arguments won't change your thinking any more than yours will change mine. But have you considered that if medical authorities termed an early foetus a child it would be given a death certificate and proper burial? Unless the baby is aborted after the sixth month, there is no furneral.

I say a fertilized egg is potential life — but then so is an unfertilized egg. — H.

PERSONAL TO "SCARED STIFF": If you have no reason to be, you aren't. A telephone call to your family doctor would reassure you — and he won't think you're silly! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Angel Island Excursion For Yacht Club's Women

By MOLLY MARIN

A number of members of the Women's Auxiliary of the San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere, chose the opportunity to tour Angel Island over bridge, dominoes or small boat sailing yesterday.

Hostesses who had invited guests for the excursion included Mmes. Patrick Kirrane, Samuel Mann, George Fritz, W. J. Edinger Jr., Victor Kagan and Benton Mathews. Another group of friends who donned slacks and boating shoes for the informal Ladies' Day were Mmes. Gary Gast, John R. Moore, Robert Barth and Basil Knauth.

THE JEFFERSON Graves Jr. of Ross are entertaining Messrs. and Mmes. Albert Oberman, Robert C. Wilson and Peter Deetken and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Grechman following the wine tasting and fashion show at the Humane Society of Marin in Ignacio sponsored by the Animal Aides of Marin Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Begley of the Marin Country Club Estates have invited Dr. and Mrs. John A. Carollo Jr. of Sebastopol to be dinner guests at their home following the wine tasting party.

MRS. CURRY N. Vaughan and her two daughters, Virginia Grace and Julie Ann, are now staying at the home of Mrs. Vaughan's father, Col. (ret.) Pat Stevens III, at the Marin Country Club Estates in Novato.

THE MARIN General Hospital Founders Auxiliary members planning to attend the group's day at the races Monday at Golden Gate Fields are Mmes. Howard Burns, Arne Kionig and John O'Connell of Kentfield; Robert McKendry and W. Raymond Vizzard of Ross; Myron Christy of Greenbrae, and Richard Mayer of San Rafael.

The Mill Valley group planning to attend includes Mmes. Vincent White, Eugene McGeorge, George Marsh, William Pemberton, Fred Drexler, Peter Behr, Rodney Hartman, Henry Heilbron, Harrison Leppo, Robert Schultz and John Finn III.

MATTHEW MICHAEL Monte was baptized March 9 at St. Anselm's Church. The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monte of San Anselmo is the fourth generation in his family to be baptized in St. Anselm's Church, which his paternal great grandfather, the late Harry Brown, helped build.

Attending the ceremony and a reception which followed at the Montes' home were the godparents, Mrs. Charles F. Keebaugh of Novato and Bruce Liebrock of San Rafael; the maternal great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cogdell of Berkeley; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gai Fleming of Berkeley; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Alice Monte of San Anselmo; Charles F. Keebaugh and Mmes. Bruce Liebrock and Sandra McCarthy.

proval of the queen.

In Rome she inspected the Vatican asylum and reported conditions to Pope Pius IX. After a personal visit he vowed to build a model asylum.

PRISONS WERE another target, and back in the U.S. she stirred up public opinion and wrote a prison manual setting down decent standards for regeneration of prisoners. Again she personally started wide reforms.

Often she called upon the wealthy to channel their charities to improve conditions for the unfortunate. Libraries were a particular pet of Miss Dix and she opened many, including those for prisoners' use. As therapy for the mentally ill she set up workshops, a concept that is spreading even today.

Soon the country was plunged into the Civil War and Dorothea Dix, who had seen neglect of wounded soldiers during the Crimean war when she was abroad, rushed to help the Union army avoid the health blunders of the British. Joined by Clara Barton and Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, Dorothea Dix rallied women to aid in army hospitals.

She was named Superintendent of Army Nurses to oversee care given by hospital nursing staffs, the first woman public appointee. She fought the foul conditions on every side and made enemies of those who resented her corps of "petticoats" who insisted on sanitary surroundings and real nursing care for the men.

WEAK AND ILL through most of her life, Dorothea Dix persisted in her mission into her eighties and lived to see her one-woman crusade joined by a generation of of other women who made public welfare their concern, and finally, the concern of a nation.

WHEN WILL AMERICA LAND A MAN ON THE MOON?

When will the first American Astronaut set foot on the moon? This June? This summer? Exactly when? You can share in the excitement of the momentous event by guessing precisely when it will be. And if you win—well, take a look at the prizes!

WIN

A 2-week trip for two anywhere on earth!

2ND PRIZE a 2-week all-expense vacation for two, Cocoa Beach, Cape Kennedy

to view a future space shot

ENTER THIS EXCITING CONTEST NOW!

IT'S STRICTLY FOR FUN. YOU CAN WIN!

Here's all you do:

Fill out the entry blank shown (or use a postal card facsimile) to guess the year, month, day, hour, minute and second that the first American Astronaut steps on to the surface of the moon.

Why the contest?

The contest, co-sponsored by the Independent-Journal and Today, the newspaper of Cape Kennedy, is offered as a novel guessing game for our readers — and as a means of recognizing the nation's space program. It's fun, it's out of this world!

SOME TIPS TO AID YOU ON YOUR GUESS

The Space Agency (NASA) has provided for readers the most likely times for the first landing attempt. These "windows" are the days when the Apollo spacecraft can reach pre-selected sites on the moon. The best "window" days include: April 18-24; June 16-22; July 15-22 and August 14-21. While most space experts talk of a June, 1969 landing, some predict it could come as early as April. Others believe it will not come until August. Watch for further news from NASA on the moon landing. And keep the above dates in mind in making your best guess. Happy landing!

RULES

1. ANY MAN, woman or child in the U.S. is eligible to enter except employees of the Independent-Journal and Today, the newspaper of Cape Kennedy and families.)
2. DEADLINE for entries is May 1, 1969. Entries must contain year, month, day, hour, minute and second to be eligible. Official time will be that registered by NASA as the time the first astronaut steps onto the surface of the moon. If astronauts do not leave the lunar module, the time will be the instant the module landed on moon's surface.
3. THE WINNING ENTRY will be that with the exact EASTERN STANDARD TIME or closest to it. Do not worry about difference in the time zones. The time you send in will be judged on the assumption it is Eastern Standard Time.
4. ENTRIES must be mailed to: MOON CONTEST, INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL, P.O. BOX 330, San Rafael, Calif. 94902. Use entry blank herewith or facsimile.
5. FIRST PRIZE: Two-week all-expense paid vacation for two anywhere on earth winner selects. Trip must be completed within one year from date of notification. Second prize: 2-week all-expense paid vacation for two to Cocoa Beach at Cape Kennedy to view future space shot. Third prize: $100 cash. Decision of the judges final.

MUSIC REVIEW

Program, Maestro Blend Perfectly At Opera House

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Program and maestro were well matched last night at the San Francisco Opera House when the noted German guest conductor Hans Schmidt-Isserstedt directed the San Francisco Symphony in a fine perforance of music in the Germanic tradition of Brahms, Beethoven and Richard Strauss.

Schmidt-Isserstedt's smooth, disciplined style was well suited to the classical structure of the Beethoven overture to "Egmont" that opened the concert and Brahms' Symphony No. 4 that closed it. Yet he had plenty of dynamic vitality and fire to do full justice to the romantic spirit of these works and the "Don Quixote" tone poem of Strauss. He conducted all but the Strauss work without score.

The "Egmont" overture expressed Beethoven's dramatic power — "Don Quixote" was the most exciting and colorful work of the evening — but the Brahms was the major musical edifice, full of grandeur and the kind of Brahms virtuoso music that depends on creative inspiration and expressiveness rather mere technical display.

It was interesting that resources of the variation form were illustrated in both the Strauss tone poem and the finale of the Brahms.

Program music par excellence, "Don Quixote" frankly personifies the leading characters of the famous Cervantes masterwork in musical instruments and of these were well done for the most part.

The cello starring in the role of the deluded knight "Don Quixote" offered principal cellist Robert Sayre a true solo part, which he performed with distinction when the cello was playing alone or with very little orchestral accompaniment. Unfortunately, he frequently could not be heard in tutti parts, and it seemed that he lacked the power to stand out rather than that the orchestra was insufficiently controlled.

His tonal quality however, was exquisite, particularly in the beautiful theme that represents Dulcinea, Don Quixote's idealized lady fair, and in the noble and pathetic lyricism of the Don's death in the finale that is one of the permanent musical treasures written by Strauss.

On the other hand, principal violist Rolf Persinger was always commanding in playing some of the motifs assigned to the Don's bumptious squire Sancho Panza. The others were well handled by the bass clarinet and tenor tuba. Though the viola part is not as important as that of the cello, I thought Persinger played it with such consummate skill and expression that his name should have been featured on the program as well as Sayre's, and that is not just chauvinsim because Persinger lives in Marin.

The string sections were exceptionally good in the Brahms and Schmidt-Isserstedt and the whole orchestra gave a brilliant performance of the famous chaconne or passacaglia consisting of 34 variations of an eight-bar subject.

Full Welfare Checks For Two Families

SAN JOSE (AP) — Two fathers working at full-time jobs are entitled to the difference between what they earn and what their families would receive in walfare payments if they didn't work, says U.S. District Judge Robert F. Peckham.

Francisco Tarin, father of 12, earns $306 a month as a mushroom farm worker. Without a job, Tarin and his family would receive a $424 monthly welfare check.

Juan Macias, father of 10, earns $90 a week as a security guard.

Peckham issued a temporary order yesterday in their suit challenging state and county rules that drop families from welfare rolls if the fathers work fulltime.

The suit charged unconstitutional discrimination against the 22 children in the two families.

The children were denied welfare and medical aid solely because their fathers worked a full-time jobs trying to support their families, contened California Rural Legal Assistance attorneys.

Peckham directed the families be paid until the constitutional issue is heard by a three-judge federal court.

Housing For Elders Asked For Kentfield

A proposal to construct a 56-unit, low-cost senior citizen housing project at Kentfield Corners has been made to the Marin County Housing Authority.

Balboa Enterprises Inc. and Western States Turnkey Corp. have proposed to build the units on a 1.6 acres southwest of College Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, behind the businesses fronting on the boulevard, Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, reported to the authority board last night.

Stutsman said there might be another proposal for construction of senior citizens housing in the Kentfield area, near Marin General Hospital.

He said he would analyze the Kentfield Corners proposal, and make his recommendation at the board's April 1 meeting.

Directors also voted to grant the Marin City Community Services District $25,000 in the next six months and, if they have funds available, up to $25,000 more for the period ending July 1, 1970.

Directors warned that this would be the last time the authority could go to the financial aid of the district.

The district's financial plight was evident in its tentative 1969-70 budget, reviewed by the board, which showed expenditures of $60,000 and income of $14,098.

Stutsman pointed out that in the past 15 months the authority has granted the district $47,000 for its operation.

Chairman Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. described the district's proposed budget as minimal and said justification for authority support was overwhelming.

The district operates the Manzanita Center, which serves as a community center, and without money from the authority, the center wouldn't have funds to operate.

"It would be crucial if the center closed down," said Director James O. Quiett. "All the kids playing basketball now would be out in the street."

Directors are scheduled to have a joint session with the district board at 8 p.m. next Thursday to discuss finding other sources of funds.

Director Vera L. Schultz felt the board was acting hastily and should have waited until its joint meeting.

She said there should be study given to what would happen if the authority didn't have the second $25,000 to grant.

Whether the authority has the money depends upon construction of an access road from Guy Circle to Tennessee Valley Road, explained Stutsman.

Housing Authority directors also:

TELEVISION — Heard a report from Melvin Randolph, Marin City housing manager, that the television antenna service to public housing could be improved at a cost of $200, and agreed that the system operator, Earle Stanton of San Francisco, should bear the cost.

SENIOR HOUSING — Received notice from Stutsman that the Homestead Valley senior housing project will be dedicated either April 17 or 24.

Gnoss Field Given Gasoline Money

Gnoss Field has been allocated $2,500 in aviation gasoline tax funds, according to a report from the State Department of Aeronautics.

Sonoma County Airport and Healdsburg Municipal Airport received a like amount, the report said.

Housing Lack Spurs Urging For Plans

Marin County Redevelopment Agency directors, seeing a critical need for housing in Marin, began to think last night of spurring new redevelopment projects.

"I think the county faces a crisis in housing," Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, told the agency board.

There isn't adequate housing for low and moderate income families, "and the most likely way to proceed is redevelopment," Stutsman contended.

Director Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. suggested that the agency develop a comprehensive plan for housing. He said the authority's leased housing and senior citizen housing programs are proceeding favorably.

Director Richard S. Harding said the leased housing program "is not scratching the surface" of the real need, and the authority needs to move "on all fronts."

Harding said that even moderate and high income families can't find housing, let alone low income families.

Directors agreed that housing needs should be discussed with supervisors.

Directors also voted to support the Marin City Council's application for a $50,000 federal planning grant, which requires Marin County to match it with $25,000 in cash or services.

During the discussion Ehrlich praised County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, noting that Zucker's support was instrumental in gaining approval of the senior citizen housing project in Homestead Valley.

Zucker's name came up when directors wondered whether the county would provide Zucker's planning services as its matching contribution to the federal planning grant.

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency also:

DEVELOPMENT — Received notice that the Development Corp. of Marin City wasn't prepared to present its plan for a one-acre neighborhood shopping center at the entrance to Marin City, as scheduled.

BUDGET — Requested the Department of Housing and Urban Development to increase its budget through 1970 by $429,024 to $3,659,726. Stutsman noted that the proposed increase included $105,552 for improvements such as a neighborhood park near Manzanita Center, and the agency's share of the cost of a new Marin City access road.

CHANGING SCENE ON SAUSALITO WATERFRONT

The southern approach to downtown Sausalito is taking on a new look near Seal Beach, with cars taking a gravelly detour. Contractors Maggiora and Ghilotti are ripping up the old pavement to lay storm drains and sewer pipes. The $144,804 widening project to be completed by June 10 will include a $23,348 raised middle lane for use by fire, police and ambulance services.

Three-Way Unification Faces Unanimous Critics

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night ran into unanimous opposition to its three-district Tamalpais unification plan.

The committee heard the plan — which would include Bolinas-Stinson School District in a unified district otherwise composed of the Drake High School attendance area — attacked for a variety of reasons.

The proposal was called uneconomical, harmful to education, burdening the poorest part of the existing Tamalpais High School District with the greatest tax load and based on false premises.

Attachment of the Bolinas-Stinson District, far away on Marin's southwest coast, to bring up the assessed valuation was lambasted repeatedly. Several speakers impugned the motives of the committee, pointing out it has five members from the Redwood High School attendance area and only one — recently appointed — from the Drake area.

Failure of the committee to guarantee a "one-man, one-vote" plan for a single election throughout the proposed three districts was also attacked repeatedly.

Among the throng that packed the Drake High School little theater in San Anselmo for the first public hearing on the plan, not one spoke a word in its favor.

A second hearing will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at Redwood High School, concerned primarily with the proposed new district which would include that school's attendance area.

W. Michael Scott, a Lagunitas School District trustee, led off last night's attack by reporting his board unanimously opposes the way the unification plan is being presented, the increased crowding that addition of Bolinas-Stinson students would cause at Drake High, unfair imposition of tax burden on residents of the area least able to pay, and the committee's alleged failure to study adequately nine other possible unification plans for the Tam District area.

That set the tenor for the attacks, and applause was accorded Scott and each speaker thereafter.

Perhaps the high point of the show of opposition, however, did not result from an attack on the plan at all. It came when Clarence B. Larison, superintendent of Bolinas-Stinson School District, took the microphone about 9:30 p.m. to announce that 23 Bolinas-Stinson school children attending the hearing should leave to start their one and one-half hour ride home — the same long ride they would have to make twice a day if they attended Drake High.

Doris Harnsberger, a former San Anselmo School District trustee, was given a standing ovation after a presentation which included graphs to show that attendance and assessed valuation projections used in making the proposed new district fit state requirements were unrealistic.

And Edward Z. Lewis, Bolinas-Stinson School District trustee, got cheers along with applause for his presentation, which dwelt on the effect on Bolinas-Stinson students. He pointed out they would have to ride through territory of the new Shoreline Unified School District to get to and from high school if Bolinas and Stinson Beach were attached to a Drake district.

Statements or resolutions opposing the plan were presented by Isabel Cook Parent-Teacher Association (San Anselmo), Fairfax School District, Drake High School student representative assembly, Fairfax City Council, Drake High School P-TA, San Anselmo School District, Tamalpais High School District, San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, San Anselmo City Council, Wade Thomas School Parents Club (San Anselmo), Brookside P-TA (San Anselmo), Redhill Parents Club (San Anselmo), Manor Hill Homeowners Association (Fairfax), Hidden Valley Parents Club (Sleepy Hollow), Deer Park P-TA (Fairfax), Tamalpais District Teachers Association, White Hill P-TA (Fairfax), and even a representative of the Redwood High School student executive council.

Several Drake High students also spoke, along with a spate of school board candidates from various districts.

The three-district unification plan is the committee's latest attempt to achieve unification of elementary and high school districts in the Tamalpais High School District area.

Kidnaping Case Nearing Jury Debate

The case of Jerry Stanley Borst, 22, of Novato, accused of kidnaping, raping and robbing a Novato housewife, was scheduled to go to the jury today in Marin Superior Court.

Borst took the stand yesterday to say that he had not abducted the 28-year-old woman at knife point as she testified, but rather that he had met her in a Novato shopping center parking lot for a tryst.

He claimed that he had made dates with the woman before and that the parking lot was their customary meeting place.

She earlier described how her two small children were threatened by Borst, who, she said, was carrying a 12-inch knife, and told how she was forced to drive out on Lucas Valley Road, where he raped and robber her.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas today called Borst "Marin's answer to Lothario" and asked conviction on all three counts.

Hamilton Airman, 21, Stabbed

A 21-year-old Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant was stabbed in the back today while riding in a car near Black Point with five beer-drinking friends, according to sheriff's deputies.

Treated at the base hospital for a minor wound was John M. Griffis.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon was Leonard Fay Thurman, 26, also of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Companions of the two men told deputies that they were driving in a car on Harbor Drive about 12:05 a.m. when Thurman asked Griffis for more beer. When Griffis replied that there was no more, Thurman stabbed him with a four-inch pocket knife, according to the witnesses.

Other occupants of the car were Donald Threadgill, 20, Laura Morlan, 18; Charles A. Kaiser, 21, and Chris F. Morlan, 35, all of Hamilton, and Deirdre McCarthy, 18, of 2 Country Land, Novato.

Suspects Held In Auto Theft

San Anselmo police booked two men into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of car theft after arresting the pair in the car two blocks from where it was reported stolen.

Mrs. Therese Berreyesa, of 124 Prospect Avenue, called police at 1:05 a.m. saying "Someone just took my car and they are going down the hill."

Parents Seek $450,000 For Fire-Scarred Youngster

A $450,000 suit on behalf of a 5-year-old Santa Venetia boy badly burned in a backyard fire on Oct. 23 was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

The suit claims that Scott Spencer, son of Mrs. Mary E. Johnson of 8 Adrian Way, was burned due to the carelessness of the landlords and because the county did not enforce fire ordinances.

The fire started when the child's brother accidentally dropped a match into a large pile of rubbish in which they were playing, according to the suit.

Named as responsible for the rubbish, which included leaves, boards, rags and junk, were Ione L. and Eugene N. Wilson, Dryer-Wilson and Co. and the County of Marin as well as 20 John Does.

The suit claims that the rubbish was "interesting and attractive to children" and that the landlords and county had permitted it to exist for two years.

The child suffered third degree burns over most of his body.

JUDGE SAYS ONLY TREES FOR TRIMMING

Harold Lee Burr, 36, of San Rafael, who specialized in trimming trees and ladies, has been sentenced to two years in Marin County Jail for two counts of bilking women of large sums of money.

Judge Harold B. Haley of Marin Superior Court placed Burr on 10 years probation and gave him consecutive one-year sentences on two counts of grand theft.

Burr, who apparently gambled away his illicit earnings, defrauded the women by gaining their confidence while trimming their trees. One lent him $6,315 and the other, $23,060.

Burr was also ordered to make restitution to the women.

Stereos, Tapes Stolen From Four Vehicles

Auto stereos and a quantity of tapes were taken last night from four cars parked near 88 Vivian Way, San Rafael, police reported. The cars were forcibly entered between 9 and 11 p.m., police said.

Victims were Donald David Vattuone of 9 Blossom Drive, San Rafael, a stereo and nine tapes valued at $163; Ronald J. Brabo of 379 Irwin Street, San Rafael, a stereo and 18 tapes valued at $212.

Philip Alfred Baiocchi of 1561 Creekside Drive, Petaluma, a stereo and 14 tapes, no value listed, and Wayne Onizuka of 37 Woodland Road, Fairfax, a stereo and one tape valued at $125, police said.

Another auto stereo theft was reported at 2:10 a.m. today and it also occurred in east San Rafael, police said.

Gary Ray Benedetti of 55 Corte Alta, Novato, reported his stereo and 35 tapes, valued at $354, were taken from his car while it was parked at 737 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, between 11:30 p.m. yesterday and 2 a.m. today.

Probation Granted In Credit Card Use

James Warren Tamburini, 21, of San Rafael, who had pleaded guilty to attempting to buy a television set and radio with a stolen credit card, has been placed on one year probation by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court.

Tamburini's offense was declared a misdemeanor by the judge, who also gave him a 15-day jail sentence with the execution stayed.

Sewer Board Bristles At Pollution Claims

The San Rafael Sanitation District board last night hit back at the state agency that accused it of dumping raw sewage and storm waters into the bay.

The board asked one of its members, Norris W. Rawles, to draft a letter of reply to Sidney Lippow of the Bay Region Water Quality Control Board.

"His statement was incorrect and inaccurate," said Rawles. "We haven't had to bypass a single time the entire season."

The board also agreed to meet with the San Rafael City Council to discuss updating agreements on jurisdiction and control of sanitation facilities. A date for the meeting has not yet been set.

The board also agreed that sanitation district employees could switch health insurance plans from the California Physician Service to the Kaiser Plan if they wished.

Personal Appearance Leads To Downfall For Escaper

A 21-year-old burglar and car thief who fled fomr Marin Superior Court almost three years ago, was back in jail today because he returned to ask for his belongings.

The sad saga of Arthur V. Bornn began three years ago when he pleaded guilty to burglary and car theft and before sentencing attempted suicide in Marin County Jail.

Then on the day of the sentencing, when he was being taken into the courtroom of Judge Harold J. Haley, he made a break and sprinted out of the courtroom. He was last seen in San Rafael by Attorney Fred C. Robbins Jr., now a San Rafael councilman, who ran after him as he headed toward St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Sheriff's deputies failed to find the man, but Bornn was arrested a short time later in Wyoming on a car theft charge, was convicted and has spent most of the ensuing time in a federal penitentiary.

Yesterday he arrived at Marin County Jail, apparently thinking, according to the chief jailer, Lt. Newall Snyder, that Marin authorities had forgotten about him. Snyder said a woman called first to ask that Bornn's property be returned to him, but the officer said Bornn had to come for it personally.

When Bornn arrived at the jail, Snyder was waiting for him and informed him that an $11,000 warrant was out on him.

Bornn was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today, where he now faces the escape charge as well as sentencing for the earlier crimes.

Panel Seeks 30-Day Delay On Rezoning

The Novato Downtown Study Committee today asked the Novato City Council to postpone for 30 days all rezoning in the downtown area of Novato, according to City Mgr. Charles A. Brown.

In the interval, the committee will set up a public meeting to discuss the feasibility of a moratorium on new major construction and rezoning during the period it will take to make a federally financed downtown study, Brown said.

The city council, Novato Planning Commission, chamber of commerce and downtown study committee would take part in the meeting tentatively set for 8 p.m. April 1 at the Novato Community House.

The City of Novato has had its application for $30,020 for the study approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, but has not recieved the funds. It has been estimated that it will take 15 months after the funds are available to complete the study.

Auto Stripped

Thieves took the rear tail lights, front lights, spare tire and steering wheel from the car belonging to Claire H. Stevens of 36 Castle Rock Drive, Mill Valley, Monday night or Tuesday morning, sheriff's deputies said today.

Corte Maderan, 79, Found Dead

Fred Kellogg Rowe, 79, an executive with American Telephone and Telegraph in New York for 40 years, died at his Corte Madera home yesterday of an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound, the Marin County Coroner's office said today.

Rowe, living in retirement at his home at 22 Mohawk Avenue, was found in the garage by his wife after she returned from a shopping trip, the coroner's office reported. A note left by the deceased referred to despondency over his health.

Rowe, a native of Missouri, had lived in Marin County for the past seven years.

The body was taken to Keaton's Mortuary.

Novato Joins Ecumenical Housing Plan

Novatans for Racial Equality last night became the 21st member to join the growing list of participants in the Ecumenical Association for Housing in Marin.

About 40 delegates of various member organizations met last night at the Civic Center and approved bylaws for incorporation, presented by Edward Thomson of the Southern Marin Action Committee. The nonprofit corporation hopes to buy land and build housing units for low and moderate income families.

Douglas Ferguson of Sausalito Presbyterian Church was elected last night as vice chairman, to assist association chairman Lawrence Livingston Jr.

Next meeting of the group will be at 8 p.m. on April 23 at the Civic Center.

Bolinas To Seek Federal Funds On Sewage Project

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board last night authorized Kennedy Engineers to apply for a federal grant of $167,000 toward the cost of a proposed Bolinas-Stinson Beach sewage system.

Federal money is available for up to a third of the cost of sewage greatment plants, interceptor lines and outfall lines. Estimated cost of that part of the system is $500,000.

Board President Jose A. Silva was authorized to sign the application, which must be sent to the state agency administering the program by March 31 to be included in 1969-70 projects.

The Bolinas District is under a cease and desist order from the Regional Water Quality Control Board to stop dumping untreated sewage into Bolinas Lagoon. Bolinas and Stinson Beach have been given until July 1970, to complete a sewage treatment system.

Today is Thursday March 20, the 79th day of 1969 with 286 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1942 Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in the Pacific, issued his famous "I shall return" pledge as the Japanese occupied most of the Philippines. He returned from Australia victoriously 30 months later.

In 1951 Argentine Dictator Juan Peron seized control of the opposition newspaper La Prensa.

In 1963 a volcano on the island of Bali began erupting and the death toll eventually went over 1,000.

In 1968 Israeli launched heavy attacks upon terrorist bases in Jordan.

A thought for the day: Thomas Henry Huxley said, "Irrationally held truths may be more harmful than reasoned errors."

Drake High's Films Reset For Sunday

The NBC special, "Experiment in Television: The New Communicators," which will feature three short films by students at Sir Francis Drake High School has been rescheduled for Sunday at 1:30 p.m. on Channel 4.

The station was to have shown the films last Sunday but made a scheduling change at short notice, according to Drake High School teacher Robert Johnson.

RUFFS HEART

The fiance ruffed the second heart with the king of trumps (the letter goes on) and led the queen of trumps to the ace. West led a diamond to the ace, and a diamond then came back. South took the king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy and drew the last trump.

South then took the ace of clubs and led a club from dummy. East played the eight, and the young man played the nine of clubs and claimed the rest of the tricks before West could play, saying that he would get to dummy with a trump to take another club finesse.

That's when the girl's father accused the young man of peeking. A hasty accusation, it seems. The young man simply counted the hand.

FOUR CLUBS

West's raise and the opening lead showed four hearts, which meant that East held six hearts. East followed to only one spade and only two diamonds. Since these three suits accounted for only nine of East's cards, his other four cards simply had to be clubs.

After taking the ace of clubs declarer knew that East had the missing three clubs. He could safely claim the rest of the tricks.

MARRY HIM

I advise my correspondent to marry this young man before he gets away. A man who can laugh when he is accused of peeking is beautifully secure. But a smart girl would tone her man down so that he doesn't rile oldtimers with early claims. The ideal husband, like the ideal bridge player, knows how to conceal his brilliance.

DAILY QUESTION

♠—K Q J 4 3
♥—10
♦—K J 4
♣—K J 9 3.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

This aceless hand is not quite worth its apparent point count, but it is more than strong enough for an opening bid.

PICKUP

We can really say that this is a real creampuff pickup due to the fact that it's our own company truck that we purchased new and have used here at our company for general use and picking up of parts around the city.
This half-ton pickup has just been repainted to blot out our signs and there isn't a mark of wear or damage anywhere. Popular V-6 engine with standard transmission, w/w tires, radio, power steering, Barden bumper, all the chrome mouldings and lots of other extras. A really top-notch truck that's dressed up appearance-wise to look like new. Serviced regularly in our shop so this truck shouldn't need a thing done to it. T68692.

VAN DELLEN

Brain wave testing has taken some of the guesswork out of epilepsy.

The machine (EEG) has demonstrated that normal brain cells give off regular electrical impulses of a definite pattern. Brain waves are registered on a paper and these spikes are interpreted by a specialist in this field.

MOST OF OUR READERS equate epilepsy only with a convulsion, but the disorder is, in reality, the result of an electrical brain storm. The EEG reveals that the spikes suddenly become larger indicating that abnormal activity has spread over the entire organ.

Convulsions are the dramatic aspect of epilepsy, and events preceding the seizure usually are missed. For example, the aura warns of an impending bout.

Many develop a sense of nausea or an indescribable sensation beginning in the region of the stomach and working up to the mouth.

ANOTHER SIGNAL is a feeling of remembering something, a visual image , a sound, or taste. The incident or object may be pleasant or horrible. Now and then a fit of rage ensues. Other sufferers smack the lips or make chewing movements.

Some epileptic attacks never go beyond the aura. When abnormal impulses originate in the temporal lobe (on each side near ear) and do not spread to the rest of the brain, many odd symptoms occur that can't be explained unless a convulsion follows.

In the past, many victims were judged to be crazy because of the bizarre things they saw, heard, or did. Thanks to brain wave tests, we now know that periodic attacks of this nature are a form of temporal lobe (psychomotor) epilepsy.

FOLLOWING THE AURA, jerkiness of the hand or leg may begin. An EEG reveals that the segment of the brain controlling the movements of these structures is "firing off." If these impulses stop here, the convulsion remains localized (focal epilepsy).

A generalized convulsion (grand mal) takes place if the electrical impulses spread to the remainder of the brain.

OVERACTIVITY of the brain cells may result from an injury, infection, or irritation. But, in many instances, the cause is not known.

If Youngster Is 'Hooked,' What Next?

war," a psychiatrist says. "We teach equality and practice discrimination. We preach ideals and do not practice them. We take pills of many kinds and forbid their doing so."

Many adults have "made their peace" with alcohol and tobacco and tranquilizing drugs, but give a flat "No" to any experimentation with marijuana or fail to give cogent reasons for youths not to try it, another points out. This seems unreasonable to many young people.

Parents are not likely to make big points with their children if they simply say, "Wait till you've been through what I've been through in life — then you'll understand." That, says one physician, isn't going to be a very impressive argument if it seems to the youngsters that the parents' lives, jobs or marriages are somewhat miserable.

"Give kids a healthy pattern to follow, and start it early," a psychiatrist suggests. "When and if it ever comes to a real debate over whether a child has a right to do something, it is usually too late."

In the long run, says Dr. Keniston, "those of us who are critical of student drug abuse must demonstrate to our students that three are better and more lasting ways to experience the fullness, the depth, the variety and the richness of life than that of ingesting psychoactive chemicals."

Last presidential election year, with many young people actively campaigning for candidates of their choice, raised the question whether interest in national campaigns or other issues might replace pot and pills, suggests Dr. Donald B. Louria of New York City.

The point, he says, is that "if you want to cure the drug problem, the name of the game is commitment" to something else.

Actions to spread education about drugs are sprouting across the country.

"The drug abuse problem concerns all of us; it is national in scope," says Finlator. "But it is not a national problem so much as it is a local problem, in the community, in the school and in the home. Here is the place where education has to be done."

"It would be best," he adds, "if our schools developed programs teaching respect for drugs in general, or in particular. But if a high school, for example, suddenly puts on a program on drug abuse only, youngsters will laugh at it. The idea of respect for drugs should be developed in courses or classes in general health education."

The new Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs represents a merger last year of the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, which Finlator headed, and the federal Bureau of Narcotics headed by Henry Giordano. John E. Ingersell is the Director.

Both of the formerly separate bureaus have distributed millions of copies of pamphlets and literature on various aspects of drug use and abuse, and the new Bureau continues to do so.

It lists a variety of motion pictures that are available for public showing.

"Today's youth demands accurate, factual, unprejudiced information, and when given such information honestly and directly, in my opinion they respond sensibly," sayd Dr. Keniston and others.

In many scores and perhaps hundreds of communities, there are increasing efforts to spread information about dangerous drugs. The pattern varies broadly.

In some places, parents organize special school courses, or one-day assemblies. Elsewhere, school personnel take the initiative.

Community organizations and service clubs sponsor other efforts. At least one community group also seeks "to bring pressure on local government, civic organizations, school boards, police departments and the like to act in solving the problem."

Numerous colleges and universities are initiating special educational programs about mind-influencing drugs, and other drugs.

"To be effective, a preventive educational effort must be carefully tailored to specific population groups and must be based on the best educational and scientific footing," says Dr. Stanley Yolles, director of the National Institute of Mental Health. "Students are suspicious of information supplied by 'official sources.' They want authoritative information, and to know where it comes from."

Education as to the ill effects of drug abuse has had some effect even in the ghettos," says David Gottlieb of Pennsylvania State University

"Controlled studies indicate that even deprived youngsters who have had meaningful experience with the dangers of addiction are fearful of and reluctant to fool around with heroin," he says. "The more advantaged youngsters seem sufficiently knowledgeable about the more potent drugs, at least initially, and will steer clear of them. Education given, however, is not necessarily information accepted."

Repeatedly, people who have abused dangerous drugs make one significatn point:

They say they might not have become involved if they had had factual knowledge beforehand, particularly when curiosity and thrill-seeking were the main motives for taking such drugs in the first place.

Three Novato High School seniors have been selected for Bank of America awards program zone interviews, according to counselor Ralph Del Sarto.

Interviews will be conducted at the College of Marin April 10 by a panel of five civic leaders under the chairmanship of Dr. Louis H. Herkenhoff, acting president of the college.

Winners in each field will go on to the finals to be held in San Francisco on May 8, he said. The second and third place winners in each field will receive $50 and $25 cash awards, he said.

The three going from Novato High School are: Michael K. Magill, fine arts; Marcy A. Eisenhauer, science and mathematics, and Craig Bilsborough, vocational arts.

Special BART Police Force Held Necessary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will need its own police force to protect its customers from muggers, its operators from holdup men and its property from vandals, BART's security officer says.

Ralph M. Lindsey reported yesterday that the 75-mile network of high speed trains scheduled for completion in 1972 extends into 16 loca government jurisdictions which are not geared to provide adequate policing for BART.

Closed-circuit television and two-way radio communication will be among the crime-prevention tools BART expects to use, Lindsey said.

Swallows Back At Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, (UPI) — Swallow watchers had some anxious moments for a time as they awaited the annual arrival of the birds on St. Joseph's Day.

The historic Mission San Juan Capistrano was socked in by fog yesterday morning and an estimated 10,000 persons on the mission grounds and surrounding streets peered through the gloom in vain.

"But we could hear them up there, on top of the fog, flying and twittering," said Bill Smith, voice of the mission. "They were sort of stacked up like fogbound planes at an airport.

"We got about 500 down at exactly 9:57.25 this morning," Smith said. "They'll find places in the surrounding community."

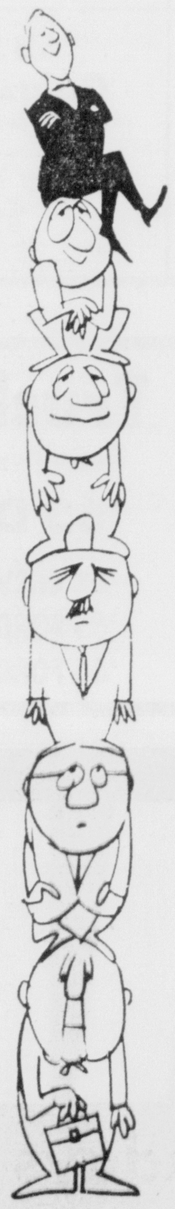
A subtle message to astute attorneys:

How to obtain glorious county-wide recognition

— without shouting from the rooftops



As a practicing attorney, would it offend you if literally thousands of families became familiar with your firm name? People who just might need a lawyer — if not today, tomorrow?

Would you tear your California Code in half and curse the day? Or would you sit back and bask in the glow of knowing such recognition was coming to the right, and most deserving place?

IF YOU FEEL THAT RECOGNITION is something which is hardly deleterious to building a bigger practice, you might consider how simple, how easy if is to obtain it:

To wit: Place your legal advertising where your firm name will be seen county-wide . . . where 45,000 families (that's 71.0% by the way) are exposed to your legal escutcheon.

Place it where everyone looks — in the Independent-Journal, naturally! Where people have an insatiable curiosity for news . . . where legal notices gain amazing readership, from people who want to know who's doing what and doing it where and when. (One of our best human-interest features!)

Which means your firm name is printed 45,000 times with each legal advertisement you place. Which means you become known, recognized!

A legal notice for a client, as you can so astutely see, becomes a very legal notice of YOU.

Redwood, Novato, Tam Swimmers To Fight It Out

By GARY TISCHLER

Frantic lineup juggling may decide the 1969 Marin County Athletic League swimming race, which starts tomorrow.

It will be a dogfight between three evenly matched teams — Redwood, Tamalpais and Novato, in no special order. Drake — with only 10 squad members, San Rafael and Terra Linda are all rebuilding, while San Marin, minus a pool, is in its first year of competition.

Bruce Averill, probably the best backstroker in the league, heads a list of standout returnees on coach Norm Cady's Tamalpais squad, the defending champions.

Averill will double in the individual medley and relays.

Freestyle distance man Tam Smiley, breaststroker Brent Bedayan, all-arounder swimmer Tom Anderson, sprinter Lowry McFerren, diver, Bob Del Secco and butterfly man Tad Geiger give the Indians a versatile, if extremely tight, varsity squad.

"We'll have a good chance," Cady says. "We have to fill some gaps, but we should be right in there."

So should Redwood, where coach Bill Purcell has the league's standout freestyler in Ken James, the only swimmer to beat Drake star Bob Girvin last year.

There's also butterfly man Greg Myers, all-around swimmer John Malvino, transfer Mike Roark, who can swim anywhere, breaststroker Norm DeMont and a top sophomore in Brian Hennesy, who's already broken the school individual medley record. The divers will be juniors Don Wallace and Kirk Gray.

"We don't have a big squad," Purcell said. "But we have an extremely versatile team. The question is making up the lineups for each meet."

On sheer numbers, and probably talent, Novato will be right in there. The Hornets have the biggest array of freestyle standouts in the league, headed by Roger Backstedt, Bill Kuhn, Rob Cody and Rich Albert, who comprise what is probably the best freestyle relay in the league. There's also Chuck Maloney, and Gary Ferris, giving new coach Harland Bartholemew way deep depth in that area, a hefty portion of any meet.

Kuhn is a good butterfly man, one of the tops in the league, and the Hornets have a standout diver in Duncan Lane, who finished third in the league last year.

The Hornets are weak in other areas, but it may not matter. All they need in the other events is points, not necessarily winners.

Drake's small turnout is a far cry from the championship squad of two years ago. Only five swimmers reported for Class B duty.

The top varsity men are all-around swimmers Pete Locati, backstroker Scott Bradley and diver Bill Thompson.

SAFE AND OUT — San Francisco Giant outfielder Bobby Bonds was all smiles as he beat out a bunt in exhibition game against the Seattle Pilots yesterday at Phoenix. But, the smile soon became a frown as plate umpire Chris Pelekoudas said the bat hit the ball twice and ruled Bonds out. In background is Seattle pitcher Marty Pattin throwing to Don Mincher (5). GIANT RIGHTFIELDER

Bonds Moves Up Fast

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The trip from the ice and snow of Waterbury of the Eastern League to the golden sunshine of major-league baseball in San Francisco took less than two years for Bobby Bonds to complete. It is unlikely that he will need a return ticket.

"I remember the opener of the '67 season in Waterbury," says Bonds, who will open the season in right field for the Giants. "There was two feet of snow on the ground. I wore fur-lined gloves on both hands when I was hitting. All you had to do was hit the ball and it was gone. They couldn't find it in the snow."

Bonds hit only .261 that year, but the Giants liked his speed and power and sent him to Phoenix, their Triple-A farm club, last year. There he hit .370 with eight home runs, three of them grand slams, in 60 games.

"That's not normal development," says Giants' Manager Clyde King, who does not generally lean toward understatement. Some other people thought the same thing at the time and Bonds was called up to take a look at big-league pitching. It was love at first sight.

John Purdin, pitching for the Los Angeles Dodgers, tested Bonds with a fast ball and he promptly hit it over the wall. The bases were loaded at the time and Bonds became the first player in 70 years to hit a grand-slam home run in his first big-league game.

Waiting to greet him at the plate to shake his hand was Willie Mays, affording Bonds his biggest thrill to that date. Imagine, he thought, Willie Mays congratulating Bobby Bonds.

Bonds finished the season in somewhat less spectacular fashion, hitting .254 with nine home runs. But there was one side benefit. As he starts the 1969 season, Bobby Bonds, now 23, is no longer just a 21-year-old kid who was playing at Waterbury two years ago.

"I feel confident and relaxed," he says. "With the experience I got last year playing half a season, it relaxed me a little bit. I know most of the pitchers and what they're going to throw. A person can't be nervous and play this game. It helped me a lot being able to go up as soon as I did."

The comparisons between Bonds, who has great speed as well as power, and Mays are inevitable.

With King moving Mays to leadoff in the batting order this year, Bonds takes over Willie's traditional third spot, lending further fuel to the comparison fire. Also, Bonds may well be the Giants' centerfielder when Mays does retire.

Bonds, however, rejects all comparisons.

"I don't feel there's any ballplayer today who compares with Willie," he says. I can't think I'll ever hit 586 home runs or steal all the bases he has.

"I can only be myself."

Perry Looking Sharp

Giants Cut 12 Players

PHOENIX (UPI) — Strapping Gaylord Perry is making a determined bid to wrest Juan Marichal's hold on San Francisco's opening day pitching assignment.

Perry registered his third straight Cactus League victory yesterday as he worked seven effective innings in the Giants' 9-4 triumph over the Seattle Pilots.

His teammates, meanwhile, rapped out 10 hits, half of them for extra bases. Bobby Bonds and Willie McCovey each doubled twice and third baseman Bob Etheridge just about clinched the opening day job with a fine defensive performance and a triple and single.

Earlier in the day, Manager Clyde King made the first player cut, sending 12 players to nearby Casa Grande for reassignment.

Those sent out were pitchers Ron Bryant, Don Carrithers, Bob DeIong, Jesse Huggins, Hal Jeffcoat, Jim Moyer, Leslie Scott, Won Kuk Lee; catcher John Harrell; infielders Bob Fenwick and Bob Schroder; and outfielder Bernie Williams.

The cut reduced the squad to 30 players, five over the opening day limit.

TIE RED WINGS, 4-4

Seals Lead, Then Falter

By JOHN MURPHY

Unfortunately the score only counts at the end of the full 60 minutes so all they could manage against the Detroit Red Wings was a 4-4 tie before a disappointed crowd of 6,964 fans.

The number of shots on goal tell the story. In the first period the greenshirted Seals took aim on Detroit goalie Roy Edwards 15 times and allowed only nine Redwing attempts. The second period was closer with 12 Seal tries vs. 10 for Detroit.

ONE-SIDED

In the last period Detroit outshot the locals 16-6 and played almost the entire 20 minutes in the Oakland end of the rink.

Detroit evened the game at 4:40 of the middle period when Dean Prentice stole the puck in his own end and skated completely around Doug Roberts, faked Seals goalie Gary Smith right out of his pads, and slipped the rubber into the net, all while the Seals had a man advantage because of a penalty to Redwing defenseman Paul Popiel.

GO AHEAD

The lightning struck again at 5:48 of the same stanza when Frank Mahovlich took a perfect pass from Gordie Howe in a two-on-one situation and the Detroiters went ahead 2-1.

Hicke notched his 25th score of the season a scant minute and 16 seconds later when Edwards made a great glove save and then dropped the puck right on Hicke's stick. It took only a flick of the wrist to light the lamp and tie it all up again.

At 8:51 the Seals went ahead again when Norm Ferguson's shot was partially stopped by Edwards and Brian Perry was in perfect position to nudge it home. Carol Vadnais closed out the Oakland scoring with a hard slap shot from the point on a power play at 14:38 of the period while Winger Bob Baun was sitting out a holding penalty.

The Wings came to life again at 4:59 of the third period when the "Old Man Line" of Howe, Mahovlich and Alex DelVecchio — total ages a mere 106 — made a classic sweep down the ice with Howe doing the honors and then at 15:27 the game was tied up for keeps when Wayne Connelly tipped in a Bruce McGregor shot while Doug Roberts was in the penalty box.

RAPS PLAYERS

Seals Coach Fred Glover, obviously unhappy at the result blamed the tie on "some people playing as individuals instead of as a team." Without pointing to any one player he asserted that they had "better forget next year's contracts and concentrate on the rest of this season."

Tough Job For Drake In NCAA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — It's rough going against Goliath without a slingshot.

Coach Maurice John of Drake knows that better than anybody. He must lead his troops into battle tonight against Giant Lew Alcindor and his corps of Philistines without a man on the roster bigger than 6-foot-9.

The NCAA semifinal game will be televised on NBC (Channel 4) starting at 6:30.

John's plan is to bring in Garry Odom to cover the 7-1½ Alcindor within the first few minutes of the game. Odom enjoyed a successful evening against a 7-footer from Texas A&M in the Midwest regionals.

OUTSIDE

But the key to this game for Drake, John feels, will lie in its ability to hit from the outside. Without that the Bulldogs are sunk.

Coach John Wooden of UCLA, whose team is seeking an unprecedented third consecutive NCAA crown, was high in his praise for Drake and indicated his scouts had brought back glowing reports of the bulldogs' outside shooting.

"I think Drake is a fine basketball team, and I have respect for the Missouri Valley Conference," Wooden said. "I feel any team here can win this tourney."

Injuries could prove to be the deciding factor in the Purdue-North Carolina game. Both teams have been crippled by the loss of key performers and each will be looking to exploit the other's losses.

SIDE LINES

Dick Grubar, a highly-regarded guard, will be on the sidelines for North Carolina and Chuck Davis, a 7-foot center will be out of action for Purdue. So too may Herman Gilliam, an All-Star forward. If Gilliam is unable to play, it will put extra pressure on the Boilermakers' backcourt duo of Rick Mount and Bill Keller.

"Gilliam is running a little better, but I won't know for sure about him until game time," said Purdure Coach George King.

Terra Linda's other run came in the first inning when Gary Trono tripled and scored on a wild pitch. A double by Bob Daniele was Terra Linda's other extra base hit.

O. J. Simpson In Continental Grid League?

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The president of the Orlando Panthers says O.J. Simpson has offered to play for his Continental Football League team for $400,000, and the Panthers think that's a fair price to pay Orange Juice to promote the Sunshine state's favorite beverage.

"O.J. and his agent approached Jim Dunn, the Continental League commissioner, two weeks ago and offered to play for $400,000 if O.J.'s negotiations with the Buffalo Bills fell through," said Elmer Cook, Panthers president.

PROMOTION

"We went to the Florida Citrus commission and asked them to put up the money, since it was a natural promotional bit to go along with their slogan—Drink O.J.," Cook explained.

The Citrus Commission seemed quite warm to the proposal, Cook said, figuring that a specimen of manhood like the ex-Southern California running back would do as much to up the sale of orange juice as all the vitamin-C plugs put together.

"Oh, my God," Cook said reverently when asked how he felt about the chance of his Panthers getting Simpson. "The guy's the hottest thing in the country in our business."

COMMITTED

At present, Simpson is committed to contract negotiations with the Bills of the American Football League, and cannot legally play for any other AFL or National Football League team if he fails to reach a contract with the Bills.

However, there's nothing to stop him from playing for a Continental or Canadian team.

Day Off Turns Into Awful Time For Tigers' Freehan

Detroit Slugger Hit By Pitch, Breaks Nose

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

His day off turned into an awful day for Bill Freehan, the slugging catcher of the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers left several players including Freehan behind at their Lakeland, Fla. training base yesterday while the rest of the squad moved over to Tampa for an exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds. As it turned out, Freehan would have been better off playing in the game.

ERRANT PITCH

An errant batting practice pitch by outfielder Jim Northrup hit Freehan squarely in the face, breaking his nose. He'll be sidelined at least 10 days. And to make the day a total washout for the Tigers, the Reds won the exhibition game, 4-3.

In other exhibition action yesterday, the New York Yankees edged Atlanta 3-2, Boston bombed Houston 13-1, Los Angeles shut out St. Louis 3-0, the New York Mets shaded Philadelphia 5-4, Baltimore downed Pittsburgh 8-5, the Chicago Cubs dropped Cleveland 10-7, San Francisco defeated Seattle 9-4, the Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 5-1, Minnesota tripped Washington 6-4 and the Yankees' "B" team edged Montreal 5-4.

SHOUTED

Freehan was tapping home plate with his bat when Northrup's pitch hit him. "Jim shouted and I looked up just in time to get smashed," Freehan said. "That bone must have shattered in 10 places."

"It was stupid of me not to look before I threw the thing," said Northrup. "I could kick myself for being so dumb."

Meanwhile, at Tampa, the Tigers dropped their fourth in a row with rookie Darrel Chaney's sixth inning homer giving the Reds the victory.

Catcher Frank Fernandez tagged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, sending the Yankees to their victory over Atlanta. It was the sixth loss in the last seven starts for the Braves.

Jim Lonborg pitched four hitless innings and singled two Boston runs across in a seven-run rally against Don Wilson as the Red Sox battered Houston. George Scott had a two-run double in Boston's big fourth inning.

TRIPLE

Len Gabrielson's two-run triple was Los Angeles' big blow and the Dodgers got shutout pitching from Bill Singer and Claude Osteen to beat St. Louis. Curt Flood had two hits for the Cards.

Cleon Jones drove in four runs with a homer and a single against Philadelphia, leading the Mets to their fifth straight victory. Jones boosted his spring average to .433 and has three homers and 12 RBI in eight spring games. Deron Johnson had a three-run homer for the Phillies, his first hit of the spring.

Brooks Robinson walloped a grand slam homer and Frank Robinson added a two-run shot as Baltimore beat Pittsburgh. Rookie outfielder Al Oliver had three hits including two triples for the Pirates.

ROAR BACK

The Cubs spotted Cleveland six runs in the first inning and then roared back to beat the Indians. Rich Nye worked six innings in relief, allowing one run and smashed a two-run homer to lead Chicago's comeback.

Bill Melton rapped two doubles and two singles, leading the White Sox past Kansas City. Tommy John and Gary Peters each hurled four scoreless inning for the White Sox.

Casper Among Favorites

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Bill Casper is not exactly the conniving type but he admitted today he has designs on the Masters.

He hopes to sneak up on it.

"I keep trying to find the right formula for going into the tournament," the 1968 pro golfer of the year said. "One year I play a heavy schedule, the next year I lay off, then I pick a spot here and there.

"I'm still looking for the answer."

STAR-STUDDED

Casper, who has played only five rounds of golf in the last four weeks, is one of the star-studded field of 144 teeing off today in the first round of the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open.

The once feared big three—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—also are in the pack for the first time this year plus Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open titleholder, and the crowd of young turks threatening to take over the game.

For many of them, this is the stretch run toward the Masters, the season's first major championship coming up in April in Augusta, Ga.

WANTS IT

None is looking toward the grand spectacle amidst the Georgia pines with greater anticipation than Casper, the 37-year-old Mormon with the world's most exotic allergies.

Bill has won two U.S. Opens. He is second only to Arnold Palmer in all-time money winnings. He led everybody last year with more than $211,000.

But he's never won the Masters, nor the British Open nor the PGA.

"I usually set goals for myself," the mild-mannered lay preacher from Chula Vista, Calif., said. "This year I have determined to win a major championship. I would prefer the Masters or the British Open. I wouldn't mind winning a third U.S. Open.

RELAXED

"To get ready for the Masters, I decided to skip most of the Florida tour. Before Wednesday, I had played only four rounds. I felt rusty but relaxed."

In his first official tour of the 7,211-yard, par 72 Deerwood Course, Bill shot a 68, tying South Africa's Harold Henning and Dave Stockton for second low pro honors. Dick Sikes led with 67.

Forty-four 1-0 games were played in the National League last season, a major league record.

SPORTS SHORTS

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor, three-time All-American at UCLA, was named winner yesterday of the Dr. James A. Naismith torphy, awarded by the Atlanta, Ga., Tipoff Club, as the outstanding college basketball player of the past season.

TENNIS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Jim McManus of Berkeley dropped Pancho Guzman of Ecuador 7-5, 7-5 while top-seeded Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va. won by default in the second round of the Masters Invitational.

BOWLING

PORTSMOUTH, Va. — Dick Weber of St. Louis compiled a 2,627 pinfall to claim the 12-game qualifying lead in the $45,000 Portsmouth Professional Bowlers Association Open.

HORSE RACING

ALBANY — Quarterback Sneak, $9.60, edged Fitness in the stretch to win the Children's Home Society Purse at Golden Gate Fields.

ARCADIA — Most Host, $5.60, closed with a rush to win the $12,000 San Bernardino County Fair Purse at Santa Anita.

NEW ORLEANS GETS IT

New Site For Super Bowl

The Louisiana city was selected over Miami yesterday by the owners of the 26 pro football teams as the site of the 1970 Super Bowl game.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the selection would maintain the balance between National Football League and American Football League cities.

EVENS IT

Los Angeles, an NFL city, hosted the first Super Bowl in 1966. Miami of the AFL has had it for the past two years.

Rozelle said a majority of the owners swung to New Orleans because the NFL Saints averaged crowds of 75,000 at home last season. The Saints play their home games in the Tulane University stadium, which has an 81,000 capacity.

The vote was not disclosed but the commissioner indicated it was not unanimous.

It took a vote of at least 13 of the 16 NFL owners and 8 of the 10 AFL owners to make the switch from Miami.

FIRST ACTION

Yesterday's decision was the first major action taken in the five-day meeting, which will end tomorrow.

A joint committee of six owners—three from each league—Monday adopted a proposal for the retention of the AFL and NFL as separate entities with interleague games.

But there has been opposition by some of the AFL owners, who want complete realignment.

OBJECTORS

The three main objectors are Paul Brown of Cincinnati, Gerald Phipps of Denver and Joseph Robbie of Miami.

If the thorny problem isn't ironed out here, it won't come up until the owners' spring meeting. That meeting tentatively is scheduled at New York in early May.

Television negotiations are stalled until the question is settled.

It's Good Start For Robyn Smith

The former movie starlet apparently passed her initial riding test at Golden Gate Fields yesterday when she finished second in a five-horse field special exhibition.

The pretty 24-year-old Miss Smith, riding Amabar, led for most of the five furlong race before being finally passed a sixteenth of a mile from the finish by the stakes winning Gee Beau, ridden by veteran jockey Harrks Hawkenson.

The exhibition was run under actual race conditions with the Board of Stewards on hand. After the race, they said they were "pleased" with Miss Smith's performance.

Stars' Player Is Suing Oak

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Jarvis, a professional basketball guard for the Los Angeles Stars, filed a $500,000 assault and battery suit yesterday against Warren Armstrong on the Oakland Oaks.

Jarvis said he was knocked to the floor during a game Jan. 29 and that Armstrong, a 6-2 rookie guard, beat and kicked him on the head and neck.

The civil suit also names as defendants Oakland Basketball, Inc., owner of the American Basketball Association team, and Alex Hannum, coach. The club and Hannum were charged with negligence in hiring Armstrong.

Warriors Get The Day Off

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors have another day off today and they need it.

Three regulars pulled up lame after Tuesday night' s 128-115 loss to the Atlanta Hawks. Center Nate Thurmond left the contest early, suffering from a heavy chest cold. Later, Al Attles sustained a slight muscle pull in his leg and Jeff Mullins also pulled up lame with an ankle sprain.

The injuries are not believed serious and the three players are expected back in the lineup for tomorrow's clash against Milwaukee.

Behind-The-Scenes Telecast Of Giants

Phoenix — On the eve of the season opener in Candlestick Park, KPIX will telecast an hour long documentary appropriately called "King of the Giants."

Barry Tompkins, KPIX sports editor, and a smooth working crew patiently put the show together over a three-week period beginning with the sliding pit in Casa Grande and ending with a Cactus League exhibition game in Phoenix Municipal Stadium the other day.

THOSE SEQUENCES may not actually start and close the show which will be telecast Wednesday, April 16, 8:30-9:30 p.m. It logically could start with a clubhouse meeting of the team at which Clyde King, new manager of the Giants, talks strategy and plain common sense.

There is nothing staged about the film work of Ron McCormick, veteran KPIX movie cameraman who never misses a game in Candlestick Park. Dick Scott, producer, and Cal Bollwinkel, executive producer, have seen to that. They haven't cluttered up scenes with wires. And they haven't used any trick backdrops.

EVERYTHING IN the documentary is just as it happened in spring training camp of the Giants during a three-week stretch. The relatively new wireless microphones made it all possible. At least, the mikes made it technically possible.

Tompkins, McCormick, Scott and Bollwinkel provided the know-how. Tompkins is an extremely capable interviewer whose knowledge of baseball is reflected in the kind of penetrating questions he asks. He works without text and is worth every penny of whatever salary KPIX pays him.

TOMPKINS' TALKS with King and members of the team are gems but the ability of the wireless mike to take fans right behind home plate as Bob Barton is catching and Doug Harvey is umpiring an actual game will captivate KPIX viewers the night of April 16.

The clubhouse scenes are absolutely fascinating as behind-the-scene stuff invariably is. Regardless of whether you are a Giant fan or not you shouldn't miss "King Of The Giants" if you have any interest whatsoever in baseball.

INDEED, YOU don't even have to be a baseball nut to like this one because it is loaded with stars, headed by the 3 Ms of the Giants. They, of course, are Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Juan Marichal. And they are paid like movie stars, too. Their combined salaries top $300,000.

SIFFORD GIVEN HIS DUE

A Change In Ryder Cup Standings

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association made a quick adjustment in its Ryder Cup standings yesterday and thus avoided a possible racial issue involving Charlie Sifford.

Sifford, a 45-year-old Negro pro, was distressed when informed here that he was 17th in the Ryder Cup standings, instead of 10th as he figured.

"I hear they have given me only 35 points for winning the Los Angeles Open instead of 70 which I should have got," Sifford said.

The point standings determine the 12-man team which the United States will send to Royal Birkdale in England in September for the biennial series with the British. The U.S. team never has had a black member.

The pros are awarded points —70 for each tournament victory with graded down points for other places. The top 12 pros of the year are named to the team.

A call to the PGA headquarters in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., disclosed that Sifford, indeed, was 17th.

"He was given 35 points for winning at Los Angeles," a spokesman said. "The points were split between Los Angeles and the tournament at Alameda (a satellite event also sponsored by the PGA on the same dates)."

A friend of Sifford's put in another call to Leon Fraser, president of the PGA, at his club in Atlantic City, N.J., followed by a telephonic conference with the PGA board of directors.

It was decided that Sifford should have his full 70 points. But Charlie isn't completely happy.

He still wants to play in the Masters at Augusta. No Negro ever has competed in the event.

"It's my ambition — I will some day," Sifford vowed.

Only Way To Play Against The Bruins

Are you one who thinks a mouse should have the chivalry to trade bites with a lion in mortal combat? Do you think it's unsporting of a deer to run from a hunter? Is it rotten of a duck to fly too high? Can a cat climb a tree to get away from a dog?

Do you believe that the gunmen of the Old West always gave the other fellow the first draw? Would it shock you to know that Billy the Kid killed more people with shots in the back or ambushes from behind a fence than he did any other way?

THEN, YOU'RE probably the kind of guy who gets apoplectic when he sees the "stall" in basketball. You are probably like Gen. Braddock, who couldn't understand why the Indian didn't fight like a man instead of wiping out his force by skulking behind rocks, firing from trees and breaking off the engagement when he came up with superior forces.

Nature gives spots to the leopard, wings to the eagle, speed to the zebra — and brains to man — to equalize the competition of life and survival.

NO ONE CRITICIZES an animal for using its natural defenses. Even in most other sports, the critic is understanding. No one expects a boxer to trade punches with a slugger. An outmanned football team is applauded for throwing passes, and is not expected to hurl itself to defeat in the line. A baseball team may bunt, walk dangerous hitters, put on an infield shift, or do any one of a number of things to neutralize an opponent's advantage without bringing scorn from the pressbox.

But, just watch the scandalized sucking-in of breath if, as appears likely, the other teams who face UCLA in the upcoming national college basketball finals resort to a kind of "hide-the-ball" strategy to offset the fact the Bruins will come on court with a player who is a foot taller and several leagues better than many of the players around him.

LISTEN! THEY give a bullfighter a sword and a cape, don't they? Even a skunk gets a scent. World War I was won on a stall. Retreat is honorable in the face of overwhelming odds.

If you had to play a basketball game with mere collegians against Lew Alcindor where you either had to shoot or give up the ball every 30 seconds, you might as well just phone in the loss.

YOU WILL NOTICE the only game Alcindor and Co. lost all year was one in which their only conqueror, USC, owned the ball for 28 of the 40 minutes. USC's tactics reminded me of a cruel game they used to play when we were kids: a bunch of guys would snatch the skating cap off the smallest kid and then they would lob it back and forth just out of his frantic reach until he began to cry.

The point is, this is the ONLY way to beat the Alcindor Bruins. USC never lost sight of this fact. Even with the score 11-4, it refused to be hectored into trying desperation baskets. It made its fight like a ringwise old veteran, or an out-gunned general luring the enemy into his swamp.

BUT THIS MADE for a dull game, you say? Well, if a team plays a stall against a team of relatively equal strength, I would agree. But the presence of Alcindor makes it highly exciting — like one of those old Joe Louis fights where the suspense would build up and the crowd would roar if the other guy merely continued to survive. A waltz between two tankers would have been a bore.

But with a Joe Louis — or a Lew Alcindor — on the attack, a stall becomes the Perils of Pauline, the Great Escape, a guy trying to crawl off the Indianapolis Speedway in the middle of the race, a guy hiding in a closet trying not to breathe. It's a chase over rooftops, a man trying to bluff a pair of treys into a big pot. It's great theater, baby, and, as far as I'm concerned, it'll play.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Some women feel more comfortable rolling right down the gutter line for pins on the right side of the alley, as illustrated. There's something about bowling "cross-grain" that bothers them. Don't let it. When you're going for the 10-pin, especially, always start from the left side of the approach. You have much more alley-width to work with this way.

San Pablo Bay Oil Drilling Studies May Be Deferred

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The State Lands Commission will receive a report within the next two weeks on the feasibility of drilling for oil in the flats surrounding San Pablo Bay which connects San Francisco Bay with the Carquinez Straits and the Delta.

Because of the recent oil spill tragedy off Santa Barbara, and the ensuing hue and cry by conservationists, the San Pablo Bay project is expected to be deferred until further notice.

QUIET

The Department of Fish and Game hasn't said much. They really can't under existing State protocol. They have to wait until the Lands Commission actually approves an oil lease program in San Pablo Bay before they can voice a protest or make any recommendations.

But the DFG is watching developments. San Pablo Bay, which includes the pathway for migrating fishlife up the rich Sacramento and San Joaquin River drainages, is absolutely vital to the recreational well-being of California.

According to the Department of Fish and Game, the area under consideration for oil drilling has an effect on no less than 2½ to 5 million striped bass; up to a million king salmon; 40,000 to 60,000 steelhead; 2-3 million shad; thousands of sturgeon; millions of clams; between 250,000 and one million ducks and geese and an estimated 250,000 various shorebirds.

From experience with offshore drilling operations in Southern California, the DFG is well aware that there is some oil leakage in the best of operations. Pumps break down, pipes develop holes and periodic small spills occur from a variety of mechanical causes.

CATASTROPHY

The huge and mobile Pacific Ocean does a tolerable job of diluting these minor southern slurps. But should a major breakdown occur, like happened off Santa Barbara earlier in the year, in the restricted waters of San Pablo Bay, with the tides moving in and out as they do, the resultant damage to fish and wildlife resources could be catastrophic.

Hence, the State Lands Commission doesn't figure to press the issue. And in the unlikely event that they do attempt to open San Pablo Bay to oil drilling, the Department of Fish and Game biologists and conservationists will make their protest.

Boston Favored In NIT

Coach Bob Cousy's slick band of smooth ball-handlers likes to play the fast-breaking game but it's also adept at the slowdown, ball-control style. That's why the Eagles own the nation's longest winning streak at 18 and are favored to win the 32nd annual National Invitation Tournament.

U.S. ARMY

The Eagles face defense-minded Army, the nation's top defensive club, in one semifinal game tonight while Temple battles Tennessee, the nation's No. 2 defensive club, in the other semifinal. The winners meet in the finals Saturday afternoon.

Even though the Eagles like to run, Cousy says they'll try to beat Army at its own slowdown game. If Tennessee beats Temple, the Eagles will run into the slowdown game again—provided BC gets past Army.

The Tennessee-Temple game also should be a close struggle. Tennessee plays the same type defensive game Army does, but Tennessee does it in a different way. While Army is strictly a man-to-man club, Tennessee uses a 1-3-1 trap zone. The Volunteers also have a big man in 6-10 Bobby Croft; Army doesn't have a player over 6-6.

Weak In Defense

DENVER (AP) — A 43-7 defeat handed them by the Oakland Raiders in the American Football League was especially humiliating for the Denver Broncos. Oakland scored in four different ways — touchdown, extra point, safety and field goal — before the Broncos had a chance to run an offensive play.

New Desalting Process Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A California firm has developed a new process which strains out nearly 100 per cent of the salts in inland brackish waters and ultimately could use it to desalt sea water.

The process, utilizing a new highly selective membrane of strainer, was developed by the Universal Water Corp. of Del Mar, under contract with the Interior Department's office of saline water.

Previously brackish waters — those found in ground wells for example — were desalted through the process of distillation.

The new method involves application of pressure on the salt water which forces the pure water to diffuse through the membrane, leaving the salt behind.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Leading Toymakers See Good Prospects

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. The declining birth rate leaves me in doubt as to my holdings in the toy industry. I purchased both Mattel, Inc., and Tonka several years ago as long-range growth stocks for retirement now seven years away. What is your view? — A. H.

A. Although there has been a dramatic decline in the birth rate from the bustling levels of the mid-1940s, another baby boom is predicted. The bulge in the birth rate following World War II will generate a similar rise in the number of births by the mid-1970s. Your discerning selections within the toy industry should continue to return above-average results.

Tonka's line of high-quality metal trucks, offered in four size ranges, is less susceptible to fad and seasonal buying patterns that plague the toy industry Tonka also produces a line of hydraulic components for use in construction and farm machinery. A line of barbecue equipment originally manufactured to take up slack factory time was sold last July to release needed plant space.

Mattel controls 10 per cent of the domestic and 1 per cent of the foreign toy markets. An extremely successful merchandiser, Mattel has programmed for a 15 per cent share of the U.S. and 3.5 per cent share of the overseas market within five years. Recently Mattel has utilized acquisitions as a means of supplementing its line of 500 toys and games and to attain its growth goals.

The Monogram Models takeover by Mattel added a line of plastic scale-model hobby kits, a year-around item. Three European acquisitions have been completed — a doll maker, a miniature car producer and a distributor. The 30 per cent gain reported in sales for the fiscal year ended Feb. 1 lifts volume to $210 million. A large part of the increase was attributed to Mattel's successful new year-around marketing program — All-Occasion Gift Center.
